2 GAMBLERS HELD FOR CONTEMPT

Allied Troops Eliminate Last Big Enemy Pocket South Of 38th Parallel

Linkup Of Two Tank-Infantry Units On Western Front Forces Reds Back

TOKYO, Tuesday, March 27 (AP)—Two Allied tank-infantry columns, plowing through hub-deep mud, joined forces Monday on the Western Korean front and eliminated the last big Communist pocket south of the 38th parallel.

The linkup, about ten miles south of the old boundary line, forced the 26th Chinese Army (corps) to pull back rapidly to avoid entrapment.

South Korean troops advanced north of Munsan to the banks of the Imjin River without contacting the foe.

Associated Press Correspondent Jim Becker said the Chinese Reds cleared out before the attack. Only a single company of tank-supported Reds was left behind to fight a rearguard action north of Uijongbu.

In clearing weather Monday, Fifth Air Force planes, including flying Marines and South Africans, roared into the pocket-area north of Uijongbu, pummeling it with fire bombs, rockets and machine-gun fire. Pilots claimed at least 200 Reds killed or wounded in this sector alone.

Part Of Western Offensive

The Allied columns were part of the three division western offensive launched last week by Lt. Gen. Matthew Ridgway's U. S. Eighth Army.

One column powered eastward from Munsan, where U. S. paratroopers landed on Good Friday, while Task Force Meyers, bearing the name of its commander, crunched north of Uijongbu.

The two forces converged 10 miles south of 38. It brought Allied divisions abreast in a jagged line ranging from ten to two miles south of North Korea.

Air observations located elements of six Chinese Red armies just north of 38. This could mean as many as 180,000 to 200,000 Reds were dug in along fortified positions the North Koreans spent years preparing before their original invasion of the south last June 25.

B-26 night Intruders, hunting for targets before dawn Monday, sighted about 180 Communist transport vehicles moving south toward the western battlefront. The Intruder light bombers brought about 75 vehicles under attack and claimed 25 destroyed or damaged, the Air Force announced.

Reds Filter South Of 38

Throughout Monday air attacks destroyed 40 more Red vehicles and damaged an additional 26 on all fronts.

AP Correspondent William C. Barnard reported from the central front that some Reds, presumably Chinese, filtered south of the 38th parallel into ridges just south of the boundary.

Barnard said strong enemy groups appeared moving toward the Allied positions which were within two miles of the line. Brief patrol clashes took place with Reds holding mountain outposts.

Britain Trying To Hold Up U. N. Policy On Korea

LAKE SUCCESS, March 26 (AP)—Britain was reported today trying to delay a new United Nations declaration of policy toward Korea in order that Communist China make a move to start negotations for a settlement.

A diplomatic source said that the countries with forces fighting in Korea have been working on such a declaration, to be issued as the U. N. armies neared the 38th parallel. This source said, however, that the policy declaration would not be put out at this time because the British want the Red Chinese to make the first move. He did not suggest when it would be issued.

The British are represented in Peiping by Lionel Lamb, a senior Foreign Office official. British sources here said they knew of no moves by the Chinese Reds so far toward a settlement.

This disclosure came as the United States mission to the U. N. relayed to the U. N. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Feb. 13 statement on crossing the 38th parallel. It was part of MacArthur's report to the U. N. on operations of the unified command for Feb. 1-15 and Feb. 16-28.

The U. S. did not endorse MacArthur's statement as a formal recommendation so it is being circulated mainly for the information of the U. N. members.

There has been no endorsement by Washington of MacArthur's statement last Saturday offering to confer with the commander of the enemy forces on a way to end the fighting. U. S. delegation sources here said they had no information on that statement. No action by the U. N. is seen at this stage.

Man Found Slain, Baby Unharmed

RIVERSIDE, Calif., March 26 (AP)—A young father was shot to death today on a desolate road and a happy baby believed to be his son was found playing beside the body. Officers feared the man's wife had been kidnaped.

The young man was identified as Richard Miller Cook, 18, a maintenance worker in a Los Angeles aluminum plant.

Attempting to determine what happened from tire tracks and footprints at the scene, Capt. Don Schrader surmised:

Another automobile sideswiped Cook's car forcing it to stop. The other machine pulled up behind Cook's.

A man got out and so did Cook. Cook turned away and was shot. Cook's wife was believed to be with him, but officers could not find any woman's footprints.

Schrader said the gunman probably carried her to his car. The eight-month-old baby was left on a blanket beside the father's body. Then the gunman backed up his car about 300 feet, turned around and headed toward Perris.

Miss Truman Signs Contract With NBC

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Margaret Truman has signed an exclusive contract with the National Broadcasting Co. for guest appearances on radio and television, the network said today.

NBC said Miss Truman, who has made a number of radio and TV appearances, would make two more appearances during the current season and at least nine in the 1951-52 season. It has not been decided how many will be on radio and how many on television.

The most recent broadcast appearances of the President's daughter were on NBC's "The Big Show" during which she not only sang but gave a good account of herself in repartee with Tallulah Bankhead who conducts the program.

United Nations Road Signs Cause Minor Ohio Furore

COLUMBUS, O., March 26 (AP)—The man on the telephone was angry. He sputtered and shouted:

If I saw a Russian sign, I certainly wouldn't pay any attention to it."

Ohio Highway Director T. J. Kauer winced slightly as the man banged the receiver home. He rubbed his ear reflectively and sighed:

"That's the way it's going," he said. "We put up some United Nations highway signs for a research project and when the news gets out I start getting telephone calls.

"Not many calls, of course, but, man, the ones that call are violent about it."

A second call came. "The U. N. has more important things to do than to mess around with highway signs," said the man. a third call: "Aren't our signs good enough without the U. N. butting in?" asked a citizen.

The project that aroused the minor furore is a series of 24 signs from many parts of the world set up along eight and one-half miles of State Route 104, south of Columbus.

The signs designated curves, crossroads, narrow roads and railroads. Tomorrow 30 lay observers—who are serving without pay—will be driven along the test route. They include housewives, high school and university students, businessmen, military men.

These observers will note at what distance they see the signs and at what distance they recognize the signs. The results will be sent to the U. N. This is the first of a series of such tests, designed to help drawup a set of universal highway signs.

U. N. Road Signs Arouse Furore

A series of 24 American and foreign signs set up on a stretch of highway near Columbus, Ohio, has aroused a minor furore. The U. N. began testing the road markers for visibility and quick reading in an effort to standardize world highway signs. Harry Neal, Ohio traffic safety chief, is looking at one type of European railroad sign at left. At right is a South African-European railroad sign that is a bit more dramatic. Mrs. Rosenberg Denies Typing Atom Bomb Data

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Mrs. Ethel Rosenberg, denying her brother's previous testimony, said today she had never typed any national defense data—for transmission to the Russians or for any other reason.

Mrs. Rosenberg testified in her own defense. She is on trial on espionage conspiracy charges with her husband, Julius, an electrical engineer, and Radar Expert Morton Sobell.

Earlier her brother, David Greenglass, a former Army sergeant who has pleaded guilty to the espionage charge, testified he turned over to Mrs. Rosenberg information on the atomic bomb obtained while he was working at Los Alamos, N. M.

He said she typed the information and turned it over to her husband for transmission to Russian agents.

Mrs. Rosenberg refused three times today to answer questions on grounds the answers might incriminate her, but two times out of the three her lawyer told her to go ahead and answer.

The first time, after testimony about her husband's suspension and later dismissal from an Army Signal Corps job, Judge Irving Kaufman asked her whether it had been alleged that Rosenberg was dismissed for Communist Party membership.

After claiming her constitutional privilege not to incriminate herself, she was told by her lawyer to answer. She said it had been so alleged.

Then the judge asked her whether a letter she had typed for her husband, replying to the charges of Communist membership, had denied that he was a Communist.

She again refused to answer until her lawyer urged her to do so, then said: "That's correct."

Air And Sea Search For Plane Continues

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland, March 26 (AP)—Twelve American and three British planes made an all-night patrol tonight in search for the U. S. Globemaster that disappeared over the Atlantic Friday with 53 American airmen aboard. It was the fourth night of sweeping the ocean area where the huge transport was last heard from.

Planes from the aircraft carrier Coral Sea are expected to join the search about dawn Tuesday. The Coral Sea and the destroyers Benner and Fox were ordered to the area while en route from Norfolk, Va., to join the U. S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Senate Group Raps Aluminum Ban Order

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The Senate Small Business Committee today called on Charles E. Wilson, defense mobilization chief, to suspend and review the so-called "death sentence" order prohibiting use of aluminum in the manufacture of 200 items.

The order becomes effective April 1.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) committee chairman, assailed the order as "an ill-considered step' unfair to thousands of small manufacturing plants.

Special Immigration Board Bars German War Bride, Described As Ex-Czech Spy

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—A special immigration board barred Mrs. Ellen Knauff from the United States today after hearing her described by government witnesses as a former Czechoslovak spy.

But the ruling did not end the three-year fight of the pretty 36-year-old war bride to enter this country and start a new life. She can appeal her case to the Commissioner of Immigration, and she said "I definitely want to."

The board said that Mrs. Knauff failed to disprove testimony that, while working for the American military government in Frankfurt, Germany, in 1946 and 1947, she served as an espionage agent for the Czech liaison mission there.

Vigorously Denies Charge

Maj. Zaclav Kadane, former chief of the mission, testified that Mrs. Knauff was known by the code name of "Kobyla." He said she gave the mission a description of a new U. S. Army decoding machine.

Mrs. Knauff vigorously denied that she had ever spied for any country.

The board held, however, that she had failed to prove her admissability.

In formal language it stated "there is reason to believe that you would be likely to engage in activities which would be prohibited by the laws of the United States relating to espionage, sabotage, public disorder or in other activity subversive to the national security x x x."

Came To U. S. In 1948

Mrs. Knauff, born in Germany, a former Czech national now claiming to be stateless, was married in Frankfurt three years ago to Kurt Knauff, a former American soldier who is now a civilian employe of the U. S. occupation forces in Germany. She came to New York late in 1948 and was held two years on Ellis Island.

Mrs. Knauff herself demanded a public disclosure of the Justice Department's case against her.

Production Of New Gen. Walker Bulldog Tank Begins Today

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The T-41, the first new tank to be designed for the Army since World War II, will commence to roll off the production line tomorrow — three months ahead of contract schedule.

Called the Walker Bulldog, after Gen. Walton H. Walker, who was killed in Korea, it is classed as "light." It weighs 26 tons and has a new type muzzle velocity 76 mm. gun. It has a speed of 40 miles an hour.

The army said it is being produced by the Cadillac Division of the General Motors Corp.

Mrs. Merl Young Back On Job At White House

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Mrs. E. Merl Young is back on the job as a White House stenographer.

She was seen today leaving the White House for lunch, and a spokesman said, yes, Mrs. Young was at work following a Florida vacation.

Mrs. Young is the wife of a one-time RFC assistant messenger whose name has figured in a Senate subcommittee inquiry into alleged influence on RFC directors in government loans.

There had been a report that Mrs. Young had resigned.

Senate Demos Reject McKeldin's Proposal To Divert Highway Funds

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 26. (AP)—Senate Democrats turned down tonight Gov. McKeldin's plan to make up the money for pay increases for state employes by diverting roads funds to state police expenses.

The Democrats, in caucus, decided to vote against the bill when it comes to the floor.

Spokesmen for the Governor had said that the bill was the "keystone" of the supplemental budget. In no other way, they said, could the money for promised state employe pay raises be found without raising taxes.

McKeldin has made it plain that he will not go along with any tax increase legislation.

The bill in question would have transferred expenses of maintaining the state police department from general funds to the Department of Motor Vehicles.

This would have freed the general funds of a $1,768,000 obligation. But it would have cost Baltimore City $530,994 and the counties $339,078. It also would have cut the money available to the State Roads Commission for county road maintenance by $884,324.

The Democratic statement said "the diversion of gasoline tax money and the motor vehicle registration fees proposed by this bill is nothing less than budgetary manipulation, which represents a false picture of state finances."

It said that the Democratic majority is "in favor of a pay raise for state employes," but that members feel "the problem of providing funds for such increase should be faced squarely by the Governor.

"The raise contemplated should

Md. Delegates Vote Selves Sound System

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 26 (AP)—House members voted today to make themselves heard.

They asked the Department of Budget and Procurement to install individual microphones on each desk, and equip each member with a lapel microphone, besides.

Cost of the sound system, which probably will be installed in time for next year's General Assembly session, has been estimated at $4,200.

Truman Urges Interamerican Preparedness

Reds Called Threat To Entire World

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—President Truman told the 20 Latin American republics today the time has come for all to join in a Western Hemisphere defense buildup against "aggressive expansion of Soviet power" which he said threatens the whole world.

He opened an emergency meeting of the western world foreign ministers with a keynote summons also to consider ways of strengthening the United Nations.

As partners in a "common enterprise," the President said the American nations must increase production of strategic materials and take other economic measures to support the "men in Europe and Asia who are battling for freedom."

Pledge Continued U. S. Aid

Laying down the theme for the meeting which the United States summoned, Mr. Truman pledged by implication that the hemisphere governments can look for continued help from Washington in dealing with the threat laid bare by the Korean crisis.

He mentioned no specific aid measures but the administration is reported giving urgent consideration to an $80,000,000 program for hemisphere defense assistance.

"We must now plan as a primary task for the strengthening and the coordinated use of our defense forces in this hemisphere," Mr. Truman advised. "We must also consider how we may best use our strength to support the cause of freedom against aggression throughout the world."

The Chief Executive addressed the inaugural session in Constitution Hall after the foreign ministers in an initial flurry voted at a preliminary meeting to invite President Vincent Auriol of France to address them next Saturday. Auriol is scheduled to arrive in the capital Wednesday on a state visit.

Objection Is Withdrawn

Guatemalan Foreign Minister Manuel Galich objected to the invitation, reporters were told after the closed meeting, on the ground that it might set a precedent for inviting others to sessions which are by custom strictly American. He withdrew his objections on a plea by Acting Foreign Minister Manuel Tello of Mexico to make the invitation unanimous as a gesture of courtesy.

The ministers by acclamation elected Secretary of State Acheson president of the conference and voted unexpectedly to try to wind up in less than two weeks with April 6 as the target date for adjournment.

Plot To Kill Iran Official Smashed

TEHRAN, March 26 (AP)—Police announced tonight they had thwarted a plot by the fanatical Moslem group Fedeyan Islam to assassinate the military governor of Tehran.

This came on the heels of a decree imposing martial law on portions of Iran's rich British-operated southern oil fields. Mounting strikes by oil workers brought on the decree.

Two high Iranian officials already have fallen victim to assassins this month in this strategic country on Russia's southern border. Tehran is under martial law imposed in the wake of wide unrest and political tension.

A high police official said nine members of Fedeyan Islam are under arrest for a plot to assassinate Gen. Abdul Hossein Hejazi, the capital's military governor. This is the same sect that claimed responsibility for the slaying of Premier Ali Razmara on Sept. 7.

The plot was discovered last Thursday night, the official said, when Hejazi's adjutant rounded up two men armed with revolvers loitering around the military governor's home. The two broke down under police questioning and confessed the plot, then led authorities to the gang's hideout where the other seven were picked up.

At Least 242 Die In Holiday Accidents

[By The Associated Press]

At least 242 persons were killed in accidents in the United States over the Easter weekend.

From 6 p. m. (local time) Friday to Sunday midnight, 171 persons were known to have died in traffic accidents. Another 71 lives were lost in various other mishaps.

During the 1950 Easter weekend 253 accidental deaths were reported.

West Va. Electric Chair Claims Its First Two Victims

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—Harry Atlee Burdette and Fred C. Painter paid with their lives tonight for the stomp murder of a Charleston soft drink salesman.

The two were put to death as the first victims of West Virginia's new method of execution by the electric chair.

Burdette was the first to go, and he was quickly followed by Painter.

Supreme Court Agrees To Rule On Md. Ober Act

Convicted Rapist Is Again Denied Hearing

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to weigh the legality of a state law requiring loyalty oaths from candidates for state or city office.

The case comes from Maryland but other states and cities have passed—or are considering—similar laws.

Thelma Grenede challenged the Maryland law loyalty oath as an unconstitutional violation of freedom of speech and thought. She wanted to be a candidate for the Baltimore City Council on the Progressive Party ticket but refused to sign the loyalty oath.

McGee's Plea Rejected

Maryland courts held that she couldn't be on the ballot unless she signs the oath. The Baltimore primary is scheduled tomorrow. The Supreme Court ruling won't come along for some time.

The high court for the fourth time denied a hearing to Willie McGee, a Mississippi negro sentenced to the electric chair for the rape of a white woman.

McGee has been convicted three times in Mississippi courts. Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi has charged that Communists were agitating in McGee's behalf.

The Maryland case became the second one before the highest court involving loyalty oaths. Earlier this month the justices agreed to rule on a Los Angeles ordinance requiring city employes to sign an oath disclosing whether they are members of the Communist Party.

Anti-Subversive Law

The Maryland case, testing the so-called Ober law, requires state or city candidates to swear they are not "subversive." A subversive person is defined as one who commits or advocates any act intended to alter or overthrow the state or federal government by force.

Further, says the Ober law, a subversive person would be any member of a "subversive organization or a foreign subversibe organization."

Attorneys for McGee include leftwing former U. S. Rep. Vito Marcantonio of New York. They asserted that the white woman had voluntary sex relations with the negro, and that McGee never has had a chance to present his case fully. Mississippi Attorney General J. P. Coleman replied that this and other angles of the case had been weighed by both state and federal courts.

Agar's Lawyer Faints; Mistrial Is Declared

LOS ANGELES, March 26 (AP)—A mistrial was declared today in the drunk driving trial of John Agar, Shirley Temple's ex-husband, and the all-woman jury was sent home.

The judge dismissed the jury when Agar's attorney, Llewllyn Moses, fainted. He has been suffering from a virus infection.

Agar has denied that he was drunk Jan. 13.

Pair Refuses To Talk While On Television

Former Bootlegger Also Balks Probers

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Two alleged top-ranking American gambling figures were held on contempt charges tonight for refusing to testify in the Senate crime investigation unless television, newsreel and radio equipment were removed.

The men, held in $10,000 bail each, were Louis Rothkopf and Morris Kleinman, both of Cleveland.

Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) of the Senate crime probe group said they were members of "one of the most active and important interstate gambling syndicates in the United States."

Each man read a formal statement saying the presence of TV and other communications equipment violated his constitutional rights. Then each sat silent while committee counsel put a series of questions.

The other witness in tonight's session, ex-Bootlegger Abner (Longie) Zwillman, risked similar contempt proceedings by refusing to tell the committee the details of his rum-running activities during prohibition or his money-making pursuit since.

Figured In Murder, Inc., Probe

Zwillman, who once figured in a Murder, Inc., investigation, admitted under questioning that he bootlegged before repeal.

But about the details, and about the money he makes or the people he makes it with now, he stood politely but firmly silent.

Zwillman's halting testimony came after a day of fast developments in the Senate inquiry and its spreading ramifications.

N. Y. Police "Paid Off"

The Senate committee itself heard the graft "take" of certain New York City policemen estimated at up to $25,000,000 a year. It also heard from the head of the FBI that organized gambling could be stopped almost overnight by proper local enforcement of existing laws.

Zwillman, a poker-facer man who said he knew or "might have known" a host of gamblers and hoodlums including exiled Vice Chief Charles "Lucky" Luciano and various Murder, Inc., gunmen, testified at a special night session of the crime committee.

Earlier in the day, Brooklyn Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz estimated for the committee that New York City gamblers pay $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 a year for protection to crooked members of the police department.

Zwillman, who comes from Newark, N. J., finally offered to give the Senate group some of the information it wanted if this could be done in such a way that it wouldn't incriminate him.

Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn) told him the committee would look it over if it were submitted by Wednesday morning.

Contempt Move Considered

Another member, Sen. Tobey (R-NH) told a reporter, however, that the committee has contempt proceedings in mind.

The Brooklyn grand jury which

New Treatment Improves Advanced Cancer Patients

CHICAGO, March 26 (AP)—Twenty advanced cancer patients were reported today to have shown marked improvement after treatment with a substance called krebiozen. Two no longer appear to have cancer.

A guarded but optimistic discussion of the tests was given today by Dr. A. C. Ivy, cancer authority and a vice-president of the University of Illinois. He reported to a group of cancer specialists.

Twenty-two patients were selected for treatment with krebiozen. One patient had leukemia and did not respond to the treatment. Another patient failed to report for further treatment after her first injection. Each of the other 20 showed favorable results, Dr. Ivy said.

Eight of this group have died, but life apparently was prolonged in some of these cases. The others are living, five of them 12 to 17 months after their first injection. All of the patients given krebiozen were either terminal (hopeless) cases or had cancer which could not be successfully treated by surgery or x-ray, he said.

In addition to reduction in size of tumors and metatasis, or secondary growth spread from the first tumor, patients noted a decrease in pain, improvement of appetite, and improvement in a general health.

Krebiozen was produced by Dr. Stevan Durovic, 46, a native of Montenegro in Yugoslavia, who extracted it from the blood of horses after he had stimulated them in a manner which has not been disclosed.

Spangler Heads State Veterans Job Service

C. William Spangler, 729 Patterson Avenue, has been promoted to the position of state veterans' employment representative for Maryland succeeding Grafton Lee Brown, of Baltimore.

Announcement of Spangler's promotion was made yesterday by Brown, who in turn has been named staff field representative for the Veteran's Employment Service in six states and the District of Columbia. Spangler had been assistant state Veterans' Employment Service representative for the past four years.

Spangler will maintain his office in Baltimore but will continue his residence here. He is married to the former Jane Chandlee and they have two sons, C. William Spangler, Jr., and John Spangler.

The Spangler and Brown positions with the Veterans' Employment Service are under the jurisdiction of the U. S. Department of Labor.

A graduate of Allegany High School and former student at Albright College, Reading, Pa., Spangler was a star football player at both schools. He is a veteran of World War II and a member of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion; J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets; Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, and the Cresaptown F. O. Eagles.

He is also a member of the Civil Service Commission of the City of Cumberland and has been active in the Democratic party as a member of the Young Democrats of Allegany County.

Brown, who is well known in veterans circles here, has visited Cumberland and Allegany county many times during his tenure as state veterans' employment representative. He will work out of Baltimore and handle veterans employment affairs in Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina and the District of Columbia. He is a veteran of World War I.

Spangler's new position carries with it the responsibility for the function of the Veterans Employment Service in the state and the coordination of programs with the Maryland Employment Service for the benefit of veterans.

YMCA Group Schedules College Concert Here

The Central Y.M.C.A. Youth Division announces a concert by the Oberlin College A Cappella Choir on Friday, April 13, at 8 p. m. at Allegany High School Auditorium, under the direction of Robert Fountain of the Oberlin Conservatory of Music. All proceeds of the concert are to be used in the extension of the YMCA's Youth Program.

The Obelin Choir is a group of approximately 50 carefully selected from a student body of over 2000.

The Bach Cantata to be presented on April 13 will be accompanied by a small instrumental ensemble made up of choir members and additional Oberlin students. It will be from this ensemble that the members of the string quartet, who will play the Haydn Quartet in D will be chosen.

Of special interest to Cumberlanders is that one of the members of the Oberlin A. Cappella Choir is Miss Jeanne Marquis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Marquis, Park Heights.

Local Security Office Reports Few Claims

Many people in the Cumberland area who are entitled to monthly old-age or survivors insurance benefit payments have not applied for them, according to James S. Getty, manager of the local social security office.

He urges everyone who made inquiry before September, 1950, to come to his office. This applies especially to retired workers over 65 whose previous claim was disallowed because they had not been employed long enough in jobs covered by social security.

Many people in this area, now 65 or older, who worked at one time or another since 1937 do not realize they are eligible for old-age benefits because they do not know that requirements have been reduced, Getty said.

"I WANT TO TELL THIS TO WOMEN IN YOUR 40's"

I find Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound wonderful to relieve distress of 'change of life'"

"Any woman between the ages of 38 and 52 should be interested in my experience. I was going through functional change of life and found myself terribly embarrassed from hot flushes, and I felt so nervous, easily upset because of this.

"What really shocked me was when I overheard my husband explaining my shortcomings behind my back. He said, 'Don't mind Louise—she's going through change of life.' That made up my mind. I had heard how effective Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was for relieving such symptoms, and I decided then and there to try it. Thank heavens I did.

"I find Pinkham's Compound simply marvelous to relieve embarrassing symptoms due to this cause. In fact I now take Lydia Pinkham's Compound regularly to help build up resistance against hot flushes, tense emotions, flighty, nervous, tired feelings—due to this cause. I wish anyone when troubled this way would try this great medicine." P. S. Pinkham's Compound tastes swell in a little fruit juice or plain water. A wonderfully effective medicine made especially for women.

International Controls

Means of bringing about, through international action, increased production and fair distribution of raw materials essential to defense of the free world are now under intensive consideration among the representatives of a score of nations. Actual or threatened shortages of numerous strategic materials, induced primarily by vastly expanded armament programs, have made it urgently necessary to allocate available supplies while searching for methods of stimulating production of scarce commodities.

To examine all phases of the problem and devise measures for meeting it, an International Materials Conference has been organized under the auspices of the United States, Great Britain and France. Since the end of Febraury, five of six initial committees, composed of representatives of the principal producing and consuming countries of a dozen important commodities, have held their first meetings in Washington.

Although the United States is more nearly self-sufficient in raw materials than other countries, it still is heavily dependent on foreign sources of supply for numerous essential commodities, such as natural rubber, tin, various metals needed to produce the heat-resistant alloy steels used in jet airplane engines, and uranium for atom bombs. The combined natural resources of the free world are markedly superior to those of the Soviet Union and countries in the Soviet sphere, but they are widely dispersed geographically. Mindful of what happened in the last war, when Far Eastern sources of supply were cut off and communication lines menaced, the United States and other countries accelerated stockpiling of strategic materials after outbreak of the Korean fighting. At the same time, large new arms programs were voted and private industry began to compete with governments in accumulating reserve supplies of raw materials. As a result, prices moved sharply upward.

Early in December, when it was evident that the situation was fast getting out of hand, President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee, joined later by Premier Pleven of France, set in motion plans for creation of international machinery to ensure fair sharing of available materials. In World War II that task was entrusted to a Combined (Anglo-American) Raw Materials Board, whose decisions could be readily enforced through Allied control of ocean shipping. The present effort is more difficult, in that it involves many more nations and is projected in a period of half-peace and half-war. Success will depend on reconciling the opposing interests of producing and consuming countries in the commodity committees and upon willingness of the governments of these countries to cooperate in putting into effect the recommendations agreed on by the committees.

To reduce interference with normal trading arrangements to a minimum, the C.R.M.B. of World War II attempted so far as possible to distribute actual sources of supply in accordance with existing trade relationships. In many cases, however, certain source areas had to be transferred from one consuming country to another, and in some cases one country was made responsible for purchasing for all within an agreed framework of prices and conditions. Whatever system of allocation is now adopted, the problem of holding down prices is likely to be one of the most difficult encountered.

If the gap between supply and demand could be quickly bridged by increased production and curtailment of non-essential uses, the price problem might take care of itself. Expansion of production will take time, however, and limitations on use probably will not be sufficient alone to relieve the pressure on prices. Consuming countries therefore will demand price ceilings, while producing countries will want guaranties of minimum prices. Although producing countries are loath to forego advantages of present high prices, they may be willing to accept a lower return guaranteed over a stated period in consideration of the greater stability thereby afforded.

Insofar as satisfactory arrangements can be worked out and applied, they may be expected not only to make for more equitable distribution of key raw materials among the nations of the free world, but also to make more effective the efforts to shut off supplies of those materials to potential enemy countries.

The Schuman Plan

Europe's most imaginative and hopeful experiment in international cooperation got under way with the initialing of the Schuman plan by representatives of France, Western Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Proposed nine months ago by French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, it bogged down in disagreements among the nations concerned. Only the negotiating skill of John J. McCloy, U. S. High Commissioner for Germany, made it possible to break a deadlock that had seemed irresolvable.

The success or failure of the Schuman plan is likely to have far-reaching effects on the lives of Americans who never heard of it. The issue of world peace may depend on its success, for its aims at some of the basic causes of war. The integration of the steel and coal economies of the six nations would seem, for instance, to make another war between France and Germany impossible. The economies of both would be unable to sustain war production if the two stopped cooperating in the proposed coal-iron setup.

The treaty authority granted to the new organization will be strictly limited to the coal and iron field, but within those limitations it would issue orders and fix penalties for violation without lawful interference by the countries affected. Schuman hopes that eventually it will lead to closer political integration as well.

The treaty sets up five operating branches, constituting an economic super-government which checks and balances. It is quite complicated, but something worthwhile may result from it if it doesn't strangle itself in red tape.

Help Without Strings

As part of their propaganda, Communist members of United Nations organizations never lose an opportunity to attribute false motives to American enterprises.

A champion rose to defend us, however, in a recent session of the Economic and Social Council, when the Indian representative pointed out that in spite of India's attitude toward events in Korea the United States loaned that country a million and a half dollars. This was a direct refutation of the Communist accusation that the American aim is to impose its policy on countries to which it gives assistance.

The Soviet propagandists are handicapped by obvious facts which exist for all, except the wilfully blind, to see. One of the best defenses against Soviet lies exists in the publicizing of such facts.

Human Tails

EVERY TIME I read about a youngster who came into the world with a caudal appendage (tail), I am reminded of the furor that followed the publication of Darwin's book on man's origin. Great indignation was aroused when interpreters of the theory claimed that the scientist said we were descended from apes.

The most recent case of a human tail was reported in the British Medical journal. An otherwise healthy child was born with this vestigial appendage but the mother waited until the tot was 11 months old before seeking medical care. The tail was much more than a fold of skin or bony protuberance; pulled to its full length it measured three inches. It moved and could be wagged gently and flicked from side to side. When relaxed, the tail contracted and curled upon itself. The article did not mention whether the structure wagged in response to emotional changes. At any rate, surgery came to the rescue.

Hundreds of instances of human tails have been recorded and traditions of tailed men and races are common. It was said at one time that all Cornishmen had tails, in contrast to the tailless Manx cat. Tradition had it that the men of Kent had been cursed with the extra appendage because they had insulted Thomas a Becket.

Many fabulous stories have come down to us about primitive peoples. One such yarn stated that in certain parts of East India canoes were built with holes in the benches for the tails of the rowers. A missionary reported that on the island of Kali, off the coast of New Britain, the tailed native killed all tailless infants, not only to prevent ridicule but to encourage the trait. In central Africa the Niam Niams were supposed to have smooth, hairy tails 2 to 10 inches long. How much of this we can believe is a question; in all probability there were a few instances and by the time the "tale" reached civilization the whole tribe had tails.

This reminds us of an incident described in Gould and Pyle's "Anomalies and Curiosities of Medicine." Several working men were cutting grass when a tribe of Guayacuyan Indians stole their mules. The men gave chase but were successful in catching only an 8 year old boy. The lad was found to have a 10 inch tail and, when questioned, stated that his brother had a tail just as long and so did other members of their tribe. But we cannot rely much upon evidence of this nature, especially when it was retold by a group of ignorant laborers. The longest tail on record may have been the wild man reported by a Dutch traveler in Formosa in the 17th century. It was a foot long and covered with red hair like that of a cow. One young man was never bothered by his anomaly until he became a West Point cadet. Horseback riding caused great distress and sometimes irritation was so severe open lesions developed.

Most of these structures are continuations of the lower spine. They resemble the tail of a pig rather that that of a monkey, which may open speculation as to the exact animal we are said to be descended from. We may look like monkeys but we act as tho we had a little ham in our ancestry.

ARTANE

G. M. writes: I recently read in a popular magazine about artane for Parkinson's disease. Do you know anything about it?

REPLY

This new synthetic antispasmodic drug has been used for more than a year by various research groups. It resembles atropine but is said to be less toxic. Some physicians believe it a valuable addition to the list of products now in use for Parkinson's disease; other authorities consider it no improvement over the standard remedies. Some months ago the chemical was given to 44 patients over a three month period. Only seven received more relief than with previous therapy and eight could not tolerate it. In the remaining two-thirds, when artane was combined with other preparations, relief was noted.

BREATHING DIFFICULTIES

K. W. writes: Several times during the day I notice that my breathing is shallow and sometimes I even hold my breath. What harm can this do to the brain and heart?

REPLY

None. If the breath is held too long, fainting occurs and this automatically removes your control over breathing. As soon as the rhythm is reestablished, consciousness returns. Try to disregard your breathing; your consciousness of it only makes you unhappy.

NOT TICKLISH

V. S. G. writes: What if anything is wrong with the nerves of a person who is not ticklish anywhere?

REPLY

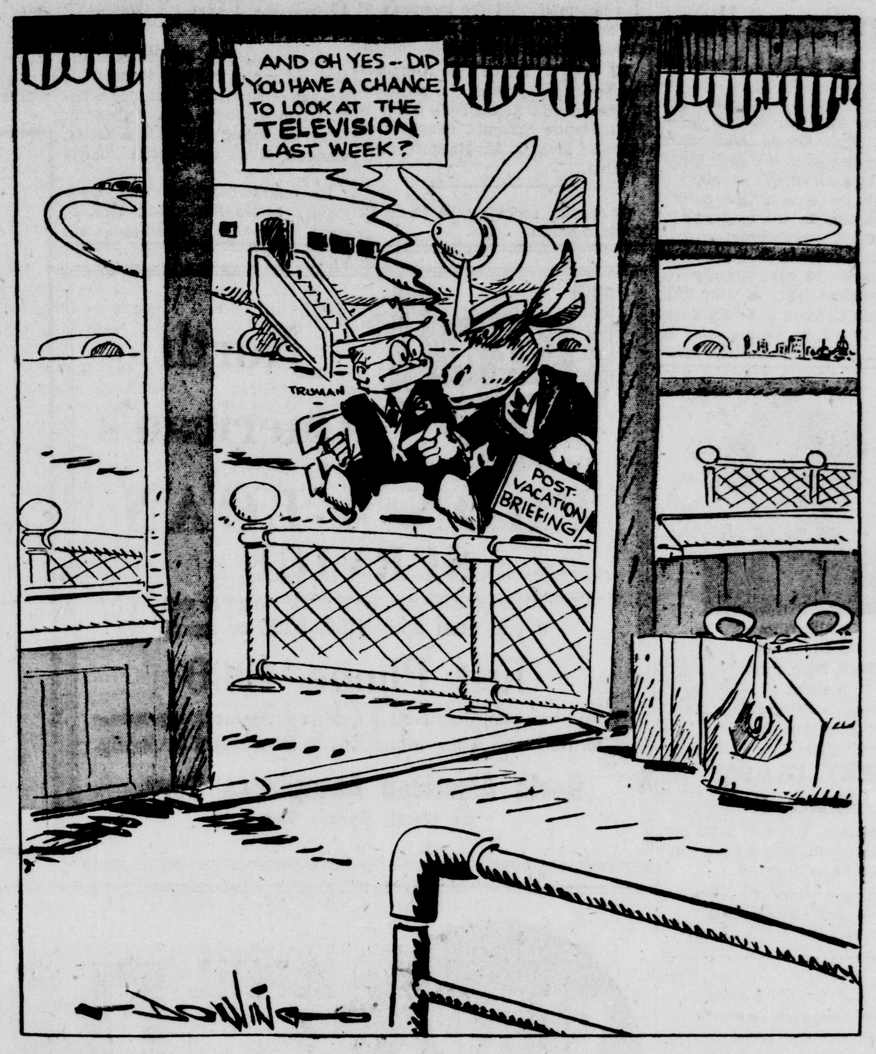

Nothing is wrong. He is less sensitive than others.

D. L. writes: Why does high blood pressure cause dizziness?

REPLY

Dizziness usually is associated with changes in circulation incident to spasm or thickening of the blood vessel walls.

Getting Caught Up

DREW PEARSON on—

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Senator Kefauver's Life Exposed; Crime-Buster Also Trust-Buster And Crusader For Underdog; Licked Boss Crump And Fought Sen. McKellar

WASHINGTON — RANDOM REACTIONS OF A CITIZEN RETURNING TO THE U. S. A. — Stepping off a Pan American Clipper in New York the other day I immediately got tangled in a traffic jam. But the traffic jam seemed good . . . In Communist Yugoslavia I couldn't find a taxi to drive from the station in Belgrade to the hotel (this in the capital of Yugoslavia.) I had to take a horse-drawn carriage . . . At Idlewild Airport I also stepped in front of a customs inspector who said: "Things have been happening while you were away. A guy named Kefauver has taken this town by storm. We don't get much work done watching him. That fellow Tobey and his eyeshade isn't so bad either. He's saying a lot of things the American people would like to say." . . . Tobey, I recalled, was the Republican who squeaked through the New Hampshire primary by the scant margin of about 2,000 votes after all sorts of money was poured in by the china lobby and others to defeat him. All sorts of names were hurled at Tobey then. I remember because I got smeared when I went to his support.

At the airport, everywhere around New York, everyone talked Costelloism, Kefauver, O'Dwyer, mink coats, RFC corruption, kick the rascals out . . . A lot different from war and the preparation for war engrossing Europe. . . . Best thing about the crime probe, I thought, as my car crawled through the traffic jam, is the reaction of the people. Sometimes it's good for people to get sore, to rise up against leaders who fail to lead. . . . These are the folks who are shock troops of the nation, the home people, the common people, the craftsmen, workmen, shopkeepers who run the race and keep the faith. They may be plain, poor, simple, but they are stubborn in safeguarding the great ideals of decency, and their wrathy reaction to corruption in high places is healthier, more effective than an army of policemen. . . . Truth may desert the high places. Political laziness may engulf the Justice Department, but when you have a great army of plain people holding the front line for clean living, I am not worried about the future. . . . That is the greatest asset of America. . . . That is the most important reaction I got upon returning to the U. S. A.

INSIDE SENATOR KEFAUVER — Since Estes Kefauver has been exposing other people, here is a little exposing of Estes Kefauver. . . . His office walls are cluttered with scribbled drawings of his 7-year-old daughter. His ambition is not to deal with crime, but become an expert on the Foreign Relations Committee. . . . Yale-trained, he once wrote a book, "20th Century Congress," urging that Congress be streamlined. He even blasted his colleagues for taking expensive junkets to Alaska, Hawaii, etc., at the taxpayers expense. . . . One of the few men who ever bucked the Crump machine in Tennesse and lived politically to tell the tale. Boss Crump of Memphis pulled every trick in the bag to defeat Estes, even claimed he was a foreigner. It all backfired. Kefauver was born in Madisonville, Tenn.... On Kefauver's office wall also hangs a coonskin cap in a glass case. He wore it, stumping the state against Boss Crump. "My coonskin may have three rings around its tail," he told Tennesseeans, "but it doesn't haye a ring through its nose."

CHAMPION OF LITTLE FELLOW—It isn't always that a crime-buster is also a trust-buster. But Kefauver's record in fighting for little business, standing up for the little fellow is about 100 per cent perfect. He dared challenge veteran Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming on the Basing Point bill, staged a bitter campaign to show what the new Basing Point bill would do to little business — and won. . . . He was among those who had the courage to buck the big distillers and demand extension of the President's power to suspend whisky distilling until more grain was on hand to feed Europe. . . . He guided the House Small Business Committee in its fight against monopolies; showed how war concentrated more business in the hands of fewer companies. . . . In the House he campaigned to get the low-cost housing bill dislodged from the Rules Committee where it was blocked by the die-hards. . . . He voted against the big gas companies and against his Democratic friends from the Southwest on the Kerr Natural Gas bill. . . . And he championed a bill to use some of our huge food surpluses to feed underprivileged children. . . . When the Senator's father came to Washington to see him sworn in, he remarked: "They used to refer to Estes as my son. Now they call me Estes' daddy. That's what makes a country better — when a son is better than his daddy."

TENNESSEE ECONOMIZER — When Kefauver was first elected to the Senate from the House of Representatives, he had a lot of House stationery still on hand. So to save the government money he proceeded to use up his House writing paper. . . . Fulton Lewis long ago began lambasting Kefauver. (Mrs. Lewis is the daughter of another Tennesseean, Claudius Houston, former chairman of the Republican National Committee.) . . . Nothing galls aging Senator Kenneth McKellar more than Kefauver's triumphs. McKellar did his best to defeat Kefauver, later wrote the President taking credit for swinging Tennessee for Truman. Actually he had done almost nothing. . . . A great family man, Kefauver wanted a third child and when this appeared impossible, the Kefauvers adopted one. By that time the family was big enough, but Mrs. Kefauver produced an unexpected fourth. . . . Estes was so busy with the crime probe in Chicago that he almost wasn't there for the arrival.

QUOTES FROM THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND — "On the surface, Kefauver is as calm as a Sunday afternoon, but this covers a stormy spirit inside." . . . "The young Tennesseean is a liberal lawyer-economist who moves like a tornado in slow motion. . . ." "A tall, handsome younger edition of Cordell Hull." . . . Three-year-old David Kefauver is the only person who ever told Truman he didn't need a bodyguard. Delivering a ham at the White House with his mother, David asked the President what the circular doors in his office were for. "For the Secret Service men to come in to protect me," the President replied. . . . "Aw, you're a big man," blurted David, "you don't need anyone to protect you." . . . Eleanor Kefauver, daughter of the crime buster, once invited all members of her class to ride on the Tennessee float in the 1948 inaugural parade. "All the girls in my class have connections with Tennessee," she explained. When asked what connection a South American classmate had with the state, Eleanor replied: "She had to come through Tennessee to get to Washington."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Independence Hall

ONE SUNDAY recently, I took my children to Philadelphia to look at Independence Hall, the Liberty Bell, and other historic evidences of the founding of our country enshrined in that building. I think that parents would strengthen their children's love of country if they, even for once in their lives, walked the floor upon which Washington and Jefferson and Franklin stood on the occasion of the founding of this country. It gives one a feeling of continuity, of belonging to a grand tradition. It relates one to the great spiritual strength of America.

I was, however, disappointed by the environment. The streets are narrow and shabby. There is a little park in front of the building, but not an impressive one. My little girl wanted to see Betsy Ross's house, where our first national flag was sewn, and we drove through narrow Arch Street where we stopped in front of 239. The house is buried in a mass of buildings and is perhaps best recognized by a replica of our first flag that hangs on a pole from it.

We wanted to see where Benjamin Franklin was buried in the Christ Church Cemetery and even to enter Christ Church itself, but parking was difficult. Yet it was in that church that the fathers of our country prayed for guidance on those occasions when they wrote the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

I am told that a plan is afoot to turn this invaluable historic area into a national historical park. Since January 1 of this year, Independence Hall and the group of historic buildings adjacent to it are under the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior.

More than that is necessary to preserve these monuments. They should be restored. Independence Hall, for instance, needs a coat of paint on the interior walls. Peeling ceilings are not impressive, particularly to young children. Could not the grand dining room of this building, which also served as a hospital, be restored, so that when the hall is visited, children can see, in their keen imaginations, the great figures who risked their lives that this might be a nation of free men?

With all the billions of dollars that the United States has been spending all over the world for every variety of boondoggling, why has nothing been done until now to restore the entire area, from Spruce to Arch Street, into a shrine to American patriotism? I look at a map of the "Independence National Historical Park Project" and I cannot help wondering why it is still a project after 175 years. Why do we have to wait to do the fine things when we can waste so much on the meaningless?

Are Americans so lacking in sentiment, so impotent in their love of tradition that it has taken them this long to rescue the most sacred spot in all this country from obscurity and vandalism? How shall we instill in our children the ideals of our nation if we fail to show any interest in our national monuments?

In a way, I must say that I came away hurt, because my children, who said it was all wonderful, betrayed their own disillusionment. The rooms were so bare. They had been to Plymouth where they saw the Pilgrims' houses and Plymouth

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Congress will be dealing with a very fundamental issue when it considers what to do with the reconstruction Finance Corporation in the future.

To abolish this lending agency altogether would eliminate one of the principal instruments for supplying capital to companies that seek to compete with so-called monopolies—businesses that dominate high percentages of sales or production in particular industries. To accept the Truman plan for a one-man administrator, removable at will by the President, is objectionable because it means a political job and political pressure to obtain approval for loan applications.

To appoint a five-man board and set up a new agency with a new name and a new set of regulations and safeguards is about the only answer—and Congress really would like to do this but is confronted with the necessity of voting first on the Truman plan. If it approves his plan, however, it runs the risk later of a presidential veto of its own bill.

Object To Laxity

The wise thing to do would be for the President to withdraw his RFC plan for the time being and ask Congress to come up with a new plan within 90 days. If Congress didn't do so the President could renew his request for his one-man plan. The Senate could, of course, vote down the President's "one-man" plan now and adopt legislation later.

Bankers generally are in favor of taking the government altogether out of the lending business. But they themselves do not object to some government guarantees of loans after the manner of the federal guarantee of mortgages. They do object to the laxity of housing loan regulations and basically they argue that a loan should not be granted where the applicant puts in very little of his own money in any project. Thats a pretty good rule with respect to all government lending.

But this is a question involving what government policy should be rather than the function or structure of an agency. To say that the RFC should be abolished because some scandals of administration have been uncovered would be tantamount to an admission that men of integrity and capacity cannot be obtained who would make a success of sound policies on a governmental board or commission by resisting political pressure and other improper influence.

The real difficulty is that Congress has failed to live up to the original concept which governed legislators of a quarter of a century ago when they created the quasi-legislative and the quasi-judicial agency and made it responsible to Congress and not to the executive. The theory then was that Congress was delegating specific powers and looked to the executive merely to make sure there was no malfeasance in office. The idea of anyone in the White House or the cabinet attempting to influence the policies or judgments of these commissions or boards was abhorrent to the legislative sponsors. It was the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt who started to break down the congressional theory and his viewpoint has been unfortunately upheld by some Republican sponsors of governmental reorganization in later years who felt that anything in the executive establishment should be subject to presidential power and influence even in the making of policy.

Long Standing Problem

The problem of intermediate credit is one that has plagued government for many years. Back in the 1920's capital was supplied to private enterprises through finance companies which were subsidiaries of commercial banks. Some abuses were uncovered in the early '30's and the so-called "affiliates" were abolished by act of Congress though they did perform some important functions which have never since been available through private financial companies especially in fulfilling the needs of small businesses.

Then there was the scheme whereby the Federal Reserve banks for a while handled private loans which local banks had turned down as being in the nature of "capital loans." There are many successful enterprises in existence today fulfilling an economic purpose which never would have been able to carry on except for the loans from the RFC. It isn't a matter of loans in emergency periods only. At all times the banker rightly frowns on the idea of making capital loans out of his demand deposits. Sometimes, too, large banks hesitate to make loans to applicants who might become competitors of their own large customers.

As long as there is to be a competitive system in America and the anti-trust laws are enforced and control of credit is in private hands there always will be pressure to find a way to get capital for business enterprises through the cooperation of the government. Whether the loans should be guaranteed in part by the government and in part by private banks so as to make it a joint venture or whether a system of lending should be set up by the Federal Reserve banks to take care of legitimate needs of credit that cannot be handled by any bank or group of small banks in a local area, there is a need for some form of government lending.

Congress is disposed to tackle that problem and find a solution. But the present atmosphere of scandal which surrounds the issue could bring a tragic stop to an important function of government and result later on, during a wave of radicalism, in setting up of something far worse in its injury to private banking than the RFC with its lending facilities has ever been in the past.

It would be a mistake to leave the country without some intermediate credit system altogether and that is why constructive plans from private bankers are more important to present now than broadside denunciations of government lending and the blunders of ill-chosen RFC directors.

Matter Of Fact

Nerve War Offensive

BERLIN

THE shape of things to come, at least for the months immediately ahead, is foreshadowed by two massive facts. The first fact is simply the power of the six Soviet armies in East Germany. These are now moving, nearly a fortnight earlier than usual, to their maneuver areas close to the zonal border. There they will remain all summer, a permanent, open threat to all of Western Europe.

The second fact is more complex. No one can say whether the Kremlin is even considering using these armies this summer in the way that armies are normally used. The probabilities are certainly quite heavily against such an act of madness. But there is no doubt at all that the Kremlin has already begun to use these armies in quite another way, as powerful weapons in an offensive in the war of nerves, aimed to disrupt the Western alliance and prevent the rebuilding of the defenses of the West.

This war of nerves offensive thus far takes the crude form of having Soviet and satellite diplomats and officials whisper "confidential" warnings into appropriate ears, for transmission to Paris, London and other capitals. President Petitpierre of Switzerland and several other European neutrals have been used as channels for these warnings, that the Soviet armies in East Germany may really attack —that the Kremlin really will not "tolerate" any West German rearmament—that the only way to escape war this year is to abandon the project of a German contribution to the defense of the West.

War Of Nerves Preferred

A previous report examined the evidence for and against a rather different Soviet gambit, which until recently was the one mainly feared by the State Department. This was, in brief, an attempt to block the Western defense effort by offering to trade the Soviet imperial province of East Germany for the demilitarization of all Germany and the withdrawal of all occupation forces. It now seems clear that the preferred gambit is the cheaper, simpler and more promising war of nerves offensive.

Thus at Paris Andrei Gromyko has hardly mentioned the German unity which has been so loudly emphasized in Soviet propaganda all winter. He has talked solely about "German demilitarization and the return to Potsdam." This is a pretty clear indication of what his master, Vishinsky, will mainly demand when and if the Conference of Foreign Ministers of the Big Four is at last convened. One can hear the demand being yelled, perhaps against the background of reinforcement in East Germany.

Meanwhile, at Paris, the behavior of the French representative, Alexandre Parodi, and in a lesser degree of the Britisher, Ernest Davies, suggests that the war of nerves offensive, even in this very preliminary stage, is already having some success. The tendency of the

A man who sells old age annuities for one of the big New York insurance companies searches the "business and finance" pages of all the papers assiduously for photographs of young executives who have secured promotions or assumed new posts. He has these photographs expertly retouched to make the prospects look like codgers of eighty or eighty-five, and mails the resultant works of art to said prospects' homes, attaching his business card, and a note reading, "What are you going to do to make life secure for this old man?"

Does the system work? He's sold more old age insurance than any other three solicitors in the agency combined.

Laredo, Texas, hit the front pages recently with a press report of a big ball game between the Laredo Optimist Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. All kinds of goodies were offered as prizes by publicity-minded merchants. A local attorney put up the most unusual one of all—a free divorce suit.

Whitworth To Fight Kimble Bill On Liquor Control Board

"If the proposed bill by State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) changing the setup of the Allegany County Liquor Control Board is passed by the Legislature I will request Gov. McKeldin not to sign it", declared Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, a member of the Allegany county delegation to the Legislature.

Whitworth charged that Kimble's bill is proposed solely to provide a job at a high salary to a close personal friend of Kimble. He did not identify the persons referred to. The board setup as proposed by Kimble would have Walter C. Capper as chairman, Stanley O. Hamilton and Former Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr. The latter is a Democrat while the other two are Republicans.

Whitworth also charged that the bill would create unnecessary jobs in providing for an enforcement agency. These enforcement jobs would duplicate the present duties of the county investigator, state's attorney's office and the police of various municipalities, according to Whitworth.

The delegate also said that the proposal for an attorney for the board is unnecessary. Whitworth said that no other county in Maryland has an enforcement agency for their liquor boards. He cited the work of the state's attorney's offices in Wicomico and Worcester counties in cleaning up both gambling and liquor violations as examples of how the Allegany county situation could be handled.

As far as enforcement is concerned, Whitworth said that one good inspector "with his eyes open" could do a good job and by obtaining the assistance of the state's attorney's office for the follow through investigation, the situation here could be handled efficiently.

In commenting on the increased salary program for members of the Liquor Board, Whitworth said that even at the current $2,000 annual salary the board members are overpaid. "The job is worth not more than $1,800 annually, but Kimble's bill would provide for $3,000 for each member and an additional $500 for the chairman," he declared.

Whitworth also said that so far as he knows there have been no hearings conducted on the bill and with only one week left before the end of the legislative session opponents and proponents of the proposed bill would have no way of setting forth their stand on the measure. He said that the bill may be introduced by Kimble during the closing stages of the legislature.

Work On Church May Be Resumed Soon Here

The building committee of the Fairview Avenue Methodist Church met Friday evening and the pastor, Rev. B. F. Hartman, reported that the pouring of concrete for the basement of the addition had been held up because of inclement weather. Work will continue as soon as weather permits.

Funds are still being raised for the new building which will house the Sunday School Department that has outgrown its present quarters.

The Double M Club is sponsoring a Sacred Concert to be presented in the church on May 4, all proceeds going to the building fund.

Local Television Out For Present

The television outlook for Cumberland was clarified Saturday by a local radio official who is in Washington discussing the matter with the Federal Communications Commission.

It has been announced by the FCC that Cumberland has been assigned television Channel 17 in the move to ultimately permit operation of about 2,000 new television stations.

The FCC has informed the attorneys for the station here that the Cumberland outlet will not be allocated for 12 to 18 months.

After that it will take some time for the station selected here to be placed into operation — depending upon whether equipment is available.

The government this week announced the opening up of 70 new channels in an unused portion of the radio wave spectrum known as ultra high frequencies.

A relay tower owned by Western Union is near Frostburg and another owned by Bell Telephone on Sideling Hill could be used in polycasting.

All of the three local radio stations have applications for TV stations here. However, from all information at hand, these radio stations say that it will be at least two years before a TV outlet is located here.

Sr., Jr., Woman's Civic Clubs Receive Thanks For Gifts

Contributions Sent To War Torn Europe

The Woman's Civic Club, Mrs. Albert W. Keight, president; and the Junior Woman's Civic Club, Miss Margaret Reid, president; have received letters of appreciation from Major W. H. Finley, USAF, German Youth Activities officer in Erding, Germany, for the contributions they sent in the Lucius P. Clay drive.

Contributions had been solicited from clubs throughout the United States and were flown by the Air Force to Europe to brighten the Christmas of children of war torn Europe.

The Woman's Civic Club sent 80 pounds of new materials of all discriptions, through its International Relations Group, with Mrs. Courtney Kidwell, chairman.

The Junior Woman's Civic Club's contribution included material for dresses, pink flannelette for layettes, besides needles, pins, threads and other sewing equipment. Mrs. F. Perry Smith, Jr., was project chairman.

Acknowledging the gifts along with others from the General Federation of Women's Clubs in America, Major Finley writes of the pleasure of distributing the donations, and the "happy appreciative faces of the recipients." He also states, "After two years of residence in Germany and with considerable experience in German Youth Activities, I can assure you that your gift will further convince the German people of the innate goodwill and generosity of the American people."

He continues, "If you have other opportunities to donate clothing or materials to needy German children, I assure you that we can make excellent use of any such donations in our German Youth Activities Program. Approximately 35,000 refugees live within our area, and several thousand of their youth come within the scope of our activities. Although the majority of these children are no longer in dire need, there are hundreds who are still in rather pitiful circumstances."

West Virginian Faces Dual Murder Charge

Attempts On Life Prove Futile

Jesse Vandevander, 48, of Cherry Grove, near Franklin, W. Va., will go on trial May 14 in Pendleton County Circuit Court on two charges of murder and two of feloniously wounding as a result of a shooting fracas February 24 during a family feud at Cherry Grove.

Vandevander is accused of slaying his two brothers, Wean Sylvester Vandevander, 61; and Jacob Vandevander, 57, who was blind.

The accused also is charged with wounding Virgil Vandevander, 25, a nephew, and Betty Alice Bennett, 50, with the same 25-35 caliber rifle used in the killing of the brothers.

The shooting took place at the home of Mrs. Ruth Ellen Vandevander, 85-year-old mother of the accused murderer.

Jesse Vandevander said the other members of the family had "been picking on me for a long time. I lost my head and started to shoot."

Prosecuting Attorney George Sponaugle said Vandevander is now held in the county jail at Franklin and will be tried before a jury on May 14. Judge Harlan M. Calhoun will preside. Sponaugle will be assisted in prosecuting the case by William McCoy, a Franklin attorney.

Vandevander has engaged John Cunningham, Franklin, and Gus Muntzing, Moorefield, W. Va., as his attorneys.

The accused murderer made an abortive attempt to commit suicide a short time after the shooting spree and wounded himself seriously on the second try. The first charge he fired went far to the left of his heart while the second struck him in the chest. He was taken to a Harrisonburg, Va., hospital where he was a patient until March 12. Vandevander was then returned to Franklin.

Doering Wins Open Tourney At Greensboro

Earns $2,000 With 279; Ferrier Becomes Top Money Winner

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 26 (AP)—Arthur Doering, 34-year-old Chicago shotmaker, who plays golf professionally out of Richmond, Va., finally hit the jackpot after five years of trying when he won $2,000 first money in the Greensboro Open Tournament.

The former star of the amateur ranks, who had only $800 on the current winter tour, finished with a one-under-par 37-33—70, for a five under par 279 for 72 holes and a five-stroke lead over runner up Jim Ferrier of San Francisco. Ferrier finished with 67 for 284-even par for the distance. His $1,400 pickup moved him into first place in the year's money winnings with a total of $9,662.50. He displaced Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, who tied for 11th with 292 and added $285 to his winnings, which now total $8,611.33.

Snead Earns $1,000

Sam Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who won the tournament the previous two years, came flying through the stretch with a 66, lowest round of the tournament, to finish third with 285 and earn $1,000.

But it was all Doering's show. The tall, soft-spoken pro who had never won a big one, really had it here. He had rounds of 70-71-68-70, never going over par for the 6,718-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course. He grabbed the lead in the second round and held on thereafter.

He came here rather discouraged about his future as a traveling player, he said he was shopping around for a club pro job, one that offered the security not found on the tournament chase.

For many years he was one of the ranking amateurs of the nation, but the big ones always eluded him since he turned professional.

A former Stanford University No. 1 player, Doering lived in Denver for a while before taking a professional job at Charlottesville, Va., which he left over a year ago.

In 1945 he won the All-American Amateur title at Chicago's Tam O' Shanter Club.

Sam Posts Two 33s

Snead, reflecting the confidence of his fellow-pros who've voted him No. 1 choice to win the Augusta Masters Tournament next week, had two 33s featured by two eagles.

Tied for fourth money at 286 were pros Jackie Burke, Houston, Earl Stewart, Jr., Dallas., and Roberto De Vicenzo, Buenos Aires.

Low amateur with 294 was Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., two strokes ahead of Harvie Ward, Tarboro, N. C. Third was Connie Sellers, Roanoke, Va., with 304.

Eagles Will Meet

Manager Sammy DeLuca has called a meeting of the Eagles of the Rocking Chair Softball League for Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the Eagles' Home. A reception will follow the meeting.

Parker's Quint Wins

Happy Hills made it very unhappy for Henrietta's in the 135-pound division opener by defeating the latter to the tune of 55-30.

The Happy quint, paced by Gerald Null, who banked in 15 points, took a 12-5 lead at the quarter and stayed in front throughout. The score was 19-8 at halftime and 38-19 at the close of the third stanza. Merv Trail and George McGregor rang up nine points each for the winners. Jack Fayman topped the losers with eight tallies.

Meder's Transfer ran over Barton's Dairy quint in the initial junior unlimited division contest. The score was 62-48.

Milkmen Are Defeated

John Brelsford led the Milkmen with 18 points while Ray Elder had 11. Dave Walton and Ronald Sisk were the "big guns" for the Transfer quint with 13 and 12 markers. The Dairymen took a 16-11 lead at halftime but trailed 32-27 at intermission and 52-38 at the end of the third stanza.

In the first game of the senior division, which concluded the opening nights program, the Parker A. C., skippered by Charley Lattimer and composed of University of Maryland athletes, walloped the local American Legion quint, 53-28. Paul Nestor, of Parsons, W. Va., topped the winners with an even dozen points. Parker's quint led at the quarters, 11-5, 27-13 and 37-16.

In the tourney lid-lifter, the Tip Toppers eliminated Burek's Restaurant from the 115-pound division by winning to the tune of 26-12. Eight teams remained in this division.

Galen McGregor paced the winners in scoring with 10 points. The Tip Toppers held a 12-5 lead at halftime.

Oxford Loses To Cambridge

Latter Crew Victor By Twelve Lengths

LONDON, March 28 (INS) — Cambridge University's superbly-conditioned oarsmen rowed to a 12-length victory over Oxford's American-led shell on the choppy Thames today for their fifth straight triumph in the historic eight-oar rivalry bteween the schools.

As a result of today's victory, the Cambridge crew will leave for the United States to race against Yale and Harvard on April 14 and 19.

Coxswain George Alexander Carver of Hightown, N. J., an undergraduate from Yale now studying at Balliol College, steered and directed the Oxford crew with skill, but his boat was no match for the winning Cambridge shell, which negotiated the 4 mile course from Putney to Mortlake in 20 minutes, 50 seconds.

Thousands of spectators lined the banks of the Thames in a drizzling rain and saw Cambridge draw ahead in the first few strokes and increase its margin throughout.

The race originally had been scheduled for last Saturday, but wind and water combined to sink the Oxford shell inside the first half mile, and authorities officially postponed the event until today.

The victory for Cambridge was its 53rd in the 97 meets between the schools. Oxford has won 43, and one race resulted in a dead heat.

By C. V. BURNS

When Dr. Thomas C. Ferguson, director of health and physical education of the high schools of Maryland died recently, Secretary H. V. Porter, Chicago, of the National Federation of State High Schools, sent the following message to executives of the federation in the various states:

"Tom had been a leader for many years in physical training and athletic groups, especially in the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations. He served as an officer and member of the executive committee in both organizations.

"The school system of Maryland and of the entire nation has lost a staunch supporter and a dynamo of energy. If there is any consolation in this, he already has done in his 59 years more than his share of the world's work. The school program is strong and more vital because of his untiring efforts in the interests of health and welfare of the millions of boys and girls who have benefited from his wholesome outlook on life and his organizing ability.

George Huber, Washington (D. C.) boxing expert, writes several interesting paragraphs concerning Jack Laken, the roly-poly fight manager, who is now piloting Harold (Baby Face) Jones.

Laken, according to Huber, is now using the "broken thumb" yarn to explain how his heavyweight Maxie Baird lost a match in Baltimore recently.

"That broken thumb reminds one of Jackie Wilson, who appeared in Washington many times," Huber writes. "Wilson lost a fight here somehow on one occasion, and the next day Laken came by with an X-ray picture of a broken forearm to prove that Wilson had broken his arm during the fight.

"By some coincidence that same X-ray picture has shown up in various other parts of the country whenever another of Laken's fighters lost a bout!"

Harry Heilmann, one-time American League batting champion, who has been hospitalized following a heart attack, is noted as a story teller.

One of his favorite yarns concerns Rogers Hornsby, former National League slugger and batting champion.

Hornsby was batting against Jumbo Elliott one day and let three pitches go by. Umpire Bill Klem called each of them a ball.

Elliott protested loudly, claiming all three pitches could have been called strikes. Sore and disgusted, the pitcher tried to put a fast one by and the Rajah hit it out of the park.

As Hornsby trotted around the bases, Klem removed his mask, walked to the pitcher's box and told Elliott:

"Young man, whenever the ball is over the plate, Mr. Hornsby will let you know."

Kansas State Favored Over Kentucky Five

Minneapolis Scene Of NCAA Title Tilt, Aggies Face Illini

MINNEAPOLIS, March 26 (AP)—For the first time in something like ten years Kentucky's basketball team finds itself a bit of an underdog on the eve of the finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's final playoff.

But that, says Coach Adolph Rupp, isn't worrying him. He was unconcerned as he said he had been told that his team was figured to be 2½ points under the Kansas State team. Kansas State will tangle with Kentucky tomorrow night in the Williams Arena on the University of Minnesota campus.

Rupp, who has coached Kentucky to two NCAA titles, was more concerned over Cliff Hagan, a forward. Hagan showed up today with a temperature and complained of a sore throat.

He was placed under a doctor's care, put to bed and given penicillin in an attempt to have him ready to start tomorrow night's game.

Rupp wasn't the only one concerned about the condition of his players.

Jack Gardner of the Kansas State squad didn't know whether he would have the services of Ernie Barrett, his star guard, who received a shoulder injury in the battle with Oklahoma A & M, in the western playoff final at Kansas City last Saturday night.

It was believed Barrett would be started, but Gardner said he didn't know how much he would be able to play. If Barrett can't stay in the game, Bob Rousey, a six-foot high scoring sophomore, will get his chance.

Otherwise, both squads appeared to be in pretty fair shape for the championship game. Oklahoma will play Illinois for third place in a game starting at 9 p. m. (EST) just before the Kentucky-Kansas State game.

Players on the Illinois team, beaten 76-74 in the eastern finals by Kentucky, didn't go along with the theory that the Kentuckians weren't quite as good a team as Kansas State.

In an informal poll in which 12 members of the squad were queried, they voted, eight of the Illini picked Kentucky to win, with the other four favoring K-State.

All the teams worked out this afternoon and evening on the floor in Williams Arena. A capacity crowd of more than 18,000 was expected to watch the games.

New York Colleges To Play Basketball Games In Garden

NEW YORK, March 26—(INS)—New York University, Manhattan College and St. John's of Brooklyn absolved scandal-scarred Madison Square Garden today by announcing they will play their basketball games in that arena next season.

Representatives of the three schools met with Garden officials over the weekend and formed a sub-committee to run the sport next season.

City College of New York and LIU, who along with NYU and Manhattan have players involved in the current fix scandal, did not attend the meeting.

The sub-committee consists of officials from the schools and a Garden basketball department representative. It will determine ticket prices and allotments, team accomodations, radio-television rights and other policy.

The three schools agreed that return of the game to their campus gyms was impossible due to the demands for tickets by students and alumnae.

"MR. SHORTSTOP" HAS PROBLEM AT SHORT

CARDS' NEW MANAGER, MARTY MARION, IS BIG ? MARK

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the 12th of a series of articles on the 1951 prospects of the major league baseball teams.

BY WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — "Mr. Shortstop," who this year is also "Mr. Manager," has a problem at—of all places—shortstop.

Of course, Marty Marion, new pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals, has other problems, too, but in camp here he said one of the most serious ones was at short.

And the team's shortstop is—Marty Marion.

"I underwent a knee operation Dec. 18," says the 33-year-old Marion, only playing manager left in the big leagues, "and I worked out here the first week and everything was okay. But then the knee began to swell and my doctor told me to stay off of it. I was breaking the adhesions. The knee is weak and some way I'll have to get it strong.

"If I can play, however, I'll be at shortstop. If not, we'll just have to find someone."

Marion says the best bet right now is a rookie, Dick Cole, regular shortstop for Rochester in the International league the last three years. Cole, who is assigned to the Rochester club, batted .278 and was one of the better infielders in the loop.

There was some talk at first of moving Red Schoendienst, the second sacker, to short but Marion nixes that idea. To wit:

"Red is only my last resort at short. He's the best second baseman in the league but that long throw from short might hurt him and I'd lose both a shortstop and a second baseman."

While shortstop appears to be the Card skipper's big problem he says there are others.

Only three spots are sure. Those are Schoendienst at second, Stan Musial in center and Enos Slaughter in right.

MARION is especially impressed with the way things are working out at first, behind the plate and in the box.

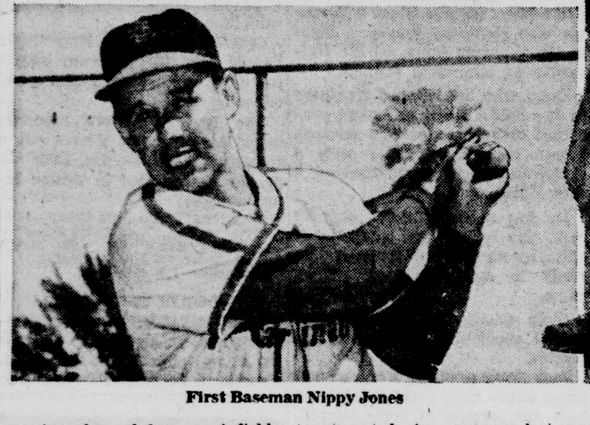

Frist first.

First Sacker Steve Bilko and Outfielder Stan Musial

Pitcher Gerald Staley

First Baseman Nippy Jones

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS
Finish in '50: Fifth
Last pennant: 1946
Leading pitcher: Howie Pollett (14-13)
Leading hitter: Stan Musial (.346)
(Averages are for 1950)

"We've a happy problem here," he says. "Nippy Jones has looked very good. If his back doesn't bother him we're all set. Jones, a regular in 1948-49, had a spinal disk removed from his back and last year he got in only 13 games. In 1949 he hit .300 for us.

"Big Steve Bilko came to camp this year weighing only 235. He could be a big leaguer. And one of our rookies, Don Bollweg, who was with Rochester last year, has impressed me with his running and hustle."

Bilko, the man mountain of the 1950 training camp, came up as a sure-fire star. He didn't stick, however, and went to Rochester where he hit .290.

"Our catching," says Marion, "is a happy thing. Joe Garagiola, our best hitter here, has come back with all ailments cleared up. We know Del Rice is a good receiver and Bill Sarni, a rookie, has looked good. If Garagiola can hit left-handed pitching, we'll be all set."

Sarni, up from Columbus of the American Association, batted .280 last year.

At third base Marion is much impressed with Don Richmond, another Rochester boy. Richmond smacked 18 home runs for that club last year while turning in a .333 batting mark.

The Redbirds' skipper has one outfield spot to fill and he's looking for a right handed batter. Best of the hopefuls for the one unfilled spot are Larry Miggins a .280 hitter with Columbus in 1950; Larry Ciaffone, a .324 belter with Rochester, and two holdovers from last year, Bill Howerton and Hal Rice.

AND NOW to the pitching, which bogged down last year and was one of the reasons the Cards dropped to fifth place.

"Our pitching looks very good," says the new skipper. We want a sound pitching staff with a few veterans but with an accent on youth."

"At this stage," he said, "I'd say that my big five are Cloyd Boyer, Howie Pollett, Tom Poholsky, Red Munger and Gerald Staley."

Boyer, a righthander, won seven and lost seven last year. Pollett, a holdout at this writing, won 14 and lost 13. Munger, a veteran, too, was 7-8. Staley had 13-13. Poholsky, a righthander, won 18 and lost six for Rochester.

In addition to these Marion can call on Max Lanier, 11-9; Harry Brecheen, 8-11, or Irv Dusak, who was transformed from an infielder-outfielder to pitcher two years ago and will be used only as a pitcher.

Marion says his relief man will be Alpha Brazle, a southpaw who got in 46 games last year. Ted Wilks, who was No. 1 in this department, had a sore arm last year and helped little.

The rookie contingent is big and impressive. Most publicized of all the rookies is Wilmer David Mizell, a Mississippi youth who is known as "Vinegar Bend" and is quite a character. He has had only two years of pro ball but struck out 227 in 207 innings while winning 17 games for Winston-Salem last season.

Marion's eye also is on Joe Presko, a "midget" rightie who won 16 games for last-place Houston last year. Still another is Kurt Krieger, a 17-5 guy with Columbus in 1950. John Yuhas, who won 15 for Rochester, has been playing Cuban ball and had not reported to camp as this was written.

Marion is working his boys hard. He has substituted runing for calisthenics and has added bunting instruction and sliding pits.

GIANTS WIN IN 9TH

LAKELAND, Fla., March 26—(AP)—The New York Giants came from behind in the ninth inning and scored twice with the help of three errors to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 5-4, today.

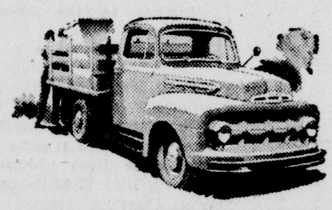

Alvin Dark, leading off for the Giants, reached second when rookie third baseman Harold Daughtery threw wild. Pinch-Hitter Johnny Jorgensen fanned, but Ray Noble, batting for pitcher George Bamberger, singled to right scoring Dark and raced to third when the ball went through Vic Wertz's legs in right field.

Johnny Groth dropped Whitey Lockman's fly and Noble came across with the winning run. Score:

McKeldin Tells Md. Legislature He Won't Indulge In "Bossism"

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 26 (AP)—The Maryland Legislature of 1951 and the Assembly of 1649 were alike in one way, Gov. McKeldin said today.

They were not under the domination of "mailed-fist leadership."

The governor, in a Maryland Day address before a joint session of House and Senate, referred to "those who lament what they call the lack of leadership." As for himself, he has no intention of indulging in "bossism."

Maryland Day—observance of the landing of the ships the Ark and the Dove 317 years ago—actually is March 25. This year it was observed on Monday.

McKeldin in his address told the assembly:

"I, who have observed the passing scene in Maryland, in and out of public office for several years, consider this one of the finest legislatures in the history of the state.

"As the closing date of the session draws near, we can see in retrospect orderly delibdrations, careful consideration for the matters before you, and sincere thought as to your responsibilities.

"There are those who lament what they call the lack of leadership.

"You were not elected by your city districts and by your counties to be led by some arbitrarily dictated officers or by someone elected to serve in an entirely separate branch of the state government. You were elected by the people of your districts or countis to represent them and to perform your duties here in accordance with your own intelligence.

"It is well to remember that some of those who now seem so deeply aggrieved by what they call the lack of leadership are the same who shout of bossism when the executive attempts to rule the legislature."

Going back to the first General Assembly 302 years ago, McKeldin noted that it took 19 days to consider 16 bills. This year, in the last week of a 90-day session, 1,256 bills have been introduced.

be by means of other than the diversion of money allotments which would seriously cripple the road maintenance and construction programs throughout the entire state."

Earlier in the day, the Senate favored a referendum on whether the state should continue taxing real estate but lacked the votes to put it through finally.

By a count of 15-14 senators tentatively approved a bill to amend Maryland's constitution to eliminate the property tax. The people would have a chance to vote on the proposal in November 1952.

The favorable vote fell short by three of the 18 necessary to pass measures proposing constitutional amendments. That many would have to change their minds to move the bill to the House when it comes up for a final Senate rollcall in the next few days.

Pair Refuses

called O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, has been working on gambling and police graft. It is ready to inquire into the mysterious death in 1941 of a hoodlum named Abe Reles, informer on the notorious Murder, Inc., killer mob. This took place while O'Dwyer was prosecuting attorney.

The perjury charge brought against Moran was based on his testimony before the Senate crime committee. Moran is a former New York City water commissioner and a longtime friend of O'Dwyer.

Attorney General McGrath, also appearing before the Senate group, said Racketeer Frank Costello can't be deported or deprived of his citizenship because he wasn't convicted of two serious crimes within five years of coming to this country from Italy.

Blow On His Head Fractures Ankle

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., March 26 (AP)—It can happen. A man can get hit on the head hard enough to break an ankle.

Dr. Walter L. Straughan, 72-year-old Crawfordsville physician, was felling a tree at his home here today.

As the tree fell it struck the doctor on the head. He suffered a badly bruised head and a broken ankle.

Baltimore Mayor Predicts Victory

BALTIMORE, March 26 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro expressed confidence today he will get the Democratic nomination for a second term in Baltimore's municipal primaries tomorrow.

The former Maryland Congressman rounded out his campaign with nearly all the city's Democratic factions and bosslets on his bandwagon.

The main last-minute interest was on efforts by the various factions to get the Mayor's favor for their candidates for lesser places on the ticket.

D'Alesandro is opposed for the top spot by Charles G. Griebel, 37-year-old automobile sales executive.

The Mayor predicted no more than 35 per cent of the city's 291,000 registered Democrats will go to the polls. His confidence was pinned to the expectations of a small turnout and the knowledge that all the factions, the ward and legislative district organizations throughout the city, have been for him.

On the Republican side, Joseph L. Carter, a close friend of Gov. McKeldin and chairman of the GOP State Central Committee, has the solid backing of the party organization. Louis R. Lillio, a young orator, is running against him.

Baltimore Sergeant Posthumously Awarded Congressional Medal

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—William R. Jecelin, a fighting sergeant from Baltimore, has been posthumously awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroism in the Korean war.

In announcing the award, the defense Department said Jacelin is the sixth soldier to win the nation's highest military honor during the Korean campaign.

The 20-year-old infantry sergeant was killed instantly when he smothered an enemy grenade that was thrown in the midst of his platoon. The department said his "incredible courage and willingness to sacrifice himself" saved the lives of at least five members of his squad.

Dogs Halt Two Trains

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Two trains were stopped today—by two Great Danes.

The New York Central Railroad said one Manhattan-bound commuter train was halted 13 minutes, and another 20 minutes while crews chased the two dogs off the tracks in the Bronx.

Walburn Trial Starts Today

The second trial for James Roscoe Walburn, charged with beating his baby son into unconsciousness, will begin this morning in the Garrett County Circuit Court at Oakland before a jury.

Associate Judge George Henderson will preside.

Walburn, who normally resides in Martinsburg, W. Va., was found guilty last March 28 by former Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., on a charge of beating his baby son and was sentenced to eight years in the Maryland House of Correction. The beating allegedly occurred in October, 1949, in a cabin on Deep Creek Lake, where the Walburns temporarily were residing. Judge Bruce later granted a motion by defense attorneys for a new trial.

Hugh Ream, charged with non-support of his eight children was given a six month term in the Oakland jail, but it was suspended on condition he pay $75 bi-monthly for their support. His case was tried before a jury.

Vernard R. Ludwig, charged with passing three worthless checks, received a one-year suspended sentence to the Maryland House of Correction on condition he make restitution and be of good behavior.

James Thomas Moon, 17, and John R. Wright, 16, charged with the theft of a truck owned by Arthur Lake, of near Swanton, were placed on probation for three years. They were ordered to report to the Maryland Department of Parole and Probation regularly.

W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney for Garrett county, prosecuted the cases.

Engineer

U. S. Corps of Engineers and also a separate investigation by George & Lynch, Inc., the contractors. The results of the Corps of Engineers investigation will be entirely factual and unbiased and will be made public upon its completion.

There have been numerous instances of children found playing and trespassing upon the work area and they have been warned by police officers, and the employees of George & Lynch and the Corps of Engineers. It is my opinion that the Mayor and City Council should recommend to the Corps of Engineers that "No Trespassing" signs be placed at close intervals along the work area and that City Police officers who find children trespassing upon the work area detain them and release them only into the custody of the parents.

Since the completed construction will probably at times of heavy rain and high runoff, have pools of water at various intake points, it would be advisable to ask the Corps of Engineers to review the plans and through a change order to the Contractor, or in a future contract make provisions for the incorporation of suitable barrier or fences to minimize the hazards.

There are always hazards inherent in any heavy construction operation. These hazards can be kept to a minimum through the cooperation of all persons connected with the work. Therefore, I recommend that the Corps of Engineers and the Contractor make a thorough investigation of all hazards and make a special effort to provide all possible protection. Also, the unions whose workers are on the project should, through their members call to the attention of the supervising personnel any hazards noticed by the individual workers.

A program of public education could be carried on through warnings to the children in the schools.

I feel sure that the newspapers will cooperate by publishing any material that might be made available to them to inform the public of the hazards.

Can you change your looks with every costume and still manage to look exactly like yourself? Here's how!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

In fashion shows, models perform fascinating changes with lightning speed that amaze non-professional beauties. In a matter of minutes, the model reappears with not only a complete change of costume, and perfect grooming, but a subtle, interesting variation in her own looks. "How can she do it and still manage to look so much her own, natural self?" is what people continually want to know.

Making your looks dovetail with the mood of the clothes you wear on any occasion is an intriguing performance; it requires the development of a high degree of sensitivity to time and place, and it is a skill that will enhance any woman's charm.

One Model's Performance

To illustrate, let me describe how Model Maggie M. achieved this goal in a recent big show.

Her first appearance was in a country-type tweed suit, for which she wore her hair brushed back in deceptively casual waves. Her make-up was underplayed to the point of seeming non-existant. Her smile was big as all outdoors. Her stride was free and covered the ground as though she were going places. You could almost smell the good earth even in that crowded room. That is being one with your clothes, the great accomplishment of a finished personality!

Ten minutes later, she came back on stage in evening attire. The same Maggie, but enchantingly different because of subtle changes . . . the kind that make you remember a woman.

Playing The Role

Her hair looked just as natural as before, but a little more formal — as if in recognition of the importance of the occasion. Her make-up was also just as natural, only her color was heightened as excitement might make it. Her stride had a glide in it and her smile a "come-hither." You could almost hear, the music of Mr. Strauss!

You can accomplish such a transformation and still remain yourself just as Maggie did. Maggie worked for a long time to cultivate her unerring sense of fitness for people, places, hours and occasions. A similar growth in any woman makes her a popular and sought after figure. Everybody feels that they can rely on a woman who knows what to do and when!

Vehicle Tags Are Good Indefinitely

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 26 (AP)—Current license tags will be good indefinitely, Governor McKeldin announced tonight.

The deadline had been March 31. A shortage of metals, however, has slowed down the manufacture of Maryland's new white-on-black auto and truck plates.

In view of this, the governor wrote Thomas B. R. Mudd, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

"Due to the emergency existing in connection with the issuance of motor vehicle license plates, caused by a shortage in supply, you are hereby authorized to extend the expiration date of all classes of registrations until the said emergency terminates."

Mudd had announced earlier that mailed requests for tag replacements had been delayed because of a bottleneck in shipments.

"Rhapsody In Blue" will be featured on the ll-Gershwin program. Aden Lewis will be piano soloist for the selection and will be accompanied by the orchestra.

The orchestra will play several numbers and the choral group will sing various Gershwin songs. The combined efforts of the two will present concluding number, "Porgy and Bess."

A silver offering will be taken. A rehearsal will be held this evening by both groups at 8 o'clock in the auditorium. Another rehearsal will be held next Monday.

Rehearsal To Be Held By Rebekah Assembly

Will Probated

The will of Clayton C. Lee, 80-year old Bowman's Addition resident, who died March 13, was admitted to probate last week in Orphan's Court.

Roy C. Lee, Wellersburg, Pa., a son, was named executor.

The estate, real, personal and mixed, was ordered divided into six equal shares. Five will go to his children, Roy C. Lee, Carrie E. Kiel, Alma M. Browning, Charles Lee and Ada B. Bailey, and the sixth will be shared by three grandchildren, Alice May Bridges, Pauline Bennett and Pearl Bennett.

Draft Boards Decrease Quotas

The number of men to be inducted into the armed services during April has been cut 50 per cent according to information received yesterday morning by P. Emmett Fahey, local selective service clerk.

Fahey was notified yesterday by telephone of the change in plans. He said he expected confirmation by letter today.

The order affects 15 men scheduled to be sent by Frostburg Draft Board No. 30, April 9 as well as Keyser, W. Va. Board No. 36 from which 13 men were to be inducted.

Board 30 will furnish eight men while 36 will send seven under the new order.

Selective service officials say the change in plans resulted from an unexpected increase in enlistments and because there are not enough junior officers available to train the large number of inductees scheduled to be drafted under previous plans.

10,530 Tax Returns Filed At Local Office

The Cumberland office of the Internal Revenue Bureau handled 10,530 income tax returns during the period from January 1 to March 15, the deadline for filing returns, according to Richard J. Stakem, division chief.

Stakem said that the bureau does not allow the publication of the amount of money involved. He pointed out that the number included many joint returns filed by husbands and wives. Most husbands and wives file jointly as under this method they usually fare better than if they file separately.

About 1,000 taxpayers visited the division offices on the third floor of the Post Office building each week during the filing period, Stakem said.

Edmund Hoey, city recreation director, will call figures. Frank Kaplon chairman of the committee is being assisted by Walter Maxey, Ernest Killingsworth, and Walter Bell. Tickets may be obtained from committee members or at the door.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

VIDB XMLB NA AQNUV, OEH URNBA QNVX AQORRMQ'A QNEPA—AXOGB-ALBOIB.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: SO WAS THE HUNTSMAN BY THE BEAR OPPRESSED, WHOSE HIDE HE SOLD—WALLER.

Cards of Thanks

We take this means of thanking our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during the illness and in our bereavement of our beloved mother, Mrs. Maggie E. Beane. We especially want to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, donated cars and Rev. Kenneth N. Hayes for his comforting words.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Rebecca Johnston who passed away 28 years ago March 27, 1923.
No one knows how much we miss you.
No one knows the bitter pain.
This world would seem like heaven
If we had you back again.
Sadly Missed by her
SONS & DAUGHTERS

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Bertha E. Stickley, who passed away eight years ago today, March 27, 1943.
Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them it's true,
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving remembrance of you.

Cards of Thanks

We take this means of thanking our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during the illness and in our bereavement of our beloved mother, Mrs. Maggie E. Beane. We especially want to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, donated cars and Rev. Kenneth N. Hayes for his comforting words.

THE CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Rebecca Johnston who passed away 28 years ago March 27, 1923.

No one knows how much we miss you.
No one knows the bitter pain.
This world would seem like heaven
If we had you back again.

Sadly Missed by her SONS & DAUGHTERS

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Bertha E. Stickley, who passed away eight years ago today, March 27, 1943.

Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them it's true,
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving remembrance of you.

Sadly missed by: THE CHILDREN

Leading Stocks Achieve Narrow Price Advances

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Leading stocks achieved narrow price advances in late trading today.

The market was well mixed through much of the session. Aircrafts and rail shares were ahead most of the day and when airlines and other selected favorites showed some demand, a timid upturn got under way.

Although most gains were measured in cents, a few ranged to as much as $2 a share.

The improvement was reflected in the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, which climbed .4 of a point to 93.1.

Total sales amounted to only 1,230,000 shares, slightly under the 1,290,000 recorded last Thursday in the preceding full session.

Among the leading aircraft shares, Boeing pushed ahead 2 ⅛ at 49 ⅝; Douglas 2 at 95, and Lockheed ¾ at 34 ¾. Indicative of their expansion programs was Boeing's disclosure that it planned to acquire more than $10,000,000 of new machinery and equipment.

Air and rail transport issues moved up. Trans World Airlines gained 1 ⅛ at 25 ¼, United Airlines ⅞ at 29 ⅛, Union Pacific 1 at 102, Southern Railway ¾ at 52 ¼, and New York Central, the second most active issue, ⅜ at 20 ⅜.

International Telephone was the market leader in activity, but finished the day unchanged at 16.

Rock. They have not yet been to Williamsburg in Virginia or to the Lincoln shrine in New Salem, Illinois.

When they are taken to those places, their imagination will roam among living things. Here at Independence Hall that feeling of the living is missing and children must have that if they are to understand the quality of a place.

No millions are too many to spend upon a complete restoration of this area, until an American child can see in his mind's eye the grand flourish of John Hancock's pen and the the aged Benjamin Franklin being assisted to his seat, and the philosophic Thomas Jefferson writing: "When in the course of human events. . ." and realize that it was to this place that George Washington rode to assume a leadership that is never to be forgotten.

Perhaps if we made much of our national shrines and brought our children to them, they would be more truly bound, in these queer and disconcerting days, to our great national traditions.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

LAW OFFICES OF CLARENCE SHUTTER, LAW BUILDING, CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND

Alexander F. Watkins, vs. Mamie R. Watkins, No. 22106 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce, divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states that the parties were married on December 25th 1948. That the defendant deserted the plaintiff on May 15 1949, without just cause or reason, and that said desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff has resided in Allegany County for more than one year next before the filing of this suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her present address and whereabouts unknown to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon this 9th day of March, 1951 by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 11th day of April, 1951 give notice to the non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this suit, warning her to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 28th day of April, 1951 to show cause if any she may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Matter Of Fact

French and British to want to hold a Big Four Conference at any cost has other reasons besides public opinion.

For the future, it is clear that the organizers of the defense of the West are impaled on the horns of an agonizing dilemma. One horn is the fact, acknowledged by every general staff in Europe with the French and British conspicuously in the lead, that a solid defense of Western Europe cannot possibly be built up without a fairly important contribution of Germany divisions. The other horn is the fact, which has already made so many difficulties, that natural national memories make the French people intensely, emotionally reluctant to see German armed forces recreated.

By their war of nerves offensive, the Soviets are now taking shrewd advantage of this dilemma. They too recognize that a solid Western defense is not possible without an eventual German contribution. And they therefore hope to scuttle Western defense plans by playing on the French national mood, causing the French leaders to say "we cannot risk a war over German divisions," just as they once said, "We cannot fight for Berlin." Already here in Germany, certain eminent Frenchmen are saying almost this.

The masters of the Kremlin, moreover, have already set the stage for the kind of plausible arrangement that will make appeasement easy at the Foreign Ministers Conference. The first year of training of their own Eastern German divisions, the so-called Bereitschaftpolizei, was not very successful. At the last moment, this January, the Soviet Kommandatura cancelled the order to call up 200,000 additional recruits, and re-commenced basic training of the 50 or 60 thousand men already under arms.

Hence the Kremlin can easily sacrifice this German force. In addition Vishinsky can also offer to reduce the Soviet divisions in East Germany to perhaps 20, asking in return guarantee that no West Germans will be rearmed, and that British, French and American divisions in Western Germany will also be limited. The Western defense effort will then be stopped dead in its tracks. Yet the Kremlin will still be able at any moment to draw on its vast reserves in the Soviet Union, rebuilding its East German armies at the rate of one or two divisions per day.

This arrangement is the sort of self-deluding folly that the Council of Foreign Ministers can all too easily lead to. And even if the Council of Foreign Ministers is surmounted without disaster, the offensive in the nerve war can be continued and intensified all summer, in the hope that somewh

Leading Stocks Achieve Narrow Price Advances

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Leading stocks achieved narrow price advances in late trading today.

The market was well mixed through much of the session. Aircrafts and rail shares were ahead most of the day and when airlines and other selected favorites showed some demand, a timid upturn got under way.

Although most gains were measured in cents, a few ranged to as much as $2 a share.

The improvement was reflected in the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, which climbed .4 of a point to 93.1.

Total sales amounted to only 1,230,000 shares, slightly under the 1,290,000 recorded last Thursday in the preceding full session.

Among the leading aircraft shares, Boeing pushed ahead 2 ⅛ at 49 ⅝; Douglas 2 at 95, and Lockheed ¾ at 34 ¾. Indicative of their expansion programs was Boeing's disclosure that it planned to acquire more than $10,000,000 of new machinery and equipment.

Air and rail transport issues moved up. Trans World Airlines gained 1 ⅛ at 25 ¾, United Airlines ⅞ at 29 ⅛, Union Pacific 1 at 102, Southern Railway ¾ at 52 ¼, and New York Central, the second most active issue, ⅜ at 20 ⅜.

International Telephone was the market leader in activity, but finished the day unchanged at 16.

Rock. They have not yet been to Williamsburg in Virginia or to the Lincoln shrine in New Salem, Illinois.

When they are taken to those places, their imagination will roam among living things. Here at Independence Hall that feeling of the living is missing and children must have that if they are to understand the quality of a place.

No millions are too many to spend upon a complete restoration of this area, until an American child can see in his mind's eye the grand flourish of John Hancock's pen and the the aged Benjamin Franklin being assisted to his seat, and the philosophic Thomas Jefferson writing: "When in the course of human events. . ." and realize that it was to this place that George Washington rode to to assume a leadership that is never to be forgotten.

Perhaps if we made much of our national shrines and brought our children to them, they would be more truly bound, in these queer and disconcerting days, to our great national traditions.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Alexander F. Watkins, vs. Mamie R. Watkins. No. 22106 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

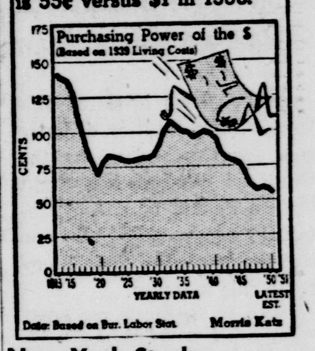

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce, divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states that the parties were married on December 25th 1948. That the defendant deserted the plaintiff on May 15 1949, without just cause or reason, and that said desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff has resided in Allegany County for more than one year next before the filing of this suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her present address and whereabouts unknown to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon this 9th day of March, 1951 by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 11th day of April, 1951 give notice to the non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this suit, warning her to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 28th day of April, 1951 to show cause if any she may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Matter Of Fact

French and British to want to hold a Big Four Conference at any cost has other reasons besides public opinion.

For the future, it is clear that the organizers of the defense of the West are impaled on the horns of an agonizing dilemma. One horn is the fact, acknowledged by every general staff in Europe with the French and British conspicuously in the lead, that a solid defense of Western Europe cannot possibly be built up without a fairly important contribution of Germany divisions. The other horn is the fact, which has already made so many difficulties, that natural national memories make the French people intensely, emotionally reluctant to see German armed forces recreated.

By their war of nerves offensive, the Soviets are now taking shrewd advantage of this dilemma. They too recognize that a solid Western defense is not possible without an eventual German contribution. And they therefore hope to scuttle Western defense plans by playing on the French national mood, causing the French leaders to say "we cannot risk a war over German divisions," just as they once said, "We cannot fight for Berlin." Already here in Germany, certain eminent Frenchmen are saying almost this.

The masters of the Kremlin, moreover, have already set the stage for the kind of plausible arrangement that will make appeasement easy at the Foreign Ministers Conference. The first year of training of their own Eastern German divisions, the so-called Bereitschaftpolizei, was not very successful. At the last moment, this January, the Soviet Kommandatura cancelled the order to call up 200,000 additional recruits, and re-commenced basic training of the 50 or 60 thousand men already under arms.

Hence the Kremlin can easily sacrifice this German force. In addition Vishinsky can also offer to reduce the Soviet divisions in East Germany to perhaps 20, asking in return guarantee that no West Germans will be rearmed, and that British, French and American divisions in Western Germany will also be limited. The Western defense effort will then be stopped dead in its tracks. Yet the Kremlin will still be able at any moment to draw on its vast reserves in the Soviet Union, rebuilding its East German armies at the rate of one or two divisions per day.

This arrangement is the sort of self-deluding folly that the Council of Foreign Ministers can all too easily lead

House Passes Statutory Home Rule Bill For Cumberland

Showdown Expected On Two Measures

A showdown is slated this week on the question of home rule for Cumberland as the result of passage, last night by the Senate of a constitutional home rule bill and House approval of a statutory home rule measure.

Passed by the Senate was SB385, which would amend the state constitution to provide for the election of a Cumberland charter board and the preparation of a city charter, subject to a referendum.

It would provide a type of limited constitutional home rule such as exists in Baltimore.

The bill was introduced by the Senate minority leaders early this month at the request of the Mayor and Council.

The delegation sponsored statutory home rule bill, HB 523, passed the House last night. It would allow the city, by referendum of its citizens, to amend its charter.

The delegation also introduced a constitutional home rule bill, now in the hands of the House Judiciary committee. The Delegation said it is not expected to be reported out of committee.

Fifteen Bills Passed

Fifteen local bills pertaining specifically to Allegany County and communities within the county were passed last night by the House of Delegates meeting in a long session at Annapolis.

Another local bill for Garrett County was passed by the House of Delegates and two other Garrett County measures were given favorable votes by the Senate last night.

The Allegany measures:—

HB64—by Allegany Delegation—striking out the provision that candidates for Mayor or City Councilman of Cumberland may be nominated by petition; specifying that all candidates for Mayor and Councilman must have been residents of Cumberland for at least five years.

Lonaconing Bills

HB149—by Cook—increasing the pay of the Mayor of Lonaconing from $100 to $200 annually, and raising the compensation of Councilman from $2 for each council meeting attended to $5.

HB163—by Allegany Delegation—to specify that the Allegany County Commissioners may let contracts for purchase of supplies and materials without competitive bid if total contract does not exceed $3,500 (amended).

HB162—by Cook—allowing the Allegany County Circuit Court Clerk to spend $2,000 annually for the preparation of county land records.

HB207—by Allegany Delegation—to set up a special Cresaptown Tax Levy Area for payment of street lighting (amended).

Another Deputy

HB220—by Reed, See, Kelly, Driscoll, Cook—to increase the number of Allegany County Deputy Sheriffs from four to five and to increase their annual salaries from $2,400 to $3,000 (emergency amendment).

HB352—by Whitworth—increasing the maximum tax rate of the town of Luke from 50 cents to 75 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

HB396—by Allegany Delegation—authorizing the Mayor and Councilmen of Frostburg to borrow up to $100,000 for town improvements.

HB407—by Whitworth—specifying that the Town of Westernport shall be liable for damage suits for injury only if notice in writing is given to the Mayor and Council within 30 days after injury is suffered.

May Borrow

HB447—by Allegany Delegation—authorizing Cumberland to borrow or accept as an advance $56,000 from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency for the preparation of plans for a sewage disposal and treatment system.

HB472—by Allegany Delegation—to change the date from which the Mayor and City Councilmen of Cumberland shall hold office from the first Monday in April to the first Monday in July next succeeding their election (amended).

HB473—by Allegany Delegation—setting up a system of continuous registration for municipal elections in the City of Cumberland.

HB523—by Allegany Delegation—authorizing the City of Cumberland by public referendum to amend its charter.

HB527—by Allegany Delegation—to authorize the Mayor and Council of Cumberland to acquire property for a municipal parking lot (amended).

HB256—by Driscoll—to set a minimum pay for judges and clerks of election in Allegany County at $1 per hour.

Garrett Bills

The Garrett County measure approved was HB63?, by the Garrett Delegation, to allow persons aged 70 or over to fish in non-tidal waters without a permit.

Both proposals passed by the Senate were bills introduced by Senator Fraley. They are SB115 to set up an occupation tax of seven per cent of the market value on natural gas taken from the earth or waters of Garrett County, as amended, and SB265 to repeal requirement of a flagman at a railroad crossing in Oakland.

Brant, a former commander of Knobley Mountain Post, American Legion, said that a number of men in Ridgeley eligible for VFW membership have been discussing the formation of a new post there for some time.

An invitation has been extended to all interested overseas veterans of either World War I or World War II to attend the organizational meeting Friday night.

Rubber Local Asks Truman To Aid City

Urges Action To Help Area Employment

In an effort to bolster the economic situation in Cumberland and Allegany County, the United Rubber Workers Local No. 26, has written several letters to President Harry S. Truman and Economic Stabilizer John R. Steelman urging immediate action to alleviate the stress of the local community.

Ralph C. Beard, vice president of URCLPWA-CIO said yesterday he had received a reply from Senator Herbert R. O'Conor relative to the letters sent to Steelman and the president, copies of which were also mailed to Senator O'Conor and Senator John Marshall Butler.

Outlines Conditions

Beard outlined the economic situation in Cumberland and the surrounding area in the letters, stating the lack of material had caused furloughs in two major industries, the Celanese plant and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, and the local area was classified as an "emergency" area.

A second letter to Steelman from the United Rubber Workers reported that, despite efforts to obtain materials and help the situation here, conditions had become worse with a 10 per cent furlough at the Kelly due to lack of material.

O'Conor, in his reply to Beard, noted that House Joint Resolution No. 5, requesting the Office of Defense Mobilization to establish defense industries in the city of Cumberland and Allegany County had been reprinted in the Congressional Record of March 21, 1951.

Labor, Housing Available

O'Conor pointed out that an area which has the labor and housing available when so many other areas lack those two essentials should be given preference when plans are made for new industrial facilities.

The joint resolution which previously had been inserted in the Congressional Record after being referred to the Committee on Banking and Currency noted that Cumberland offered splendid possibilities for the establishment of defense and military industries with available manpower, raw matefials and being a railroad center.

Copies of the resolution were sent to the President, to Charles E. Wilson, director of Office of Defense Mobilization, and to each member of Maryland delegation in Congress of United States.

Beard said last night he had hopes more direct action would bring about the desired results in getting Cumberland over the "hump" and out of the emergency status.

WEATHER

Spring was still trying to break through yesterday but a keen wind made the day anything but seasonal. Constitution Park weather station reported the highest temperature for the day was 43 while a chilly 21 was low for the 24 hour period. Mercury stood at 32 last night at 9 o'clock. The weatherman's prediction for today is for milder with rain expected in this area late tonight. Highest temperatures are expected to be in the 50's.

University Mixed Chorus To Give Concert April 4

The University of Maryland's men's glee club and women's chorus will present a concert at Allegany High School Wednesday, April 4, at 8 p. m., Miss Mary Murray, member of sponsoring committee, announced last night.

The choral group then will participate in a "Mixer" following the concert in the school gymnasium. This will be a combination dance and get-together by members of the visiting group and university alumni.

This will be the first visit of the choral group to Cumberland since 1941. The university singers are under the direction of Dr. Harlan Randall and will visit Hagerstown and Frostburg in addition to Cumberland on their tour through Western Maryland. The singers will appear at Beall High School, Frostburg, in the afternoon of April 4, and at Allegany that evening, Miss Murray said.

The public is invited to both concerts and a silver offering will be taken to help defray the costs of the 70-member ensemble.

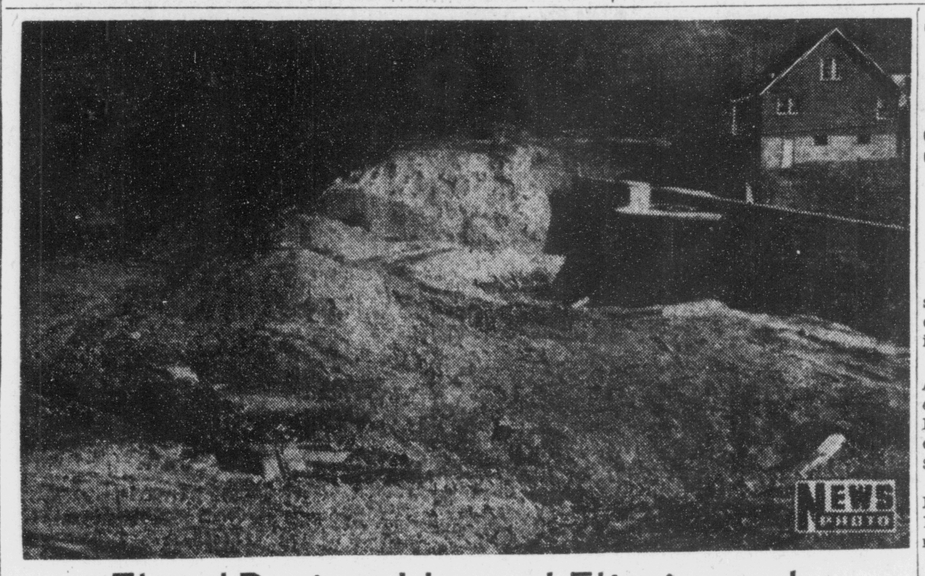

The combined choruses are sponsored by University of Maryland alumni groups. Members of the committee in charge of arrangements include John M. Robb, chairman; Dr. J. Russell Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Reford Aldridge, Miss Helen McFerran, Miss Ann Tennant; James McHenry and Miss Murray.

Music for dancing will be furnished by an instrumentalist group from the univesity.

Red Cross Exceeds County Quota

Division chairmen applaud as General Chairman William C. Walsh announces the final total of contributions for the 1951 Red Cross campaign in Allegany County at the last report meeting of the group yesterday evening at Central YMCA. Final reports revealed the county had exceeded its quota of $26,796 by $3,896 in raising $30,692.68 with many of the division chairmen filing incomplete reports at the dinner-meeting. Shown at the speakers' table are Henry Mackey, co-chairman of Advanced Gifts section; Mrs. Charles Helmrich, co-chairman of Women's division; Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter; Chairman Walsh; Mrs. Harry Beneman; Mrs. Holmes Cessna, co-chairman of Women's section; and William Lewis, chairman of the county group.

Flood Project Hazard Eliminated

The above scene shows the elimination of the flood control hazard near Furnace Street where Ronald Keith Knippenberg was a victim of drowning last Tuesday evening. The culvert where the pool had formed can be seen above the NEWS sticker. The hole has been drained and leveled over by workers. Excess water now drains from the area into Dry Run which empties into the Valley Street pressure conduit. A section of the Valley Street coffer dam, a phase of the city flood project can be seen at the right.

Kimble Asked To Oppose City Salary Boost

Said To Be Example Of Pressure Politics

The city last night voted to ask Senator Robert B. Kimble to oppose a Delegation sponsored bill providing flat $12 a month wage boosts for Cumberland police and firemen.

The action was passed four to one, with Mayor Thomas S. Post dissenting.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, recommended that the Council ask the Senate minority leader to oppose the increase for police and firemen.

She pointed out that the Delegation refused to grant the city the special taxing powers it requested and only provided a five cent increase in the tax rate—and that it is a serious question whether real estate should be further burdened.

The bill as passed, she added, discriminates against other city employes and is a typical example of "pressure politics."

Following a fairly lengthy pause, during which the issue stood in doubt for lack of a second, Commissioner William H. Buchholtz seconded the motion.

Commissioner John J. Long pointed out that the departments went to Annapolis without presenting the bill to the Council for approval.

Mrs. Roeder added that the city might have at least been notified of the action.

Saying he has never opposed an increase for any department, Mayor Post commented that he believes the police and firemen need more money to meet rising living costs . . . and that all other departments would like an increase.

Mayor Post added he wants all workers not covered by the boost included, with the cost covered by proper taxation.

Pointing out that the police and fire budget was stretched to cover last December's cost of living increase of $13 a month, Commissioner Long said he was interested in knowing where the money was to come from.

Calvin Shipes, an official of Local 812, Municipal Workers Union (AFL), said that union went on record as supporting the boost for police and firemen and did not sign a petition asking for a boost for its members.

Engineer Gives City Report On Flood Project Drowning

Recommendations resulting from his investigation of the drowning of Ronald Keith Knippenberg, in a flood control project pool above the Furnace and Valley Streets coffer dam, are contained in a report by Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer on the project.

Paye suggests a program of "safety" education in the public schools, through newspapers, and by labor unions, the contractor, policemen, engineers and workmen on the job.

The engineer also recommends that barriers be erected around water and other hazards created by the project, that the project be posted, and children who refuse to obey warnings of the signs, workmen, policemen etc., be taken to police headquarters and released only in the custody of their parents.

Payes report, as submitted to Mayor Thomas S. Post last night, follows:

Several years ago the City of Cumberland entered into an agreement with the U. S. Government which gave the Government authority to construct Flood Protection facilities in Cumberland and Ridgeley along and adjacent to the Potomac River and Wills Creek according to plans prepared by the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

According to the agreement, all of the construction is to be done by contractors selected by the Corps of Engineers on the basis of competitive bids. The work is also to be done according to detailed plans and specifications prepared by the Corps of Engineers and under their supervision, direction and inspection. The work is also paid for by the government.

The City is obligated under the agreement to acquire and pay for the property and rights-of-way necessary to the construction and to reimburse the government for whatever expense it incurs for the removal, relocation, construction and reconstruction of gas lines, water lines, power and telephone facilities, and sewers. All of these items are done by the contractor for the Corps of Engineers or the owners of the utilities involved.

The Corps of Engineers direct and supervise the operations of their contractor and are the only persons who have any authority over his operations.

The specifications governing the contractors operations have complete safety requirements and the Corps of Engineers maintain safety supervisors who make periodic inspections, with respect to safety requirements, of the contractors plant, equipment and operations and take the appropriate action under the specifications where infractions are noted. Also the contractor is required by the specifications to maintain adequate public liability and property damage insurance. The insurance carriers also make periodic inspections through their safety engineers.

The City of Cumberland has no jurisdiction over the operations of the Contractor.

Upon completion of the construction of the project, the facilities are turned over to the City for maintenance and operation.

The fatal accident of Tuesday, March 20th occurred beyond the end of Furnace Street on the County Home property in the field at a point approximately seventy-five feet from the road to the County Home.

Ronald Knippenberg drowned in a pool of water approximately four feet deep, fifteen feet wide and twenty feet long which had accumulated at the outlet end of a four-foot square culvert which had been constructed under the project plans to carry the drainage from an existing culvert under the County Home road to a point above the new detention dam, so that the drainage could be diverted into the stream which is to be carried to Wills Creek through the Valley Street Pressure Conduit.

A thorough investigation of the circumstances is being made by the

Police To Check Dope Traffic

PIKESVILLE, Md., March 26 (AP) —Maryland state police troopers today were directed to work closely with county authorities in an effort to stamp out dope traffic.

Major W. H. Weber, field force commander, sent out a teletype message from state headquarters here ordering troop commanders to call on county officers and "integrate methods toward handling enforcement against narcotics."

He said the purpose is to "insure that we are not working at cross purposes."

All troopers were directed to report to their commanders any knowledge they have of illicit traffic in narcotics.

Two Garbage Removal Bids Submitted

Riley, Dougherty Seek City Contract

Bids of $65,940 and $67,445 were submitted to the Mayor and Council last night for garbage removal in this city next year.

They were submitted by Emmett A. Dougherty, present holder of the contract, who asked $67,445, and J. Riley and Son, 507 Louisiana Avenue, who submitted a low bid of $65,940.

The bids were referred to the Department of Streets and Public Property and the Health Department.

The contract calling for the removal of garbage, ashes, rubbish, paper and small dead animals, will run from May 1, 1951, to April 30, 1952.

Dougherty, who cited an operating loss this year on the garbage removal contract, upped his last year's bid by $5,000.

He cited that his equipment included six metal covered trucks, two open steel trucks and a small station wagon for removing dead animals.

Riley said he has five two-ton trucks which would make collections possible between the hours of 11 p. m. to 7 a. m.

City Is Taking Steps To End Flood Hazards

Action Urged By Columbia St. PTA

The Mayor and Council announced last night that all efforts are being made to eliminate hazards in connection with the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

The announcement was made by Mayor Thomas S. Post following the reading of a letter from the Columbia Street Parent-Teacher Association.

The letter, signed by Mrs. Rhea Gibbs, president, said that in view of the recent drowning of one of the school's students on the flood control project and the burning of another at an unguarded asphalt barrel, it was resolved, that the Mayor and Council be contacted and urged to insist that the contractor exercise greater precautions to protect the children of the city.

It added that as parents, the group felt that whatever measures can be taken to protect the safety of other children should be taken.

Another sidelight of the tragedy which resulted in the death of Ronald Keith Knippenberg last week was the query of Paul Detrick, who asked Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long if all members of the police department knew what to do in cases of drowning, suggesting that all members should receive lessons in first aid.

Chief of Police R. E. Flynn said that with the exception of a few probationers, all members have had first aid training courses.

Commissioner Long added that he will check the First Aid records of all members of the department and will recommend that those who do not have Red Cross certificates complete such training with refresher courses for those whose certificates have expired.

Detrick also asked an investigation of the Valley Street bridge, which he termed a "death trap."

Resident Given Injury Damages

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 26 (AP) — A circuit court jury today awarded Mrs. Katherine Deffenbaugh of Cumberland $5,000 damages for injuries she said she received in a fall at Peoples Bank in Cumberland.

Mrs. Deffenbaugh said she was making a deposit when she fell on the newly waxed floor of the bank. She said the rubber mats usually on the floor were not in place. She claimed permanent injuries.

The jury was out 15 minutes. The judgment was against the Liberty Trust Co., which since took over the Peoples Bank.

Attorneys for the woman were Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., Cumberland and Leo H. Miller, Hagerstown. The defendants were represented by former Judge Walter C. Capper and Thomas N. Berry of Cumberland and David W. Byron, Hagerstown.

Red Cross Campaign Goes Over Goal; $30,692 Raised

Exceeds County Quota Of $26,796 By $3,896 As Classified Division Spearheads The Drive

The annual Allegany County Red Cross drive exceeded its quota of $26,796 this year by $3,896 reports at the final dinner meeting at Central YMCA last night revealed.

Reaching a total of $30,692.78 on the basis of all final reports, many of which were still incomplete, the 1951 drive ended on a note of triumph and workers and contributors were heartily thanked by William C. Walsh, general chairman of the campaign.

Two of the divisions far exceeded their quotas in spearheading the local campaign with the outstanding contributions coming from the Classified section, headed by Daniel Dopko and Woodward Pealer.

Dopko, in his final report to the committee, announced the Classified section had raised $7,686.40 and expected to reach approximately $9,000 when final returns were in. This overshot their goal of $6,000 by $1,686.40.

Also collecting more than their requirements was the County contingent, headed by William Lewis of Frostburg, who reported $5,487.03 raised and a quota of $4,000.

Failing in their efforts to reach allotted quotas were the Advanced Gifts division ,headed by George Buchanan and Henry Mackey; Clubs and Organizations, headed by Thomas F. Conlon; National Firms, Joseph M. Love; and Women's section, Mrs. Charles Helmrich and Mrs. Holmes Cessna.

Breakdown Is Made

A breakdown of the final reports revealed the Advanced Gifts raised $7,881.50 cash and had $1,420 pledged for a total of $9,301.50. Their quota was $11,000.

Clubs and Organizations reported $313 collected with a quota of $1,000; National firms $977.90 raised and $250 pledged with a quota of $1,000; Women's division $6,776.95 of a $7,000 quota.

In going over the county quota, Lewis praised the work of the Frostburg section, headed by Mrs. N. F. Stallings, which contributed $2,550.82, far more than the town's $1,500 quota. Only the Ridgeley section with $25 less than the needed $325, Midland with $100 and a quota of $200, and Westernport with $780 raised and a quota of $800 failed to reach their goals in the county campaign.

Walsh highly praised the efforts of the committee leaders and workers in a final summary of the reports, thanking each group individually and singling out Dopko and Pealer for special praise in their fine work in the Classified division. "They have assured themselves jobs in every future Red Cross drive to come," Walsh said of the pair.

County Is Thanked

The general chairman then thanked the people of Allegany County for their generous response to the campaign, saying:

"It is especially gratifying that Allegany County despite its unemployment situation was able to comply with the request of the National Red Cross campaign chairman and exceeded its quota because of increased demands being made on Red Cross in connection with the Korean war and the defense effort. The original goal of $26,796 has already been exceeded by almost $4,000 and while this is the final campaign meeting we know that this excess will be materially increased by additional contributions which we have been assured will be made."

Parkway Survey Board Asked By Hagerstown

Ask Governor To Name Group

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 26 (AP)—The Hagerstown Chamber of Commerce today asked Governor McKeldin to appoint a commission of Western Marylanders to make an extensive survey of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal parkway project and to report its findings.

The decision was made after an open hearing. Appearing before the chamber were Rep. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.), representatives of U. S. Department of the Interior and Hagerstown's Mayor Herman L. Mills.

The project calls for building a parkway from Washington to Cumberland along the old C & O canal bed. The distance is about 185 miles.

The chamber has opposed the proposal because of its estimated cost. Washington County sportsmen's groups have held it would destroy natural game and wild life preserves along the route. Mayor Mills, a Republican, said the government should think of saving instead of spending more money.

Allegany county groups, however, have voiced full approval of the parkway and are interested in seeing it realized.

The federal government purchased about 5,000 acres of land along the site for $2,000,000 in 1938. Since then it has conducted engineering studies and has undertaken some preparatory grading.

Harry Thompson, representing the Department of the Interior in Washington, estimated the parkway could be built for about $100,000 a mile.

Ordinarily, he said it would cost 10 times that much. But the preparatory work, amounting to about $500,000, would greatly reduce the cost.

Other speakers at the hearing were Conrad L. Worth, assistant director of the National Park Service, and H. J. Steelman, division engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads.

Worth cited other parkway projects that have been built in various sections of the country and said results have been successful. Steelman said the proposed C. and O. parkway project from Cumberland to Washington would create another outlet to the nation's capital, and the natural location of the proposed highway is ideal for the purpose.

Beall will meet Tuesday in Frederick with a sportsmen's group on the proposed parkway. A meeting to be held in Cumberland is also under consideration at a date to be set.

Delegates Asked To Reconsider Sewage Bill

City Desires To Get Enabling Legislation

The Mayor and Council last night called upon the Allegany County Delegation to reconsider its unfavorable report on a bill providing sewage disposal facilities for this city.

Upon recommendation of Mrs. Lucile Roeder, the city officials will notify the Delegation of its desire to secure the enabling legislation.

She pointed out it is advisable that the legislation be passed so that the city will have the authority to proceed on the work when materials become available.

Commissioner George H. Tedrick said the Mayor and Council should have power to carry through with the action which has been ordered by the state.

The Delegation, in issuing an unfavorable report on House Bill 218, which would have enabled the city to issue revenue bonds of up to $1,500,000 to establish a sewage disposal and treatment plant here, said the city could not, because of shortage of materials due to defense efforts, begin the work within the next two years.

They added that they would be glad to reconsider the bill at the next general session.

House Passes Statutory Home Rule Bill For Cumberland

Showdown Expected On Two Measures

A showdown is slated this week on the question of home rule for Cumberland as the result of passage, last night by the Senate of a constitutional home rule bill and House approval of a statutory home rule measure.

Passed by the Senate was SB385, which would amend the state constitution to provide for the election of a Cumberland charter board and the preparation of a city charter, subject to a referendum.

It would provide a type of limited constitutional home rule such as exists in Baltimore.

The bill was introduced by the Senate minority leaders early this month at the request of the Mayor and Council.

The delegation sponsored statutory home rule bill, HB 523, passed the House last night. It would allow the city, by referendum of its citizens, to amend its charter.

The delegation also introduced a constitutional home rule bill, now in the hands of the House Judiciary committee. The Delegation said it is not expected to be reported out of committee.

Fifteen Bills Passed

Fifteen local bills pertaining specifically to Allegany County and communities within the county were passed last night by the House of Delegates meeting in a long session at Annapolis.

Another local bill for Garrett County was passed by the House of Delegates and two other Garrett County measures were given favorable votes by the Senate last night.

The Allegany measures:—

HB396—by Allegany Delegation—authorizing the Mayor and Councilmen of Frostburg to borrow up to $100,000 for town improvements.

HB407—by Whitworth—specifying that the Town of Westernport shall be liable for damage suits for injury only if notice in writing is given to the Mayor and Council within 30 days after injury is suffered.

May Borrow

HB447—by Allegany Delegation—authorizing Cumberland to borrow or accept as an advance $56,000 from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency for the preparation of plans for a sewage disposal and treatment system.

HB472—by Allegany Delegation—to change the date from which the Mayor and City Councilmen of Cumberland shall hold office from the first Monday in April to the first Monday in July next succeeding their election (amended).

Garrett Bills

The Garrett County measure approved was HB63?, by the Garrett Delegation, to allow persons aged 70 or over to fish in non-tidal waters without a permit.

Both proposals passed by the Senate were bills introduced by Senator Fraley. They are SB115 to set up an occupation tax of seven per cent of the market value on natural gas taken from the earth or waters of Garrett County, as amended, and SB265 to repeal requirement of a flagman at a railroad crossing in Oakland.

An invitation has been extended to all interested overseas veterans of either World War I or World War II to attend the organizational meeting Friday night.

Rubber Local Asks Truman To Aid City

Urges Action To Help Area Employment

In an effort to bolster the economic situation in Cumberland and Allegany County, the United Rubber Workers Local No. 26, has written several letters to President Harry S. Truman and Economic Stabilizer John R. Steelman urging immediate action to alleviate the stress of the local community.

Ralph C. Beard, vice president of URCLPWA-CIO said yesterday he had received a reply from Senator Herbert R. O'Conor relative to the letters sent to Steelman and the president, copies of which were also mailed to Senator O'Conor and Senator John Marshall Butler.

Outlines Conditions

Beard outlined the economic situation in Cumberland and the surrounding area in the letters, stating the lack of material had caused furloughs in two major industries, the Celanese plant and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, and the local area was classified as an "emergency" area.

A second letter to Steelman from the United Rubber Workers reported that, despite efforts to obtain materials and help the situation here, conditions had become worse with a 10 per cent furlough at the Kelly due to lack of material.

O'Conor, in his reply to Beard, noted that House Joint Resolution No. 5, requesting the Office of Defense Mobilization to establish defense industries in the city of Cumberland and Allegany County had been reprinted in the Congressional Record of March 21, 1951.

Labor, Housing Available

O'Conor pointed out that an area which has the labor and housing available when so many other areas lack those two essentials should be given preference when plans are made for new industrial facilities.

The joint resolution which previously had been inserted in the Congressional Record after being referred to the Committee on Banking and Currency noted that Cumberland offered splendid possibilities for the establishment of defense and military industries with available manpower, raw materials and being a railroad center.

Copies of the resolution were sent to the President, to Charles E. Wilson, director of Office of Defense Mobilization, and to each member of Maryland delegation in Congress of United States.

Beard said last night he had hopes more direct action would bring about the desired results in getting Cumberland over the "hump" and out of the emergency status.

WEATHER

Spring was still trying to break through yesterday but a keen wind made the day anything but seasonal. Constitution Park weather station reported the highest temperature for the day was 43 while a chilly 21 was low for the 24 hour period. Mercury stood at 32 last night at 9 o'clock. The weatherman's prediction for today is for milder with rain expected in this area late tonight. Highest temperatures are expected to be in the 50's.

University Mixed Chorus To Give Concert April 4

The University of Maryland's men's glee club and women's chorus will present a concert at Allegany High School Wednesday, April 4, at 8 p. m., Miss Mary Murray, member of sponsoring committee, announced last night.

The choral group then will participate in a "Mixer" following the concert in the school gymnasium. This will be a combination dance and get-together by members of the visiting group and university alumni.

This will be the first visit of the choral group to Cumberland since 1941. The university singers are under the direction of Dr. Harlan Randall and will visit Hagerstown and Frostburg in addition to Cumberland on their tour through Western Maryland. The singers will appear at Beall High School, Frostburg, in the afternoon of April 4, and at Allegany that evening, Miss Murray said.

The public is invited to both concerts and a silver offering will be taken to help defray the costs of the 70-member ensemble.

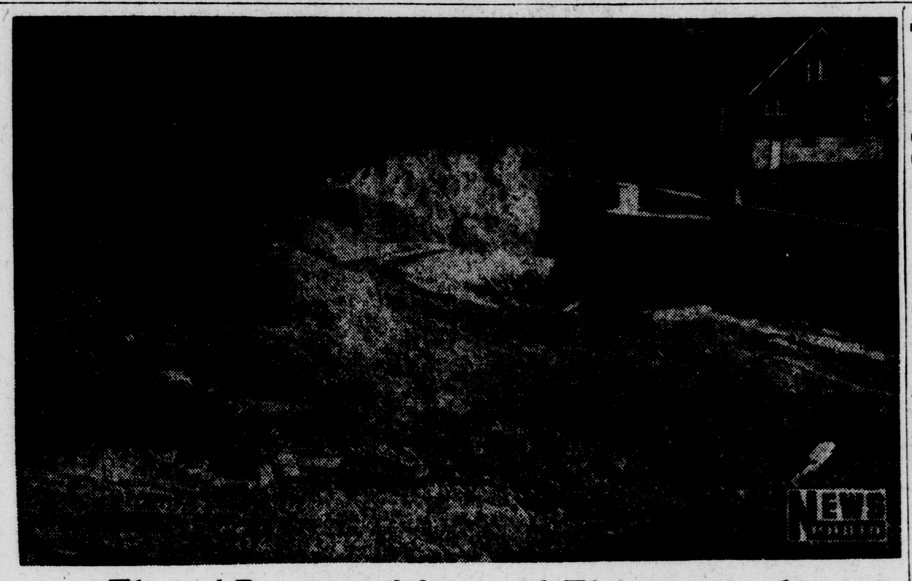

The combined choruses are sponsored by University of Maryland alumni groups. Members of the committee in charge of arrangements include John M. Robb, chairman; Dr. J. Russell Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Reford Aldridge, Miss Helen McFerran, Miss Ann Tennant; James McHenry and Miss Murray.

Music for dancing will be furnished by an instrumentalist group from the univesity.

Red Cross Exceeds County Quota

Division chairmen applaud as General Chairman William C. Walsh announces the final total of contributions for the 1951 Red Cross campaign in Allegany County at the last report meeting of the group yesterday evening at Central YMCA. Final reports revealed the county had exceeded its quota of $26,796 by $3,896 in raising $30,692.68 with many of the division chairmen filing incomplete reports at the dinner-meeting. Shown at the speakers' table are Henry Mackey, co-chairman of Advanced Gifts section; Mrs. Charles Helmrich, co-chairman of Women's division; Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter; Chairman Walsh; Mrs. Harry Beneman; Mrs. Holmes Cessna, co-chairman of Women's section; and William Lewis, chairman of the county group.

Flood Project Hazard Eliminated

The above scene shows the elimination of the flood control hazard near Furnace Street where Ronald Keith Knippenberg was a victim of drowning last Tuesday evening. The culvert where the pool had formed can be seen above the NEWS sticker. The hole has been drained and leveled over by workers. Excess water now drains from the area into Dry Run which empties into the Valley Street pressure conduit. A section of the Valley Street coffer dam, a phase of the city flood project can be seen at the right.

Kimble Asked To Oppose City Salary Boost

Said To Be Example Of Pressure Politics

The city last night voted to ask Senator Robert B. Kimble to oppose a Delegation sponsored bill providing flat $12 a month wage boosts for Cumberland police and firemen.

The action was passed four to one, with Mayor Thomas S. Post dissenting.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, recommended that the Council ask the Senate minority leader to oppose the increase for police and firemen.

She pointed out that the Delegation refused to grant the city the special taxing powers it requested and only provided a five cent increase in the tax rate—and that it is a serious question whether real estate should be further burdened.

The bill as passed, she added, discriminates against other city employes and is a typical example of "pressure politics."

Following a fairly lengthy pause, during which the issue stood in doubt for lack of a second, Commissioner William H. Buchholtz seconded the motion.

Commissioner John J. Long pointed out that the departments went to Annapolis without presenting the bill to the Council for approval.

Mrs. Roeder added that the city might have at least been notified of the action.

Saying he has never opposed an increase for any department, Mayor Post commented that he believes the police and firemen need more money to meet rising living costs . . . and that all other departments would like an increase.

Mayor Post added he wants all workers not covered by the boost included, with the cost covered by proper taxation.

Pointing out that the police and fire budget was stretched to cover last December's cost of living increase of $13 a month, Commissioner Long said he was interested in knowing where the money was to come from.

Calvin Shipes, an official of Local 812, Municipal Workers Union (AFL), said that union went on record as supporting the boost for police and firemen and did not sign a petition asking for a boost for its members.

Engineer Gives City Report On Flood Project Drowning

Recommendations resulting from his investigation of the drowning of Ronald Keith Knippenberg, in a flood control project pool above the Furnace and Valley Streets coffer dam, are contained in a report by Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer on the project.

Paye suggests a program of "safety" education in the public schools, through newspapers, and by labor unions, the contractor, policemen, engineers and workmen on the job.

The engineer also recommends that barriers be erected around water and other hazards created by the project, that the project be posted, and children who refuse to obey warnings of the signs, workmen, policemen etc., be taken to police headquarters and released only in the custody of their parents.

Payes report, as submitted to Mayor Thomas S. Post last night, follows:

Several years ago the City of Cumberland entered into an agreement with the U. S. Government which gave the Government authority to construct Flood Protection facilities in Cumberland and Ridgeley along and adjacent to the Potomac River and Wills Creek according to plans prepared by the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

According to the agreement, all of the construction is to be done by contractors selected by the Corps of Engineers on the basis of competitive bids. The work is also to be done according to detailed plans and specifications prepared by the Corps of Engineers and under their supervision, direction and inspection. The work is also paid for by the government.

The City is obligated under the agreement to acquire and pay for the property and rights-of-way necessary to the construction and to reimburse the government for whatever expense it incurs for the removal, relocation, construction and reconstruction of gas lines, water lines, power and telephone facilities, and sewers. All of these items are done by the contractor for the Corps of Engineers or the owners of the utilities involved.

The Corps of Engineers direct and supervise the operations of their contractor and are the only persons who have any authority over his operations.

The specifications governing the contractors operations have complete safety requirements and the Corps of Engineers maintain safety supervisors who make periodic inspections, with respect to safety requirements, of the contractors plant, equipment and operations and take the appropriate action under the specifications where infractions are noted. Also the contractor is required by the specifications to maintain adequate public liability and property damage insurance. The insurance carriers also make periodic inspections through their safety engineers.

The City of Cumberland has no jurisdiction over the operations of the Contractor.

Upon completion of the construction of the project, the facilities are turned over to the City for maintenance and operation.

The fatal accident of Tuesday, March 20th occurred beyond the end of Furnace Street on the County Home property in the field at a point approximately seventy-five feet from the road to the County Home.

Ronald Knippenberg drowned in a pool of water approximately four feet deep, fifteen feet wide and twenty feet long which had accumulated at the outlet end of a four-foot square culvert which had been constructed under the project plans to carry the drainage from an existing culvert under the County Home road to a point above the new detention dam, so that the drainage could be diverted into the stream which is to be carried to Wills Creek through the Valley Street Pressure Conduit.

A thorough investigation of the circumstances is being made by the

Morrissey Made City Fireman

John N. Morrissey was confirmed as a member of the Cumberland Fire Department by action of the Mayor and Council last night.

Morrissey, who lives at 208 Beall Street, has been serving at West Side Company.

Routine action of the Council included:

Payrolls for the second half of March were approved and ordered paid on April 2.

Water consumption in greater Cumberland totaled 12,771,000 gallons a day last week as compared to 12,144,000 in 1950. The water level at Lake Gordon was three inches above the crest and at Lake Koon, two inches above the spillway.

Police To Check Dope Traffic

PIKESVILLE, Md., March 26 (AP)—Maryland state police troopers today were directed to work closely with county authorities in an effort to stamp out dope traffic.

Major W. H. Weber, field force commander, sent out a teletype message from state headquarters here ordering troop commanders to call on county officers and "integrate methods toward handling enforcement against narcotics."

He said the purpose is to "insure that we are not working at cross purposes."

All troopers were directed to report to their commanders any knowledge they have of illicit traffic in narcotics.

Two Garbage Removal Bids Submitted

Riley, Dougherty Seek City Contract

Bids of $65,940 and $67,445 were submitted to the Mayor and Council last night for garbage removal in this city next year.

They were submitted by Emmett A. Dougherty, present holder of the contract, who asked $67,445, and J. Riley and Son, 507 Louisiana Avenue, who submitted a low bid of $65,940.

The bids were referred to the Department of Streets and Public Property and the Health Department.

The contract calling for the removal of garbage, ashes, rubbish, paper and small dead animals, will run from May 1, 1951, to April 30, 1952.

Dougherty, who cited an operating loss this year on the garbage removal contract, upped his last year's bid by $5,000.

He cited that his equipment included six metal covered trucks, two open steel trucks and a small station wagon for removing dead animals.

Riley said he has five two-ton trucks which would make collections possible between the hours of 11 p. m. to 7 a. m.

City Is Taking Steps To End Flood Hazards

Action Urged By Columbia St. PTA

The Mayor and Council announced last night that all efforts are being made to eliminate hazards in connection with the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

The announcement was made by Mayor Thomas S. Post following the reading of a letter from the Columbia Street Parent-Teacher Association.

The letter, signed by Mrs. Rhea Gibbs, president, said that in view of the recent drowning of one of the school's students on the flood control project and the burning of another at an unguarded asphalt barrel, it was resolved, that the Mayor and Council be contacted and urged to insist that the contractor exercise greater precautions to protect the children of the city.

It added that as parents, the group felt that whatever measures can be taken to protect the safety of other children should be taken.

Another sidelight of the tragedy which resulted in the death of Ronald Keith Knippenberg last week was the query of Paul Detrick, who asked Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long if all members of the police department knew what to do in cases of drowning, suggesting that all members should receive lessons in first aid.

Chief of Police R. E. Flynn said that with the exception of a few probationers, all members have had first aid training courses.

Commissioner Long added that he will check the First Aid records of all members of the department and will recommend that those who do not have Red Cross certificates complete such training with refresher courses for those whose certificates have expired.

Detrick also asked an investigation of the Valley Street bridge, which he termed a "death trap."

Resident Given Injury Damages

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 26 (AP) — A circuit court jury today awarded Mrs. Katherine Deffenbaugh of Cumberland $5,000 damages for injuries she said she received in a fall at Peoples Bank in Cumberland.

Mrs. Deffenbaugh said she was making a deposit when she fell on the newly waxed floor of the bank. She said the rubber mats usually on the floor were not in place. She claimed permanent injuries.

The jury was out 15 minutes. The judgment was against the Liberty Trust Co., which since took over the Peoples Bank.

Attorneys for the woman were Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., Cumberland and Leo H. Miller, Hagerstown. The defendants were represented by former Judge Walter C. Capper and Thomas N. Berry of Cumberland and David W. Byron, Hagerstown.

Red Cross Campaign Goes Over Goal; $30,692 Raised

Exceeds County Quota Of $26,796 By $3,896 As Classified Division Spearheads The Drive

The annual Allegany County Red Cross drive exceeded its quota of $26,796 this year by $3,896 reports at the final dinner meeting at Central YMCA last night revealed.

Reaching a total of $30,692.78 on the basis of all final reports, many of which were still incomplete, the 1951 drive ended on a note of triumph and workers and contributors were heartily thanked by William C. Walsh, general chairman of the campaign.

Two of the divisions far exceeded their quotas in spearheading the local campaign with the outstanding contributions coming from the Classified section, headed by Daniel Dopko and Woodward Pealer.

Dopko, in his final report to the committee, announced the Classified section had raised $7,686.40 and expected to reach approximately $9,000 when final returns were in. This overshot their goal of $6,000 by $1,686.40.

Also collecting more than their requirements was the County contingent, headed by William Lewis of Frostburg, who reported $5,487.03 raised and a quota of $4,000.

Failing in their efforts to reach allotted quotas were the Advanced Gifts division headed by George Buchanan and Henry Mackey; Clubs and Organizations, headed by Thomas F. Conlon; National Firms, Joseph M. Love; and Women's section, Mrs. Charles Helmrich and Mrs. Holmes Cessna.

Breakdown Is Made

A breakdown of the final reports revealed the Advanced Gifts raised $7,881.50 cash and had $1,420 pledged for a total of $9,301.50. Their quota was $11,000.

Clubs and Organizations reported $313 collected with a quota of $1,000; National firms $977.90 raised and $250 pledged with a quota of $1,000; Women's division $6,776.95 of a $7,000 quota.

In going over the county quota, Lewis praised the work of the Frostburg section, headed by Mrs. N. F. Stallings, which contributed $2,550.82, far more than the town's $1,500 quota. Only the Ridgeley section with $25 less than the needed $325, Midland with $100 and a quota of $200, and Westernport with $780 raised and a quota of $800 failed to reach their goals in the county campaign.

Walsh highly praised the efforts of the committee leaders and workers in a final summary of the reports, thanking each group individually and singling out Dopko and Pealer for special praise in their fine work in the Classified division. "They have assured themselves jobs in every future Red Cross drive to come," Walsh said of the pair.

County Is Thanked

The general chairman then thanked the people of Allegany County for their generous response to the campaign, saying:

"It is especially gratifying that Allegany County despite its unemployment situation was able to comply with the request of the National Red Cross campaign chairman and exceeded its quota because of increased demands being made on Red Cross in connection with the Korean war and the defense effort. The original goal of $26,796 has already been exceeded by almost $4,000 and while this is the final campaign meeting we know that this excess will be materially increased by additional contributions which we have been assured will be made."

Parkway Survey Board Asked By Hagerstown

Ask Governor To Name Group

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 26 (AP)—The Hagerstown Chamber of Commerce today asked Governor McKeldin to appoint a commission of Western Marylanders to make an extensive survey of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal parkway project and to report its findings.

The decision was made after an open hearing. Appearing before the chamber were Rep. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.), representatives of U. S. Department of the Interior and Hagerstown's Mayor Herman L. Mills.

The project calls for building a parkway from Washington to Cumberland along the old C & O canal bed. The distance is about 185 miles.

The chamber has opposed the proposal because of its estimated cost. Washington County sportsmen's groups have held it would destroy natural game and wild life preserves along the route. Mayor Mills, a Republican, said the government should think of saving instead of spending more money.

Allegany county groups, however, have voiced full approval of the parkway and are interested in seeing it realized.

The federal government purchased about 5,000 acres of land along the site for $2,000,000 in 1938. Since then it has conducted engineering studies and has undertaken some preparatory grading.

Harry Thompson, representing the Department of the Interior in Washington, estimated the parkway could be built for about $100,000 a mile.

Ordinarily, he said it would cost 10 times that much. But the preparatory work, amounting to about $500,000, would greatly reduce the cost.

Other speakers at the hearing were Conrad L. Worth, assistant director of the National Park Service, and H. J. Steelman, division engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads.

Worth cited other parkway projects that have been built in various sections of the country and said results have been successful. Steelman said the proposed C. and O. parkway project from Cumberland to Washington would create another outlet to the nation's capital, and the natural location of the proposed highway is ideal for the purpose.

Beall will meet Tuesday in Frederick with a sportsmen's group on the proposed parkway. A meeting to be held in Cumberland is also under consideration at a date to be set.

Delegates Asked To Reconsider Sewage Bill

City Desires To Get Enabling Legislation

The Mayor and Council last night called upon the Allegany County Delegation to reconsider its unfavorable report on a bill providing sewage disposal facilities for this city.

Upon recommendation of Mrs. Lucile Roeder, the city officials will notify the Delegation of its desire to secure the enabling legislation.

She pointed out it is advisable that the legislation be passed so that the city will have the authority to proceed on the work when materials become available.

Commissioner George H. Tedrick said the Mayor and Council should have power to carry through with the action which has been ordered by the state.

The Delegation, in issuing an unfavorable report on House Bill 218, which would have enabled the city to issue revenue bonds of up to $1,500,000 to establish a sewage disposal and treatment plant here, said the city could not, because of shortage of materials due to defense efforts, begin the work within the next two years.

They added that they would be glad to reconsider the bill at the next general session.

2 GAMBLERS HELD FOR CONTEMPT

Allied Troops Eliminate Last Big Enemy Pocket South Of 38th Parallel

Linkup Of Two Tank-Infantry Units On Western Front Forces Reds Back

TOKYO, Tuesday, March 27 (AP)—Two Allied tank-infantry columns, plowing through hub-deep mud, joined forces Monday on the Western Korean front and eliminated the last big Communist pocket south of the 38th parallel.

The linkup, about ten miles south of the old boundary line, forced the 26th Chinese Army (corps) to pull back rapidly to avoid entrapment.

South Korean troops advanced north of Munsan to the banks of the Imjin River without contacting the foe.

Associated Press Correspondent Jim Becker said the Chinese Reds cleared out before the attack. Only a single company of tank-supported Reds was left behind to fight a rearguard action north of Uijongbu.

In clearing weather Monday, Fifth Air Force planes, including flying Marines and South Africans, roared into the pocket-area north of Uijongbu, pummeling it with fire bombs, rockets and machine-gun fire. Pilots claimed at least 200 Reds killed or wounded in this sector alone.

Part Of Western Offensive

The Allied columns were part of the three division western offensive launched last week by Lt. Gen. Matthew Ridgway's U. S. Eighth Army.

One column powered eastward from Munsan, where U. S. paratroopers landed on Good Friday, while Task Force Meyers, bearing the name of its commander, crunched north of Uijongbu.

The two forces converged 10 miles south of 38. It brought Allied divisions abreast in a jagged line ranging from ten to two miles south of North Korea.

Air observations located elements of six Chinese Red armies just north of 38. This could mean as many as 180,000 to 200,000 Reds were dug in along fortified positions the North Koreans spent years preparing before their original invasion of the south last June 25.

B-26 night Intruders, hunting for targets before dawn Monday, sighted about 180 Communist transport vehicles moving south toward the western battlefront. The Intruder light bombers brought about 75 vehicles under attack and claimed 25 destroyed or damaged, the Air Force announced.

Reds Filter South Of 38

Throughout Monday air attacks destroyed 40 more Red vehicles and damaged an additional 26 on all fronts.

AP Correspondent William C. Barnard reported from the central front that some Reds, presumably Chinese, filtered south of the 38th parallel into ridges just south of the boundary.

Barnard said strong enemy groups appeared moving toward the Allied positions which were within two miles of the line. Brief patrol clashes took place with Reds holding mountain outposts.

Britain Trying To Hold Up U. N. Policy On Korea

LAKE SUCCESS, March 26 (AP)—Britain was reported today trying to delay a new United Nations declaration of policy toward Korea in order that Communist China make a move to start negotations for a settlement.

A diplomatic source said that the countries with forces fighting in Korea have been working on such a declaration, to be issued as the U. N. armies neared the 38th parallel. This source said, however, that the policy declaration would not be put out at this time because the British want the Red Chinese to make the first move. He did not suggest when it would be issued.

The British are represented in Peiping by Lionel Lamb, a senior Foreign Office official. British sources here said they knew of no moves by the Chinese Reds so far toward a settlement.

This disclosure came as the United States mission to the U. N. relayed to the U. N. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Feb. 13 statement on crossing the 38th parallel. It was part of MacArthur's report to the U. N. on operations of the unified command for Feb. 1-15 and Feb. 16-28.

The U. S. did not endorse MacArthur's statement as a formal recommendation so it is being circulated mainly for the information of the U. N. members.

There has been no endorsement by Washington of MacArthur's statement last Saturday offering to confer with the commander of the enemy forces on a way to end the fighting. U. S. delegation sources here said they had no information on that statement. No action by the U. N. is seen at this stage.

Man Found Slain, Baby Unharmed

RIVERSIDE, Calif., March 26 (AP)—A young father was shot to death today on a desolate road and a happy baby believed to be his son was found playing beside the body. Officers feared the man's wife had been kidnaped.

The young man was identified as Richard Miller Cook, 18, a maintenance worker in a Los Angeles aluminum plant.

Attempting to determine what happened from tire tracks and footprints at the scene, Capt. Don Schrader surmised:

Another automobile sideswiped Cook's car forcing it to stop. The other machine pulled up behind Cook's.

A man got out and so did Cook. Cook turned away and was shot. Cook's wife was believed to be with him, but officers could not find any woman's footprints.

Schrader said the gunman probably carried her to his car. The eight-month-old baby was left on a blanket beside the father's body. Then the gunman backed up his car about 300 feet, turned around and headed toward Perris.

Miss Truman Signs Contract With NBC

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Margaret Truman has signed an exclusive contract with the National Broadcasting Co. for guest appearances on radio and television, the network said today.

NBC said Miss Truman, who has made a number of radio and TV appearances, would make two more appearances during the current season and at least nine in the 1951-52 season. It has not been decided how many will be on radio and how many on television.

The most recent broadcast appearances of the President's daughter were on NBC's "The Big Show" during which she not only sang but gave a good account of herself in repartee with Tallulah Bankhead who conducts the program.

U. N. Road Signs Arouse Furore

A series of 24 American and foreign signs set up on a stretch of highway near Columbus, Ohio, has aroused a minor furore. The U. N. began testing the road markers for visibility and quick reading in an effort to standardize world highway signs. Harry Neal, Ohio traffic safety chief, is looking at one type of European railroad sign at left. At right is a South African-European railroad sign that is a bit more dramatic. Mrs. Rosenberg Denies Typing Atom Bomb Data

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Mrs. Ethel Rosenberg, denying her brother's previous testimony, said today she had never typed any national defense data—for transmission to the Russians or for any other reason.

Mrs. Rosenberg testified in her own defense. She is on trial on espionage conspiracy charges with her husband, Julius, an electrical engineer, and Radar Expert Morton Sobell.

Earlier her brother, David Greenglass, a former Army sergeant who has pleaded guilty to the espionage charge, testified he turned over to Mrs. Rosenberg information on the atomic bomb obtained while he was working at Los Alamos, N. M.

He said she typed the information and turned it over to her husband for transmission to Russian agents.

Mrs. Rosenberg refused three times today to answer questions on grounds the answers might incriminate her, but two times out of the three her lawyer told her to go ahead and answer.

The first time, after testimony about her husband's suspension and later dismissal from an Army Signal Corps job, Judge Irving Kaufman asked her whether it had been alleged that Rosenberg was dismissed for Communist Party membership.

After claiming her constitutional privilege not to incriminate herself, she was told by her lawyer to answer. She said it had been so alleged.

Then the judge asked her whether a letter she had typed for her husband, replying to the charges of Communist membership, had denied that he was a Communist.

She again refused to answer until her lawyer urged her to do so, then said: "That's correct."

Air And Sea Search For Plane Continues

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland, March 26 (AP)—Twelve American and three British planes made an all-night patrol tonight in search for the U. S. Globemaster that disappeared over the Atlantic Friday with 53 American airmen aboard. It was the fourth night of sweeping the ocean area where the huge transport was last heard from.

Planes from the aircraft carrier Coral Sea are expected to join the search about dawn Tuesday. The Coral Sea and the destroyers Benner and Fox were ordered to the area while en route from Norfolk, Va., to join the U. S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Senate Group Raps Aluminum Ban Order

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The Senate Small Business Committee today called on Charles E. Wilson, defense mobilization chief, to suspend and review the so-called "death sentence" order prohibiting use of aluminum in the manufacture of 200 items.

The order becomes effective April 1.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) committee chairman, assailed the order as "an ill-considered step' unfair to thousands of small manufacturing plants.

Special Immigration Board Bars German War Bride, Described As Ex-Czech Spy

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—A special immigration board barred Mrs. Ellen Knauff from the United States today after hearing her described by government witnesses as a former Czechoslovak spy.

But the ruling did not end the three-year fight of the pretty 36-year-old war bride to enter this country and start a new life. She can appeal her case to the Commissioner of Immigration, and she said "I definitely want to."

The board said that Mrs. Knauff failed to disprove testimony that, while working for the American military government in Frankfurt, Germany, in 1946 and 1947, she served as an espionage agent for the Czech liaison mission there.

Vigorously Denies Charge

Maj. Zaclav Kadane, former chief of the mission, testified that Mrs. Knauff was known by the code name of "Kobyla." He said she gave the mission a description of a new U. S. Army decoding machine.

Mrs. Knauff vigorously denied that she had ever spied for any country.

The board held, however, that she had failed to prove her admissability.

In formal language it stated "there is reason to believe that you would be likely to engage in activities which would be prohibited by the laws of the United States relating to espionage, sabotage, public disorder or in other activity subversive to the national security x x x."

Came To U. S. In 1948

Mrs. Knauff, born in Germany, a former Czech national now claiming to be stateless, was married in Frankfurt three years ago to Kurt Knauff, a former American soldier who is now a civilian employe of the U. S. occupation forces in Germany. She came to New York late in 1948 and was held two years on Ellis Island.

Mrs. Knauff herself demanded a public disclosure of the Justice Department's case against her.

Production Of New Gen. Walker Bulldog Tank Begins Today

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The T-41, the first new tank to be designed for the Army since World War II, will commence to roll off the production line tomorrow — three months ahead of contract schedule.

Called the Walker Bulldog, after Gen. Walton H. Walker, who was killed in Korea, it is classed as "light." It weighs 26 tons and has a new type muzzle velocity 76 mm. gun. It has a speed of 40 miles an hour.

The army said it is being produced by the Cadillac Division of the General Motors Corp.

Mrs. Merl Young Back On Job At White House

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Mrs. E. Merl Young is back on the job as a White House stenographer.

She was seen today leaving the White House for lunch, and a spokesman said, yes, Mrs. Young was at work following a Florida vacation.

Mrs. Young is the wife of a one-time RFC assistant messenger whose name has figured in a Senate subcommittee inquiry into alleged influence on RFC directors in government loans.

There had been a report that Mrs. Young had resigned.

Senate Demos Reject McKeldin's Proposal To Divert Highway Funds

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 26, (AP) — Senate Democrats turned down tonight Gov. McKeldin's plan to make up the money for pay increases for state employes by diverting roads funds to state police expenses.

The Democrats, in caucus, decided to vote against the bill when it comes to the floor.

Spokesmen for the Governor had said that the bill was the "keystone" of the supplemental budget. In no other way, they said, could the money for promised state employe pay raises be found without raising taxes.

McKeldin has made it plain that he will not go along with any tax increase legislation.

The bill in question would have transferred expenses of maintaining the state police department from general funds to the Department of Motor Vehicles.

This would have freed the general funds of a $1,768,000 obligation. But it would have cost Baltimore City $530,994 and the counties $339,078. It also would have cut the money available to the State Roads Commission for county road maintenance by $884,324.

The Democratic statement said "the diversion of gasoline tax money and the motor vehicle registration fees proposed by this bill is nothing less than budgetary manipulation, which represents a false picture of state finances."

It said that the Democratic majority is "in favor of a pay raise for state employes," but that members feel "the problem of providing funds for such increase should be faced squarely by the Governor.

"The raise contemplated should

Md. Delegates Vote Selves Sound System

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 26 (AP)—House members voted today to make themselves heard.

They asked the Department of Budget and Procurement to install individual microphones on each desk, and equip each member with a lapel microphone, besides.

Cost of the sound system, which probably will be installed in time for next year's General Assembly session, has been estimated at $4,200.

United Nations Road Signs Cause Minor Ohio Furore

COLUMBUS, O., March 26 (AP)—The man on the telephone was angry. He sputtered and shouted:

If I saw a Russian sign, I certainly wouldn't pay any attention to it."

Ohio Highway Director T. J. Kauer winced slightly as the man banged the receiver home. He rubbed his ear reflectively and sighed:

"That's the way it's going," he said. "We put up some United Nations highway signs for a research project and when the news gets out I start getting telephone calls.

"Not many calls, of course, but, man, the ones that call are violent about it."

A second call came. "The U. N. has more important things to do than to mess around with highway signs," said the man. a third call: "Aren't our signs good enough without the U. N. butting in?" asked a citizen.

The project that aroused the minor furore is a series of 24 signs from many parts of the world set up along eight and one-half miles of State Route 104, south of Columbus.

The signs designated curves, crossroads, narrow roads and railroads. Tomorrow 30 lay observers—who are serving without pay—will be driven along the test route. They include housewives, high school and university students, businessmen, military men.

These observers will note at what distance they see the signs and at what distance they recognize the signs. The results will be sent to the U. N. This is the first of a series of such tests, designed to help draw up a set of universal highway signs.

Truman Urges Interamerican Preparedness

Reds Called Threat To Entire World

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—President Truman told the 20 Latin American republics today the time has come for all to join in a Western Hemisphere defense buildup against "aggressive expansion of Soviet power" which he said threatens the whole world.

He opened an emergency meeting of the western world foreign ministers with a keynote summons also to consider ways of strengthening the United Nations.

As partners in a "common enterprise," the President said the American nations must increase production of strategic materials and take other economic measures to support the "men in Europe and Asia who are battling for freedom."

Pledge Continued U. S. Aid

Laying down the theme for the meeting which the United States summoned, Mr. Truman pledged by implication that the hemisphere governments can look for continued help from Washington in dealing with the threat laid bare by the Korean crisis.

He mentined no specific aid measures but the administration is reported giving urgent consideration to an $80,000,000 program for hemisphere defense assistance.

"We must now plan as a primary task for the strengthening and the coordinated use of our defense forces in this hemisphere," Mr. Truman advised. "We must also consider how we may best use our strength to support the cause of freedom against aggression throughout the world."

The Chief Executive addressed the inaugural session in Constitution Hall after the foreign ministers in an initial flurry voted at a preliminary meeting to invite President Vincent Auriol of France to address them next Saturday. Auriol is scheduled to arrive in the capital Wednesday on a state visit.

Objection Is Withdrawn

Guatemalan Foreign Minister Manuel Galich objected to the invitation, reporters were told after the closed meeting, on the ground that it might set a precedent for inviting others to sessions which are by custom strictly American. He withdrew his objections on a plea by Acting Foreign Minister Manuel Tello of Mexico to make the invitation unanimous as a gesture of courtesy.

The ministers by acclamation elected Secretary of State Acheson president of the conference and voted unexpectedly to try to wind up in less than two weeks with April 6 as the target date for adjournment.

Plot To Kill Iran Official Smashed

TEHRAN, March 26 (AP)—Police announced tonight they had thwarted a plot by the fanatical Moslem group Fedeyan Islam to assassinate the military governor of Tehran.

This came on the heels of a decree imposing martial law on portions of Iran's rich British-operated southern oil fields. Mounting strikes by oil workers brought on the decree.

Two high Iranian officials already have fallen victim to assassins this month in this strategic country on Russia's southern border. Tehran is under martial law imposed in the wake of wide unrest and political tension.

A high police official said nine members of Fedeyan Islam are under arrest for a plot to assassinate Gen. Abdul Hossein Hejazi, the capital's military governor. This is the same sect that claimed responsibility for the slaying of Premier Ali Razmara on Sept. 7.

The plot was discovered last Thursday night, the official said, when Hejazi's adjutant rounded up two men armed with revolvers loitering around the military governor's home. The two broke down under police questioning and confessed the plot, then led authorities to the gang's hideout where the other seven were picked up.

At Least 242 Die In Holiday Accidents

[By The Associated Press]

At least 242 persons were killed in accidents in the United States over the Easter weekend.

From 6 p. m. (local time) Friday to Sunday midnight, 171 persons were known to have died in traffic accidents. Another 71 lives were lost in various other mishaps.

During the 1950 Easter weekend 253 accidental deaths were reported.

West Va. Electric Chair Claims Its First Two Victims

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—Harry Atlee Burdette and Fred C. Painter paid with their lives tonight for the stomp murder of a Charleston soft drink salesman.

The two were put to death as the first victims of West Virginia's new method of execution by the electric chair.

Supreme Court Agrees To Rule On Md. Ober Act

Convicted Rapist Is Again Denied Hearing

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to weigh the legality of a state law requiring loyalty oaths from candidates for state or city office.

The case comes from Maryland but other states and cities have passed—or are considering—similar laws.

Thelma Grenede challenged the Maryland law loyalty oath as an unconstitutional violation of freedom of speech and thought. She wanted to be a candidate for the Baltimore City Council on the Progressive Party ticket but refused to sign the loyalty oath.

McGee's Plea Rejected

Maryland courts held that she couldn't be on the ballot unless she signs the oath. The Baltimore primary is scheduled tomorrow. The Supreme Court ruling won't come along for some time.

The high court for the fourth time denied a hearing to Willie McGee, a Mississippi negro sentenced to the electric chair for the rape of a white woman.

McGee has been convicted three times in Mississippi courts. Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi has charged that Communists were agitating in McGee's behalf.

The Maryland case became the second one before the highest court involving loyalty oaths. Earlier this month the justices agreed to rule on a Los Angeles ordinance requiring city employes to sign an oath disclosing whether they are members of the Communist Party.

Anti-Subversive Law

The Maryland case, testing the so-called Ober law, requires state or city candidates to swear they are not "subversive." A subversive person is defined as one who commits or advocates any act intended to alter or overthrow the state or federal government by force.

Further, says the Ober law, a subversive person would be any member of a "subversive organization or a foreign subversibe organization."

Attorneys for McGee include left-wing former U. S. Rep. Vito Marcantonio of New York. They asserted that the white woman had voluntary sex relations with the negro, and that McGee never has had a chance to present his case fully. Mississippi Attorney General J. P. Coleman replied that this and other angles of the case had been weighed by both state and federal courts.

Agar's Lawyer Faints; Mistrial Is Declared

LOS ANGELES, March 26 (AP)—A mistrial was declared today in the drunk driving trial of John Agar, Shirley Temple's ex-husband, and the all-woman jury was sent home.

The judge dismissed the jury when Agar's attorney, Llewllyn Moses, fainted. He has been suffering from a virus infection.

Agar has denied that he was drunk Jan. 13.

Pair Refuses To Talk While On Television

Former Bootlegger Also Balks Probers

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Two alleged top-ranking American gambling figures were held on contempt charges tonight for refusing to testify in the Senate crime investigation unless television, newsreel and radio equipment were removed.

The men, held in $10,000 bail each, were Louis Rothkopf and Morris Kleinman, both of Cleveland.

Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) of the Senate crime probe group said they were members of "one of the most active and important interstate gambling syndicates in the United States."

Each man read a formal statement saying the presence of TV and other communications equipment violated his constitutional rights. Then each sat silent while committee counsel put a series of questions.

The other witness in tonight's session, ex-Bootlegger Abner (Longie) Zwillman, risked similar contempt proceedings by refusing to tell the committee the details of his rum-running activities during prohibition or his money-making pursuit since.

Figured In Murder, Inc., Probe

Zwillman, who once figured in a Murder, Inc., investigation, admitted under questioning that he bootlegged before repeal.

But about the details, and about the money he makes or the people he makes it with now, he stood politely but firmly silent.

Zwillman's halting testimony came after a day of fast developments in the Senate inquiry and its spreading ramifications.

In New York, Ambassador William O'Dwyer was quizzed by a grand jury investigating a nine-year-old murder and a fizzled investigation that followed it—but the subject of his questioning was not made public. One of O'Dwyer's long-time political lieutenants, James J. Moran, was indicted on perjury charges by another grand jury busy in New York.

N. Y. Police "Paid Off"

The Senate committee itself heard the graft "take" of certain New York City policemen estimated at up to $25,000,000 a year. It also heard from the head of the FBI that organized gambling could be stopped almost overnight by proper local enforcement of existing laws.

Zwillman, a poker-facer man who said he knew or "might have known" a host of gamblers and hoodlums including exiled Vice Chief Charles "Lucky" Luciano and various Murder, Inc., gunmen, testified at a special night session of the crime committee.

Earlier in the day, Brooklyn Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz estimated for the committee that New York City gamblers pay $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 a year for protection to crooked members of the police department.

Zwillman, who comes from Newark, N. J., finally offered to give the Senate group some of the information it wanted if this could be done in such a way that it wouldn't incriminate him.

Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn) told him the committee would look it over if it were submitted by Wednesday morning.

Contempt Move Considered

Another member, Sen. Tobey (R-NH) told a reporter, however, that the committee has contempt proceedings in mind.

The Brooklyn grand jury which

New Treatment Improves Advanced Cancer Patients

CHICAGO, March 26 (AP)—Twenty advanced cancer patients were reported today to have shown marked improvement after treatment with a substance called krebiozen. Two no longer appear to have cancer.

A guarded but optimistic discussion of the tests was given today by Dr. A. C. Ivy, cancer authority and a vice-president of the University of Illinois. He reported to a group of cancer specialists.

Twenty-two patients were selected for treatment with krebiozen. One patient had leukemia and did not respond to the treatment. Another patient failed to report for further treatment after her first injection. Each of the other 20 showed favorable results, Dr. Ivy said.

Eight of this group have died, but life apparently was prolonged in some of these cases. The others are living, five of them 12 to 17 months after their first injection. All of the patients given krebiozen were either terminal (hopeless) cases or had cancer which could not be successfully treated by surgery or x-ray, he said.

In addition to reduction in size of tumors and metatasis, or secondary growth spread from the first tumor, patients noted a decrease in pain, improvement of appetite, and improvement in a general health.

Krebiozen was produced by Dr. Stevan Durovic, 46, a native of Montenegro in Yugoslavia, who extracted it from the blood of horses after he had stimulated them in a manner which has not been disclosed.

Spangler Heads State Veterans Job Service

C. William Spangler, 729 Patterson Avenue, has been promoted to the position of state veterans' employment representative for Maryland succeeding Grafton Lee Brown, of Baltimore.

Announcement of Spangler's promotion was made yesterday by Brown, who in turn has been named staff field representative for the Veteran's Employment Service in six states and the District of Columbia. Spangler had been assistant state Veterans' Employment Service representative for the past four years.

Spangler will maintain his office in Baltimore but will continue his residence here. He is married to the former Jane Chandlee and they have two sons, C. William Spangler, Jr., and John Spangler.

The Spangler and Brown positions with the Veterans' Employment Service are under the jurisdiction of the U. S. Department of Labor.

A graduate of Allegany High School and former student at Albright College, Reading, Pa., Spangler was a star football player at both schools. He is a veteran of World War II and a member of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion; J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets; Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, and the Cresaptown F. O. Eagles.

He is also a member of the Civil Service Commission of the City of Cumberland and has been active in the Democratic party as a member of the Young Democrats of Allegany County.

Brown, who is well known in veterans circles here, has visited Cumberland and Allegany county many times during his tenure as state veterans' employment representative. He will work out of Baltimore and handle veterans employment affairs in Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina and the District of Columbia. He is a veteran of World War I.

Spangler's new position carries with it the responsibility for the function of the Veterans Employment Service in the state and the coordination of programs with the Maryland Employment Service for the benefit of veterans.

YMCA Group Schedules College Concert Here

The Central Y.M.C.A. Youth Division announces a concert by the Oberlin College A Cappella Choir on Friday, April 13, at 8 p. m. at Allegany High School Auditorium, under the direction of Robert Fountain of the Oberlin Conservatory of Music. All proceeds of the concert are to be used in the extension of the YMCA's Youth Program.

The Obelin Choir is a group of approximately 50 carefully selected from a student body of over 2000.

The Bach Cantata to be presented on April 13 will be accompanied by a small instrumental ensemble made up of choir members and additional Oberlin students. It will be from this ensemble that the members of the string quartet, who will play the Haydn Quartet in D will be chosen.

Of special interest to Cumberlanders is that one of the members of the Oberlin A. Cappella Choir is Miss Jeanne Marquis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Marquis, Park Heights.

As a rule, orchids take 10 or 12 years to bloom.

Local Security Office Reports Few Claims

Many people in the Cumberland area who are entitled to monthly old-age or survivors insurance benefit payments have not applied for them, according to James S. Getty, manager of the local social security office.

He urges everyone who made inquiry before September, 1950, to come to his office. This applies especially to retired workers over 65 whose previous claim was disallowed because they had not been employed long enough in jobs covered by social security.

Many people in this area, now 65 or older, who worked at one time or another since 1937 do not realize they are eligible for old-age benefits because they do not know that requirements have been reduced, Getty said.

International Controls

Means of bringing about, through international action, increased production and fair distribution of raw materials essential to defense of the free world are now under intensive consideration among the representatives of a score of nations. Actual or threatened shortages of numerous strategic materials, induced primarily by vastly expanded armament programs, have made it urgently necessary to allocate available supplies while searching for methods of stimulating production of scarce commodities.

To examine all phases of the problem and devise measures for meeting it, an International Materials Conference has been organized under the auspices of the United States, Great Britain and France. Since the end of Febraury, five of six initial committees, composed of representatives of the principal producing and consuming countries of a dozen important commodities, have held their first meetings in Washington.

Although the United States is more nearly self-sufficient in raw materials than other countries, it still is heavily dependent on foreign sources of supply for numerous essential commodities, such as natural rubber, tin, various metals needed to produce the heat-resistant alloy steels used in jet airplane engines, and uranium for atom bombs. The combined natural resources of the free world are markedly superior to those of the Soviet Union and countries in the Soviet sphere, but they are widely dispersed geographically. Mindful of what happened in the last war, when Far Eastern sources of supply were cut off and communication lines menaced, the United States and other countries accelerated stockpiling of strategic materials after outbreak of the Korean fighting. At the same time, large new arms programs were voted and private industry began to compete with governments in accumulating reserve supplies of raw materials. As a result, prices moved sharply upward.

Early in December, when it was evident that the situation was fast getting out of hand, President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee, joined later by Premier Pleven of France, set in motion plans for creation of international machinery to ensure fair sharing of available materials. In World War II that task was entrusted to a Combined (Anglo-American) Raw Materials Board, whose decisions could be readily enforced through Allied control of ocean shipping. The present effort is more difficult, in that it involves many more nations and is projected in a period of half-peace and half-war. Success will depend on reconciling the opposing interests of producing and consuming countries in the commodity committees and upon willingness of the governments of these countries to cooperate in putting into effect the recommendations agreed on by the committees.

To reduce interference with normal trading arrangements to a minimum, the C.R.M.B. of World War II attempted so far as possible to distribute actual sources of supply in accordance with existing trade relationships. In many cases, however, certain source areas had to be transferred from one consuming country to another, and in some cases one country was made responsible for purchasing for all within an agreed framework of prices and conditions. Whatever system of allocation is now adopted, the problem of holding down prices is likely to be one of the most difficult encountered.

If the gap between supply and demand could be quickly bridged by increased production and curtailment of non-essential uses, the price problem might take care of itself. Expansion of production will take time, however, and limitations on use probably will not be sufficient alone to relieve the pressure on prices. Consuming countries therefore will demand price ceilings, while producing countries will want guaranties of minimum prices. Although producing countries are loath to forego advantages of present high prices, they may be willing to accept a lower return guaranteed over a stated period in consideration of the greater stability thereby afforded.

Insofar as satisfactory arrangements can be worked out and applied, they may be expected not only to make for more equitable distribution of key raw materials among the nations of the free world, but also to make more effective the efforts to shut off supplies of those materials to potential enemy countries.

The Schuman Plan

Europe's most imaginative and hopeful experiment in international cooperation got under way with the initialing of the Schuman plan by representatives of France, Western Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Proposed nine months ago by French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, it bogged down in disagreements among the nations concerned. Only the negotiating skill of John J. McCloy, U. S. High Commissioner for Germany, made it possible to break a deadlock that had seemed irresolvable.

The success or failure of the Schuman plan is likely to have far-reaching effects on the lives of Americans who never heard of it. The issue of world peace may depend on its success, for its aims at some of the basic causes of war. The integration of the steel and coal economies of the six nations would seem, for instance, to make another war between France and Germany impossible. The economies of both would be unable to sustain war production if the two stopped cooperating in the proposed coal-iron setup.

The treaty authority granted to the new organization will be strictly limited to the coal and iron field, but within those limitations it would issue orders and fix penalties for violation without lawful interference by the countries affected. Schuman hopes that eventually it will lead to closer political integration as well.

The treaty sets up five operating branches, constituting an economic super-government which checks and balances. It is quite complicated, but something worthwhile may result from it if it doesn't strangle itself in red tape.

Help Without Strings

As part of their propaganda, Communist members of United Nations organizations never lose an opportunity to attribute false motives to American enterprises.

A champion rose to defend us, however, in a recent session of the Economic and Social Council, when the Indian representative pointed out that in spite of India's attitude toward events in Korea the United States loaned that country a million and a half dollars. This was a direct refutation of the Communist accusation that the American aim is to impose its policy on countries to which it gives assistance.

The Soviet propagandists are handicapped by obvious facts which exist for all, except the wilfully blind, to see. One of the best defenses against Soviet lies exists in the publicizing of such facts.

Human Tails

EVERY TIME I read about a youngster who came into the world with a caudal appendage (tail), I am reminded of the furor that followed the publication of Darwin's book on man's origin. Great indignation was aroused when interpreters of the theory claimed that the scientist said we were descended from apes.

The most recent case of a human tail was reported in the British Medical journal. An otherwise healthy child was born with this vestigial appendage but the mother waited until the tot was 11 months old before seeking medical care. The tail was much more than a fold of skin or bony protuberance; pulled to its full length it measured three inches. It moved and could be wagged gently and flicked from side to side. When relaxed, the tail contracted and curled upon itself. The article did not mention whether the structure wagged in response to emotional changes. At any rate, surgery came to the rescue.

Hundreds of instances of human tails have been recorded and traditions of tailed men and races are common. It was said at one time that all Cornishmen had tails, in contrast to the tailless Manx cat. Tradition had it that the men of Kent had been cursed with the extra appendage because they had insulted Thomas a Becket.

Many fabulous stories have come down to us about primitive peoples. One such yarn stated that in certain parts of East India canoes were built with holes in the benches for the tails of the rowers. A missionary reported that on the island of Kali, off the coast of New Britain, the tailed native killed all tailless infants, not only to prevent ridicule but to encourage the trait. In central Africa the Niam Niams were supposed to have smooth, hairy tails 2 to 10 inches long. How much of this we can believe is a question; in all probability there were a few instances and by the time the "tale" reached civilization the whole tribe had tails.

This reminds us of an incident described in Gould and Pyle's "Anomalies and Curiosities of Medicine." Several working men were cutting grass when a tribe of Guayacuyan Indians stole their mules. The men gave chase but were successful in catching only an 8 year old boy. The lad was found to have a 10 inch tail and, when questioned, stated that his brother had a tail just as long and so did other members of their tribe. But we cannot rely much upon evidence of this nature, especially when it was retold by a group of ignorant laborers. The longest tail on record may have been the wild man reported by a Dutch traveler in Formosa in the 17th century. It was a foot long and covered with red hair like that of a cow. One young man was never bothered by his anomaly until he became a West Point cadet. Horseback riding caused great distress and sometimes irritation was so severe open lesions developed.

Most of these structures are continuations of the lower spine. They resemble the tail of a pig rather that that of a monkey, which may open speculation as to the exact animal we are said to be descended from. We may look like monkeys but we act as tho we had a little ham in our ancestry.

ARTANE

G. M. writes: I recently read in a popular magazine about artane for Parkinson's disease. Do you know anything about it?

REPLY

This new synthetic antispasmodic drug has been used for more than a year by various research groups. It resembles atropine but is said to be less toxic. Some physicians believe it a valuable addition to the list of products now in use for Parkinson's disease; other authorities consider it no improvement over the standard remedies. Some months ago the chemical was given to 44 patients over a three month period. Only seven received more relief than with previous therapy and eight could not tolerate it. In the remaining two-thirds, when artane was combined with other preparations, relief was noted.

BREATHING DIFFICULTIES

K. W. writes: Several times during the day I notice that my breathing is shallow and sometimes I even hold my breath. What harm can this do to the brain and heart?

REPLY

None. If the breath is held too long, fainting occurs and this automatically removes your control over breathing. As soon as the rhythm is reestablished, consciousness returns. Try to disregard your breathing; your consciousness of it only makes you unhappy.

NOT TICKLISH

V. S. G. writes: What if anything is wrong with the nerves of a person who is not ticklish anywhere?

REPLY

Nothing is wrong. He is less sensitive than others.

D. L. writes: Why does high blood pressure cause dizziness?

REPLY

Dizziness usually is associated with changes in circulation incident to spasm or thickening of the blood vessel walls.

Getting Caught Up

DREW PEARSON on—

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Senator Kefauver's Life Exposed; Crime-Buster Also Trust-Buster And Crusader For Underdog; Licked Boss Crump And Fought Sen. McKellar

WASHINGTON — RANDOM REACTIONS OF A CITIZEN RETURNING TO THE U. S. A. — Stepping off a Pan American Clipper in New York the other day I immediately got tangled in a traffic jam. But the traffic jam seemed good . . . In Communist Yugoslavia I couldn't find a taxi to drive from the station in Belgrade to the hotel (this in the capital of Yugoslavia.) I had to take a horse-drawn carriage . . . At Idlewild Airport I also stepped in front of a customs inspector who said: "Things have been happening while you were away. A guy named Kefauver has taken this town by storm. We don't get much work done watching him. That fellow Tobey and his eyeshade isn't so bad either. He's saying a lot of things the American people would like to say." . . . Tobey, I recalled, was the Republican who squeaked through the New Hampshire primary by the scant margin of about 2,000 votes after all sorts of money was poured in by the china lobby and others to defeat him. All sorts of names were hurled at Tobey then. I remember because I got smeared when I went to his support.

At the airport, everywhere around New York, everyone talked Costelloism, Kefauver, O'Dwyer, mink coats, RFC corruption, kick the rascals out . . . A lot different from war and the preparation for war engrossing Europe. . . . Best thing about the crime probe, I thought, as my car crawled through the traffic jam, is the reaction of the people. Sometimes it's good for people to get sore, to rise up against leaders who fail to lead. . . . These are the folks who are shock troops of the nation, the home people, the common people, the craftsmen, workmen, shopkeepers who run the race and keep the faith. They may be plain, poor, simple, but they are stubborn in safeguarding the great ideals of decency, and their wrathy reaction to corruption in high places is healthier, more effective than an army of policemen. . . . Truth may desert the high places. Political laziness may engulf the Justice Department, but when you have a great army of plain people holding the front line for clean living, I am not worried about the future. . . . That is the greatest asset of America. . . . That is the most important reaction I got upon returning to the U. S. A.

INSIDE SENATOR KEFAUVER — Since Estes Kefauver has been exposing other people, here is a little exposing of Estes Kefauver. . . . His office walls are cluttered with scribbled drawings of his 7-year-old daughter. His ambition is not to deal with crime, but become an expert on the Foreign Relations Committee. . . . Yale-trained, he once wrote a book, "20th Century Congress," urging that Congress be streamlined. He even blasted his colleagues for taking expensive junkets to Alaska, Hawaii, etc., at the taxpayers expense. . . . One of the few men who ever bucked the Crump machine in Tennesse and lived politically to tell the tale. Boss Crump of Memphis pulled every trick in the bag to defeat Estes, even claimed he was a foreigner. It all backfired. Kefauver was born in Madisonville, Tenn.... On Kefauver's office wall also hangs a coonskin cap in a glass case. He wore it, stumping the state against Boss Crump. "My coonskin may have three rings around its tail," he told Tennesseans, "but it doesn't haye a ring through its nose."

CHAMPION OF LITTLE FELLOW—It isn't always that a crime-buster is also a trust-buster. But Kefauver's record in fighting for little business, standing up for the little fellow is about 100 per cent perfect. He dared challenge veteran Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming on the Basing Point bill, staged a bitter campaign to show what the new Basing Point bill would do to little business — and won. . . . He was among those who had the courage to buck the big distillers and demand extension of the President's power to suspend whisky distilling until more grain was on hand to feed Europe. . . . He guided the House Small Business Committee in its fight against monopolies; showed how war concentrated more business in the hands of fewer companies. . . . In the House he campaigned to get the low-cost housing bill dislodged from the Rules Committee where it was blocked by the die-hards. . . . He voted against the big gas companies and against his Democratic friends from the Southwest on the Kerr Natural Gas bill. . . . And he championed a bill to use some of our huge food surpluses to feed underprivileged children. . . . When the Senator's father came to Washington to see him sworn in, he remarked: "They used to refer to Estes as my son. Now they call me Estes' daddy. That's what makes a country better — when a son is better than his daddy."

TENNESSEE ECONOMIZER — When Kefauver was first elected to the Senate from the House of Representatives, he had a lot of House stationery still on hand. So to save the government money he proceeded to use up his House writing paper. . . . Fulton Lewis long ago began lambasting Kefauver. (Mrs. Lewis is the daughter of another Tennesseean, Claudius Houston, former chairman of the Republican National Committee.) . . . Nothing galls aging Senator Kenneth McKellar more than Kefauver's triumphs. McKellar did his best to defeat Kefauver, later wrote the President taking credit for swinging Tennessee for Truman. Actually he had done almost nothing. . . . A great family man, Kefauver wanted a third child and when this appeared impossible, the Kefauvers adopted one. By that time the family was big enough, but Mrs. Kefauver produced an unexpected fourth. . . . Estes was so busy with the crime probe in Chicago that he almost wasn't there for the arrival.

QUOTES FROM THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND — "On the surface, Kefauver is as calm as a Sunday afternoon, but this covers a stormy spirit inside." . . . "The young Tennesseean is a liberal lawyer-economist who moves like a tornado in slow motion. . . ." "A tall, handsome younger edition of Cordell Hull." . . . Three-year-old David Kefauver is the only person who ever told Truman he didn't need a bodyguard. Delivering a ham at the White House with his mother, David asked the President what the circular doors in his office were for. "For the Secret Service men to come in to protect me," the President replied. . . . "Aw, you're a big man," blurted David, "you don't need anyone to protect you." . . . Eleanor Kefauver, daughter of the crime buster, once invited all members of her class to ride on the Tennessee float in the 1948 inaugural parade. "All the girls in my class have connections with Tennessee," she explained. When asked what connection a South American classmate had with the state, Eleanor replied: "She had to come through Tennessee to get to Washington."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Independence Hall

ONE SUNDAY recently, I took my children to Philadelphia to look at Independence Hall, the Liberty Bell, and other historic evidences of the founding of our country enshrined in that building. I think that parents would strengthen their children's love of country if they, even for once in their lives, walked the floor upon which Washington and Jefferson and Franklin stood on the occasion of the founding of this country. It gives one a feeling of continuity, of belonging to a grand tradition. It relates one to the great spiritual strength of America.

I was, however, disappointed by the environment. The streets are narrow and shabby. There is a little park in front of the building, but not an impressive one. My little girl wanted to see Betsy Ross's house, where our first national flag was sewn, and we drove through narrow Arch Street where we stopped in front of 239. The house is buried in a mass of buildings and is perhaps best recognized by a replica of our first flag that hangs on a pole from it.

We wanted to see where Benjamin Franklin was buried in the Christ Church Cemetery and even to enter Christ Church itself, but parking was difficult. Yet it was in that church that the fathers of our country prayed for guidance on those occasions when they wrote the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

I am told that a plan is afoot to turn this invaluable historic area into a national historical park. Since January 1 of this year, Independence Hall and the group of historic buildings adjacent to it are under the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior.

More than that is necessary to preserve these monuments. They should be restored. Independence Hall, for instance, needs a coat of paint on the interior walls. Peeling ceilings are not impressive, particularly to young children. Could not the grand dining room of this building, which also served as a hospital, be restored, so that when the hall is visited, children can see, in their keen imaginations, the great figures who risked their lives that this might be a nation of free men?

With all the billions of dollars that the United States has been spending all over the world for every variety of boondoggling, why has nothing been done until now to restore the entire area, from Spruce to Arch Street, into a shrine to American patriotism? I look at a map of the "Independence National Historical Park Project" and I cannot help wondering why it is still a project after 175 years. Why do we have to wait to do the fine things when we can waste so much on the meaningless?

Are Americans so lacking in sentiment, so impotent in their love of tradition that it has taken them this long to rescue the most sacred spot in all this country from obscurity and vandalism? How shall we instill in our children the ideals of our nation if we fail to show any interest in our national monuments?

In a way, I must say that I came away hurt, because my children, who said it was all wonderful, betrayed their own disillusionment. The rooms were so bare. They had been to Plymouth where they saw the Pilgrims' houses and Plymouth

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Congress will be dealing with a very fundamental issue when it considers what to do with the reconstruction Finance Corporation in the future.

To abolish this lending agency altogether would eliminate one of the principal instruments for supplying capital to companies that seek to compete with so-called monopolies—businesses that dominate high percentages of sales or production in particular industries. To accept the Truman plan for a one-man administrator, removable at will by the President, is objectionable because it means a political job and political pressure to obtain approval for loan applications.

To appoint a five-man board and set up a new agency with a new name and a new set of regulations and safeguards is about the only answer—and Congress really would like to do this but is confronted with the necessity of voting first on the Truman plan. If it approves his plan, however, it runs the risk later of a presidential veto of its own bill.

Object To Laxity

The wise thing to do would be for the President to withdraw his RFC plan for the time being and ask Congress to come up with a new plan within 90 days. If Congress didn't do so the President could renew his request for his one-man plan. The Senate could, of course, vote down the President's "one-man" plan now and adopt legislation later.

Bankers generally are in favor of taking the government altogether out of the lending business. But they themselves do not object to some government guarantees of loans after the manner of the federal guarantee of mortgages. They do object to the laxity of housing loan regulations and basically they argue that a loan should not be granted where the applicant puts in very little of his own money in any project. Thats a pretty good rule with respect to all government lending.

But this is a question involving what government policy should be rather than the function or structure of an agency. To say that the RFC should be abolished because some scandals of administration have been uncovered would be tantamount to an admission that men of integrity and capacity cannot be obtained who would make a success of sound policies on a governmental board or commission by resisting political pressure and other improper influence.

The real difficulty is that Congress has failed to live up to the original concept which governed legislators of a quarter of a century ago when they created the quasi-legislative and the quasi-judicial agency and made it responsible to Congress and not to the executive. The theory then was that Congress was delegating specific powers and looked to the executive merely to make sure there was no malfeasance in office. The idea of anyone in the White House or the cabinet attempting to influence the policies or judgments of these commissions or boards was abhorrent to the legislative sponsors. It was the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt who started to break down the congressional theory and his viewpoint has been unfortunately upheld by some Republican sponsors of governmental reorganization in later years who felt that anything in the executive establishment should be subject to presidential power and influence even in the making of policy.

Long Standing Problem

The problem of intermediate credit is one that has plagued government for many years. Back in the 1920's capital was supplied to private enterprises through finance companies which were subsidiaries of commercial banks. Some abuses were uncovered in the early '30's and the so-called "affiliates" were abolished by act of Congress though they did perform some important functions which have never since been available through private financial companies especially in fulfilling the needs of small businesses.

Then there was the scheme whereby the Federal Reserve banks for a while handled private loans which local banks had turned down as being in the nature of "capital loans." There are many successful enterprises in existence today fulfilling an economic purpose which never would have been able to carry on except for the loans from the RFC. It isn't a matter of loans in emergency periods only. At all times the banker rightly frowns on the idea of making capital loans out of his demand deposits. Sometimes, too, large banks hesitate to make loans to applicants who might become competitors of their own large customers.

As long as there is to be a competitive system in America and the anti-trust laws are enforced and control of credit is in private hands there always will be pressure to find a way to get capital for business enterprises through the cooperation of the government. Whether the loans should be guaranteed in part by the government and in part by private banks so as to make it a joint venture or whether a system of lending should be set up by the Federal Reserve banks to take care of legitimate needs of credit that cannot be handled by any bank or group of small banks in a local area, there is a need for some form of government lending.

Congress is disposed to tackle that problem and find a solution. But the present atmosphere of scandal which surrounds the issue could bring a tragic stop to an important function of government and result later on, during a wave of radicalism, in setting up of something far worse in its injury to private banking than the RFC with its lending facilities has ever been in the past.

It would be a mistake to leave the country without some intermediate credit system altogether and that is why constructive plans from private bankers are more important to present now than broadside denunciations of government lending and the blunders of ill-chosen RFC directors.

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

Nerve War Offensive

BERLIN

THE shape of things to come, at least for the months immediately ahead, is foreshadowed by two massive facts. The first fact is simply the power of the six Soviet armies in East Germany. These are now moving, nearly a fortnight earlier than usual, to their maneuver areas close to the zonal border. There they will remain all summer, a permanent, open threat to all of Western Europe.

The second fact is more complex. No one can say whether the Kremlin is even considering using these armies this summer in the way that armies are normally used. The probabilities are certainly quite heavily against such an act of madness. But there is no doubt at all that the Kremlin has already begun to use these armies in quite another way, as powerful weapons in an offensive in the war of nerves, aimed to disrupt the Western alliance and prevent the rebuilding of the defenses of the West.

This war of nerves offensive thus far takes the crude form of having Soviet and satellite diplomats and officials whisper "confidential" warnings into appropriate ears, for transmission to Paris, London and other capitals. President Petitpierre of Switzerland and several other European neutrals have been used as channels for these warnings, that the Soyiet armies in East Germany may really attack —that the Kremlin really will not "tolerate" any West German rearmament—that the only way to escape war this year is to abandon the project of a German contribution to the defense of the West.

War Of Nerves Preferred

A previous report examined the evidence for and against a rather different Soviet gambit, which until recently was the one mainly feared by the State Department. This was, in brief, an attempt to block the Western defense effort by offering to trade the Soviet imperial province of East Germany for the demilitarization of all Germany and the withdrawal of all occupation forces. It now seems clear that the preferred gambit is the cheaper, simpler and more promising war of nerves offensive.

Thus at Paris Andrei Gromyko has hardly mentioned the German unity which has been so loudly emphasized in Soviet propaganda all winter. He has talked solely about "German demilitarization and the return to Potsdam." This is a pretty clear indication of what his master, Vishinsky, will mainly demand when and if the Conference of Foreign Ministers of the Big Four is at last convened. One can hear the demand being yelled, perhaps against the background of reinforcement in East Germany.

Meanwhile, at Paris, the behavior of the French representative, Alexandre Parodi, and in a lesser degree of the Britisher, Ernest Davies, suggests that the war of nerves offensive, even in this very preliminary stage, is already having some success. The tendency of the

Try And Stop Me

A man who sells old age annuities for one of the big New York insurance companies searches the "business and finance" pages of all the papers assiduously for photographs of young executives who have secured promotions or assumed new posts. He has these photographs expertly retouched to make the prospects look like codgers of eighty or eighty-five, and mails the resultant works of art to said prospects' homes, attaching his business card, and a note reading, "What are you going to do to make life secure for this old man?"

Does the system work? He's sold more old age insurance than any other three solicitors in the agency combined.

Laredo, Texas, hit the front pages recently with a press report of a big ball game between the Laredo Optimist Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. All kinds of goodies were offered as prizes by publicity-minded merchants. A local attorney put up the most unusual one of all—a free divorce suit.

Whitworth To Fight Kimble Bill On Liquor Control Board

"If the proposed bill by State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) changing the setup of the Allegany County Liquor Control Board is passed by the Legislature I will request Gov. McKeldin not to sign it", declared Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, a member of the Allegany county delegation to the Legislature.

Whitworth charged that Kimble's bill is proposed solely to provide a job at a high salary to a close personal friend of Kimble. He did not identify the persons referred to. The board setup as proposed by Kimble would have Walter C. Capper as chairman, Stanley O. Hamilton and Former Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr. The latter is a Democrat while the other two are Republicans.

Whitworth also charged that the bill would create unnecessary jobs in providing for an enforcement agency. These enforcement jobs would duplicate the present duties of the county investigator, state's attorney's office and the police of various municipalities, according to Whitworth.

The delegate also said that the proposal for an attorney for the board is unnecessary. Whitworth said that no other county in Maryland has an enforcement agency for their liquor boards. He cited the work of the state's attorney's offices in Wicomico and Worcester counties in cleaning up both gambling and liquor violations as examples of how the Allegany county situation could be handled.

As far as enforcement is concerned, Whitworth said that one good inspector "with his eyes open" could do a good job and by obtaining the assistance of the state's attorney's office for the follow through investigation, the situation here could be handled efficiently.

In commenting on the increased salary program for members of the Liquor Board, Whitworth said that even at the current $2,000 annual salary the board members are overpaid. "The job is worth not more than $1,800 annually, but Kimble's bill would provide for $3,000 for each member and an additional $500 for the chairman," he declared.

Whitworth also said that so far as he knows there have been no hearings conducted on the bill and with only one week left before the end of the legislative session opponents and proponents of the proposed bill would have no way of setting forth their stand on the measure. He said that the bill may be introduced by Kimble during the closing stages of the legislature.

Work On Church May Be Resumed Soon Here

The building committee of the Fairview Avenue Methodist Church met Friday evening and the pastor, Rev. B. F. Hartman, reported that the pouring of concrete for the basement of the addition had been held up because of inclement weather. Work will continue as soon as weather permits.

Funds are still being raised for the new building which will house the Sunday School Department that has outgrown its present quarters.

The Double M Club is sponsoring a Sacred Concert to be presented in the church on May 4, all proceeds going to the building fund.

Local Television Out For Present

The television outlook for Cumberland was clarified Saturday by a local radio official who is in Washington discussing the matter with the Federal Communications Commission.

It has been announced by the FCC that Cumberland has been assigned television Channel 17 in the move to ultimately permit operation of about 2,000 new television stations.

The FCC has informed the attorneys for the station here that the Cumberland outlet will not be allocated for 12 to 18 months.

After that it will take some time for the station selected here to be placed into operation — depending upon whether equipment is available.

The government this week announced the opening up of 70 new channels in an unused portion of the radio wave spectrum known as ultra high frequencies.

A relay tower owned by Western Union is near Frostburg and another owned by Bell Telephone on Sideling Hill could be used in polycasting.

All of the three local radio stations have applications for TV stations here. However, from all information at hand, these radio stations say that it will be at least two years before a TV outlet is located here.

Sr., Jr., Woman's Civic Clubs Receive Thanks For Gifts

Contributions Sent To War Torn Europe

The Woman's Civic Club, Mrs. Albert W. Keight, president; and the Junior Woman's Civic Club, Miss Margaret Reid, president; have received letters of appreciation from Major W. H. Finley, USAF, German Youth Activities officer in Erding, Germany, for the contributions they sent in the Lucius P. Clay drive.

Contributions had been solicited from clubs throughout the United States and were flown by the Air Force to Europe to brighten the Christmas of children of war torn Europe.

The Woman's Civic Club sent 80 pounds of new materials of all discriptions, through its International Relations Group, with Mrs. Courtney Kidwell, chairman.

The Junior Woman's Civic Club's contribution included material for dresses, pink flannelette for layettes, besides needles, pins, threads and other sewing equipment. Mrs. F. Perry Smith, Jr., was project chairman.

Acknowledging the gifts along with others from the General Federation of Women's Clubs in America, Major Finley writes of the pleasure of distributing the donations, and the "happy appreciative faces of the recipients." He also states, "After two years of residence in Germany and with considerable experience in German Youth Activities, I can assure you that your gift will further convince the German people of the innate goodwill and generosity of the American people."

He continues, "If you have other opportunities to donate clothing or materials to needy German children, I assure you that we can make excellent use of any such donations in our German Youth Activities Program. Approximately 35,000 refugees live within our area, and several thousand of their youth come within the scope of our activities. Although the majority of these children are no longer in dire need, there are hundreds who are still in rather pitiful circumstances."

West Virginian Faces Dual Murder Charge

Attempts On Life Prove Futile

Jesse Vandevander, 48, of Cherry Grove, near Franklin, W. Va., will go on trial May 14 in Pendleton County Circuit Court on two charges of murder and two of feloniously wounding as a result of a shooting fracas February 24 during a family feud at Cherry Grove.

Vandevander is accused of slaying his two brothers, Wean Sylvester Vandevander, 61; and Jacob Vandevander, 57, who was blind.

The accused also is charged with wounding Virgil Vandevander, 25, a nephew, and Betty Alice Bennett, 50, with the same 25-35 caliber rifle used in the killing of the brothers.

The shooting took place at the home of Mrs. Ruth Ellen Vandevander, 85-year-old mother of the accused murderer.

Jesse Vandevander said the other members of the family had "been picking on me for a long time. I lost my head and started to shoot."

Prosecuting Attorney George Sponaugle said Vandevander is now held in the county jail at Franklin and will be tried before a jury on May 14. Judge Harlan M. Calhoun will preside. Sponaugle will be assisted in prosecuting the case by William McCoy, a Franklin attorney.

Vandevander has engaged John Cunningham, Franklin, and Gus Muntzing, Moorefield, W. Va., as his attorneys.

The accused murderer made an abortive attempt to commit suicide a short time after the shooting spree and wounded himself seriously on the second try. The first charge he fired went far to the left of his heart while the second struck him in the chest. He was taken to a Harrisonburg, Va., hospital where he was a patient until March 12. Vandevander was then returned to Franklin.

A grand jury returned four indictments against Vandevander as a result of the shootings.

Buckhannon Man Fatally Injured In Auto Wreck

A 77-year-old motorist was fatally hurt over the weekend when his newly purchased automobile went out of control and overturned on secondary Route 11, about 15 miles east of Romney, W. Va.

The victim, Joseph Hamilton Thompson, of Buckhannon, W. Va., died less than two hours after the accident at 8 p. m. Saturday in Winchester, Va., Memorial Hospital.

West Virginia State Police said Thompson apparently was "trying out" a 1948 Chevrolet coach which he bought the same day. Three unidentified men found the elderly man along the road and took him to Augusta, W. Va., from where he was taken to Winchester.

Authorities said Thompson's injuries included a crushed skull. Sgt. L. W. Kelley investigated.

Born April 3, 1873, in Hampshire county, W. Va., he was a son of the late Robert J. and Martha Shanhltz Thompson. Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Nezada Walker and Miss Lorena Thompson, both of Canyon City, Colo.

Friends said he had been residing and working in the Buckhannon section in recent years, but that he made frequent visits to Hampshire county.

The body is at the Combs Funeral Home, Romney. Services will be conducted today at 10:30 a. m. in Romney Christian Church, of which he was a member, by Rev. Donald K. Spangler, pastor. Burial will take place in Malick Cemetery near Hoy, W. Va.

Active pallbearers will be Roy Keister, Paul Maphis, Clint Keckley, Clarence and Merrill Wolford and Norwood Haines. Honorary pallbearers will include H. T. Shanholtzer, Hugh Dooley, John Shank, Estes Stewart, A. T. Peters and Richard Fleek.

ROAD TESTED from Quebec to Key West and back under the exacting supervision of famous American Automobile Association, test cars were not babied . . . not pampered. They were driven as you would drive your own car.
AAA Certified Results: Cars using NEW Sunoco Dynalube were driven over 2,000 miles, on the average, before a drop of oil had to be added.

AAA Certifies Road Performance of NEW Sunoco Dynalube Motor Oil for Long Mileage, Engine Cleanliness, Long Engine Life

NEW Premium Heavy-Duty Motor Oil Combines in a Single Oil All the Finest Features of America's Premium Motor Oils . . . Actually Improves the Condition of Most Engines

WHATEVER CAR YOU DRIVE . . . newest 1951 or earlier model . . . now you can give it the finest engine protection with NEW Sunoco Dynalube. This heavy-duty premium motor oil combines in a single oil all the finest features of America's leading motor oils . . . it actually improves the condition of most engines.

Take your car, for instance . . . if inferior motor oils have fouled its engine . . . if it is not delivering the top performance it was built to give, change to motor conditioning NEW Sunoco Dynalube Motor Oil today.

Or if you have a new 1951 car . . . NEW Sunoco Dynalube is one of the very few motor oils that meets or exceeds car manufacturers' recommendations for all 1951 passenger cars.

So whether you have a 1951 or earlier model, here's what NEW Sunoco Dynalube will do for your engine:

1. Tough HEAT-RESISTANT body assures you long motor oil mileage.

4. ANTI-RUST and ANTI-ACID—NEW Sunoco Dynalube counteracts two of the greatest causes of wear in any engine.
5. High FILM STRENGTH and RING-SEALING ACTION—insure longer-lasting engine efficiency.

ON SALE ONLY AT SUNOCO STATIONS AND SELECTED CAR DEALERS

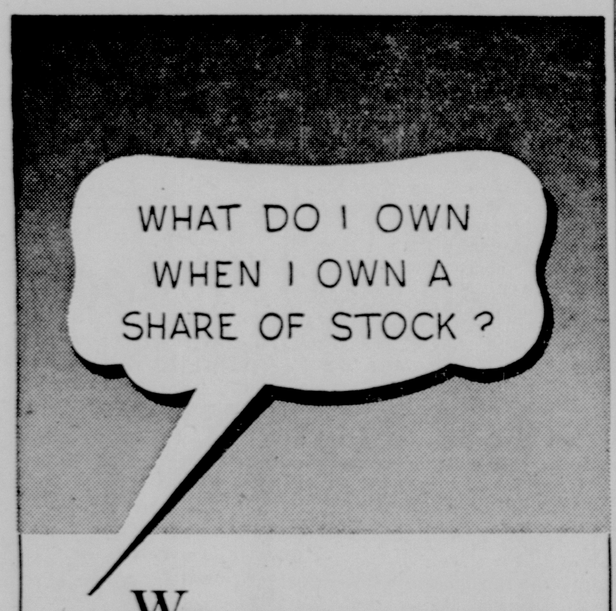

THIS FLEET of 4 popular-make cars . . . taken right off the assembly lines at Detroit . . . proved in AAA-supervised road tests how the fully-detergent cleansing action of NEW Sunoco Dynalube Motor Oil keeps engines clean.

CLEAN PISTON at right demonstrates how NEW Sunoco Dynalube keeps rings free-acting . . . keeps combustion chamber deposits to a minimum . . . counteracts attacks of acid and rust, two greatest causes of wear in any engine . . . prolongs engine life. Fouled piston with stuck rings, at left, resulted from use of inferior motor oils.

LAB FINDINGS. Valve on left shows heavy deposits resulting from use of inferior oils—a common cause of sluggish action and poor valve seating. Clean valve on right shows how NEW Sunoco Dynalube helps engines stay remarkably clean . . . keeps valves free-acting . . . maintains full engine power.

When you own a share of stock, you own a share of a business.

Let's say you own just one share of common stock in an automobile company. Then you are an owner of an interest in that company, in its factories, materials, products, reputation, even in the skill of its workers and management.

Or let's say you own a share, or ten shares, of a company in a different industry—a railroad, a drug and chemical concern, a public utility, a food processor, an airplane maker. Again you own an interest in everything that company has—its laboratories, supplies, patents, know-how.

You have a certificate showing that you are one of the legal owners. That certificate is registered in your name on the books of the company. You have the right, with other stockholders, to elect the men who run the business and who report to you on the company's operations.

The number of shares you hold measures your part of the company—your part of the profits it may earn, the dividends it may pay, the ownership risks you have assumed. Whether you own one share or seven or 1,000, you own a share of a business . . . and to that extent it is your company.

Shares in hundreds of different companies are bought and sold daily on the New York Stock Exchange by people all over the country. These companies are "listed." They met certain requirements when they placed their shares on the Exchange.

Information about prominent corporations, including earnings and dividend records, is available without obligation at offices of member firms of the New York Stock Exchange.

By C. V. BURNS

When Dr. Thomas C. Ferguson, director of health and physical education of the high schools of Maryland died recently, Secretary H. V. Porter, Chicago, of the National Federation of State High Schools, sent the following message to executives of the federation in the various states:

"Tom had been a leader for many years in physical training and athletic groups, especially in the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations. He served as an officer and member of the executive committee in both organizations.

"The school system of Maryland and of the entire nation has lost a staunch supporter and a dynamo of energy. If there is any consolation in this, he already has done in his 59 years more than his share of the world's work. The school program is strong and more vital because of his untiring efforts in the interests of health and welfare of the millions of boys and girls who have benefited from his wholesome outlook on life and his organizing ability.

Carlyle Johnson, who prepared quite a number of racing charts for the Cumberland News when he was associated with the Daily Racing Form, is handling publicity for the new track in West Virginia, Waterford Park, located 40 miles west of Pittsburgh.

The new plant opens May 19 and its first meeting runs 40 days. Total prize money will exceed $500,000.

Carlyle reports that Greg Johnson and Gil Haus, two of the old gang from Fairgo, will serve as officials at the new track.

Tony Senapole, of Ford City, and George Walsh of Pittsburgh, who officiated in the last Wheeling-Cumberland Spas playoff contests here, handled the game in which Swoyerville High whipped Chambersburg High 70-61 in the Pennsylvania Class "A" tourney.

Senapole is the best official we've seen work pro games here this season. On two occasions he teamed up with Larry Liberto to work league games here.

St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa., which twice defeated the Spas, had a 4-0 record but failed to win the Eastern Catholic Intercollegiate Athletic Conference basketball title. The Frankies were not considered because they did not play the required five games.

The Frankies had one postponed game and it was with Seton Hall.

And who won the title? Seton Hall, of course, with a 6-1 record.

George Huber, Washington (D. C.) boxing expert, writes several interesting paragraphs concerning Jack Laken, the roly-poly fight manager, who is now piloting Harold (Baby Face) Jones.

Laken, according to Huber, is now using the "broken thumb" yarn to explain how his heavyweight Maxie Baird lost a match in Baltimore recently.

"That broken thumb reminds one of Jackie Wilson, who appeared in Washington many times," Huber writes. "Wilson lost a fight here somehow on one occasion, and the next day Laken came by with an X-ray picture of a broken forearm to prove that Wilson had broken his arm during the fight.

"By some coincidence that same X-ray picture has shown up in various other parts of the country whenever another of Laken's fighters lost a bout!"

James "Rip" Collins, one-time National League home run clouter, is now in Baltimore where he will describe International League baseball games for radio and television.

Collins, who got his start in organized ball with Johnstown of the Mid-Atlantic League in 1925, and starred with the Cubs and Cardinals, has managed minor league clubs in recent years.

Hickey, Hinebaugh and Collins made up the outfield of Johnstown's M-A championship team of 26 years ago.

Harry Heilmann, one-time American League batting champion, who has been hospitalized following a heart attack, is noted as a story teller.

Hornsby was batting against Jumbo Elliott one day and let three pitches go by. Umpire Bill Klem called each of them a ball.

Elliott protested loudly, claiming all three pitches could have been called strikes. Sore and disgusted, the pitcher tried to put a fast one by and the Rajah hit it out of the park.

As Hornsby trotted around the bases, Klem removed his mask, walked to the pitcher's box and told Elliott:

Kansas State Favored Over Kentucky Five

Minneapolis Scene Of NCAA Title Tilt, Aggies Face Illini

MINNEAPOLIS, March 26 (AP)—For the first time in something like ten years Kentucky's basketball team finds itself a bit of an underdog on the eve of the finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's final playoff.

But that, says Coach Adolph Rupp, isn't worrying him. He was unconcerned as he said he had been told that his team was figured to be 2½ points under the Kansas State team. Kansas State will tangle with Kentucky tomorrow night in the Williams Arena on the University of Minnesota campus.

Rupp, who has coached Kentucky to two NCAA titles, was more concerned over Cliff Hagan, a forward. Hagan showed up today with a temperature and complained of a sore throat.

He was placed under a doctor's care, put to bed and given penicillin in an attempt to have him ready to start tomorrow night's game.

Rupp wasn't the only one concerned about the condition of his players.

Jack Gardner of the Kansas State squad didn't know whether he would have the services of Ernie Barrett, his star guard, who received a shoulder injury in the battle with Oklahoma A & M, in the western playoff final at Kansas City last Saturday night.

It was believed Barrett would be started, but Gardner said he didn't know how much he would be able to play. If Barrett can't stay in the game, Bob Rousey, a six-foot high scoring sophomore, will get his chance.

Otherwise, both squads appeared to be in pretty fair shape for the championship game. Oklahoma will play Illinois for third place in a game starting at 9 p. m. (EST) just before the Kentucky-Kansas State game.

Players on the Illinois team, beaten 76-74 in the eastern finals by Kentucky, didn't go along with the theory that the Kentuckians weren't quite as good a team as Kansas State.

In an informal poll in which 12 members of the squad were queried, they voted, eight of the Illini picked Kentucky to win, with the other four favoring K-State.

All the teams worked out this afternoon and evening on the floor in Williams Arena. A capacity crowd of more than 18,000 was expected to watch the games.

Doering Wins Open Tourney At Greensboro

Earns $2,000 With 279; Ferrier Becomes Top Money Winner

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 26 (AP)—Arthur Doering, 34-year-old Chicago shotmaker, who plays golf professionally out of Richmond, Va., finally hit the jackpot after five years of trying when he won $2,000 first money in the Greensboro Open Tournament.

The former star of the amateur ranks, who had only $800 on the current winter tour, finished with a one-under-par 37-33—70, for a five under par 279 for 72 holes and a five-stroke lead over runner up Jim Ferrier of San Francisco. Ferrier finished with 67 for 284-even par for the distance. His $1,400 pickup moved him into first place in the year's money winnings with a total of $9,662.50. He displaced Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, who tied for 11th with 292 and added $285 to his winnings, which now total $8,611.33.

Snead Earns $1,000

Sam Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who won the tournament the previous two years, came flying through the stretch with a 66, lowest round of the tournament, to finish third with 285 and earn $1,000.

But it was all Doering's show. The tall, soft-spoken pro who had never won a big one, really had it here. He had rounds of 70-71-68-70, never going over par for the 6,718-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course. He grabbed the lead in the second round and held on thereafter.

He came here rather discouraged about his future as a traveling player, he said he was shopping around for a club pro job, one that offered the security not found on the tournament chase.

For many years he was one of the ranking amateurs of the nation, but the big ones always eluded him since he turned professional.

In 1945 he won the All-American Amateur title at Chicago's Tam O' Shanter Club.

Sam Posts Two 33s

Snead, reflecting the confidence of his fellow-pros who've voted him No. 1 choice to win the Augusta Masters Tournament next week, had two 33s featured by two eagles.

Tied for fourth money at 286 were pros Jackie Burke, Houston, Earl Stewart, Jr., Dallas., and Roberto De Vicenzo, Buenos Aires.

Low amateur with 294 was Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., two strokes ahead of Harvie Ward, Tarboro, N. C. Third was Connie Sellers, Roanoke, Va., with 304.

The funeral will be held from a Back Bay funeral parlor with last rites at the Church of the Advent on Brimmer Street. Collins died last night in Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Arangements for Collins' funeral were completed as Joe Cronin, Sox' general manager, and Ted Williams, slugging left-fielder, flew from Florida to attend.

Oxford Loses To Cambridge

Latter Crew Victor By Twelve Lengths

LONDON, March 28 (INS) — Cambridge University's superbly-conditioned oarsmen rowed to a 12-length victory over Oxford's American-led shell on the choppy Thames today for their fifth straight triumph in the historic eight-oar rivalry bteween the schools.

As a result of today's victory, the Cambridge crew will leave for the United States to race against Yale and Harvard on April 14 and 19.

Coxswain George Alexander Carver of Hightown, N. J., an undergraduate from Yale now studying at Balliol College, steered and directed the Oxford crew with skill, but his boat was no match for the winning Cambridge shell, which negotiated the 4 mile course from Putney to Mortlake in 20 minutes, 50 seconds.

Thousands of spectators lined the banks of the Thames in a drizzling rain and saw Cambridge draw ahead in the first few strokes and increase its margin throughout.

The race originally had been scheduled for last Saturday, but wind and water combined to sink the Oxford shell inside the first half mile, and authorities officially postponed the event until today.

The victory for Cambridge was its 53rd in the 97 meets between the schools. Oxford has won 43, and one race resulted in a dead heat.

MICKEY MANTLE STARS

LOS ANGELES, March 26 (AP)—Mickey Mantle, sensational Yankee rookie, drove in seven runs today on a pair of homers, a bases loaded triple and a single to lead the New Yorkers to a 15-1 victory over the University of Southern California nine.

Mantle's slugging boosted his spring average to .432 and hiked his RBI total to 16. The homers were his fourth and fifth of the spring. Johnny Hopp also homered for the Yanks and Billy Johnson drove in five runs. Score:

New York Colleges To Play Basketball Games In Garden

NEW YORK, March 26—(INS)—New York University, Manhattan College and St. John's of Brooklyn absolved scandal-scarred Madison Square Garden today by announcing they will play their basketball games in that arena next season.

Representatives of the three schools met with Garden officials over the weekend and formed a sub-committee to run the sport next season.

City College of New York and LIU, who along with NYU and Manhattan have players involved in the current fix scandal, did not attend the meeting.

The sub-committee consists of officials from the schools and a Garden basketball department representative. It will determine ticket prices and allotments, team accomodations, radio-television rights and other policy.

Patty Berg Wins Tourney And $750

PINEHURST, N. C., March 26—(AP)—Patty Berg of Minneapolis, Minn., won the Sandhills Women's Open Golf Tournament going away today when she fired a three-over par 75 for a 54-hole total of 221.

She collected $750 top money in the $3,000 three-day tournament.

Willie Pep Wins

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 26. (AP)—Flashy Willie Pep slashed game but outclassed Pat Iacobucci of Cincinnati at will to win a unanimous 10-round decision tonight before 3,254 in the Miami Beach Auditorium.

"MR. SHORTSTOP" HAS PROBLEM AT SHORT

CARDS' NEW MANAGER, MARTY MARION, IS BIG ? MARK

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the 12th of a series of articles on the 1951 prospects of the major league baseball teams.

BY WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — "Mr. Shortstop," who this year is also "Mr. Manager," has a problem at—of all places—shortstop.

Of course, Marty Marion, new pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals, has other problems, too, but in camp here he said one of the most serious ones was at short.

And the team's shortstop is—Marty Marion.

"I underwent a knee operation Dec. 18," says the 33-year-old Marion, only playing manager left in the big leagues, "and I worked out here the first week and everything was okay. But then the knee began to swell and my doctor told me to stay off of it. I was breaking the adhesions. The knee is weak and some way I'll have to get it strong.

"If I can play, however, I'll be at shortstop. If not, we'll just have to find someone."

Marion says the best bet right now is a rookie, Dick Cole, regular shortstop for Rochester in the International league the last three years. Cole, who is assigned to the Rochester club, batted .278 and was one of the better infielders in the loop.

There was some talk at first of moving Red Schoendienst, the second sacker, to short but Marion nixes that idea. To wit:

"Red is only my last resort at short. He's the best second baseman in the league but that long throw from short might hurt him and I'd lose both a shortstop and a second baseman."

While shortstop appears to be the Card skipper's big problem he says there are others.

Only three spots are sure. Those are Schoendienst at second, Stan Musial in center and Enos Slaughter in right.

• — • — •

MARION is especially impressed with the way things are working out at first, behind the plate and in the box.

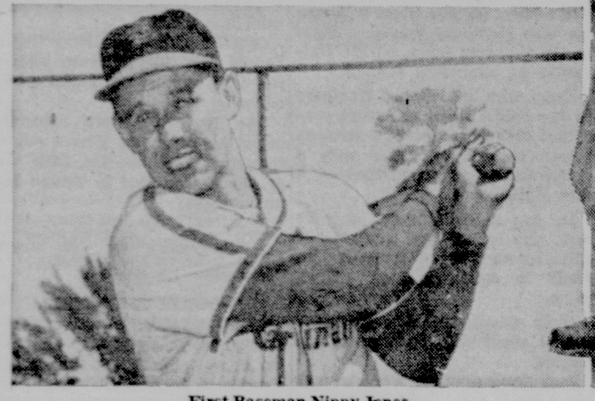

Frist first.

First Sacker Steve Bilko and Outfielder Stan Musial

Pitcher Gerald Staley

First Baseman Nippy Jones

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS
Finish in '50: Fifth
Last pennant: 1946
Leading pitcher:
Howie Pollett (14-13)
Leading hitter:
Stan Musial (.346)
(Averages are for 1950)

"We've a happy problem here," he says. "Nippy Jones has looked very good. If his back doesn't bother him we're all set. Jones, a regular in 1948-49, had a spinal disk removed from his back and last year he got in only 13 games. In 1949 he hit .300 for us.

"Big Steve Bilko came to camp this year weighing only 235. He could be a big leaguer. And one of our rookies, Don Bollweg, who was with Rochester last year, has impressed me with his running and hustle."

Bilko, the man mountain of the 1950 training camp, came up as a sure-fire star. He didn't stick, however, and went to Rochester where he hit .290.

"Our catching," says Marion, "is a happy thing. Joe Garagiola, our best hitter here, has come back with all ailments cleared up. We know Del Rice is a good receiver and Bill Sarni, a rookie, has looked good. If Garagiola can hit left-handed pitching, we'll be all set."

At third base Marion is much impressed with Don Richmond, another Rochester boy. Richmond smacked 18 home runs for that club last year while turning in a .333 batting mark.

The Redbirds' skipper has one outfield spot to fill and he's looking for a right handed batter. Best of the hopefuls for the one unfilled spot are Larry Miggins a .280 hitter with Columbus in 1950; Larry Ciaffone, a .324 belter with Rochester, and two holdovers from last year, Bill Howerton and Hal Rice.

• — • — •

AND NOW to the pitching, which bogged down last year and was one of the reasons the Cards dropped to fifth place.

"Our pitching looks very good," says the new skipper. We want a sound pitching staff with a few veterans but with an accent on youth."

"At this stage," he said, "I'd say that my big five are Cloyd Boyer, Howie Pollett, Tom Poholsky, Red Munger and Gerald Staley."

Boyer, a righthander, won seven and lost seven last year. Pollett, a holdout at this writing, won 14 and lost 13. Munger, a veteran, too, was 7-8. Staley had 13-13. Poholsky, a righthander, won 18 and lost six for Rochester.

In addition to these Marion can call on Max Lanier, 11-9; Harry Brecheen, 8-11, or Irv Dusak, who was tronsformed from an infielder-outfielder to pitcher two years ago and will be used only as a pitcher.

Marion says his relief man will be Alpha Brazle, a southpaw who got in 46 games last year. Ted Wilks, who was No. 1 in this department, had a sore arm last year and helped little.

The rookie contingent is big and impressive. Most publicized of all the rookies is Wilmer David Mizell, a Mississippi youth who is known as "Vinegar Bend" and is quite a character. He has had only two years of pro ball but struck out 227 in 207 innings while winning 17 games for Winston-Salem last season.

Marion's eye also is on Joe Presko, a "midget" rightie who won 16 games for last-place Houston last year. Still another is Kurt Krieger, a 17-5 guy with Columbus in 1950. John Yuhas, who won 15 for Rochester, has been playing Cuban ball and had not reported to camp as this was written.

Marion is working his boys hard. He has substituted runing for calisthenics and has added bunting instruction and sliding pits.

McKeldin Tells Md. Legislature He Won't Indulge In "Bossism"

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 26 (AP)—The Maryland Legislature of 1951 and the Assembly of 1649 were alike in one way, Gov. McKeldin said today.

They were not under the domination of "mailed-fist leadership."

The governor, in a Maryland Day address before a joint session of House and Senate, referred to "those who lament what they call the lack of leadership." As for himself, he has no intention of indulging in "bossism."

Maryland Day—observance of the landing of the ships the Ark and the Dove 317 years ago—actually is March 25. This year it was observed on Monday.

McKeldin in his address told the assembly:

"I, who have observed the passing scene in Maryland, in and out of public office for several years, consider this one of the finest legislatures in the history of the state.

"As the closing date of the session draws near, we can see in retrospect orderly delibdrations, careful consideration for the matters before you, and sincere thought as to your responsibilities.

"There are those who lament what they call the lack of leadership.

"You were not elected by your city districts and by your counties to be led by some arbitrarily dictated officers or by someone elected to serve in an entirely separate branch of the state government. You were elected by the people of your districts or countis to represent them and to perform your duties here in accordance with your own intelligence.

"It is well to remember that some of those who now seem so deeply aggrieved by what they call the lack of leadership are the same who shout of bossism when the executive attempts to rule the legislature."

Going back to the first General Assembly 302 years ago, McKeldin noted that it took 19 days to consider 16 bills. This year, in the last week of a 90-day session, 1,256 bills have been introduced.

be by means of other than the diversion of money allotments which would seriously cripple the road maintenance and construction programs throughout the entire state."

Earlier in the day, the Senate favored a referendum on whether the state should continue taxing real estate but lacked the votes to put it through finally.

By a count of 15-14 senators tentatively approved a bill to amend Maryland's constitution to eliminate the property tax. The people would have a chance to vote on the proposal in November 1952.

The favorable vote fell short by three of the 18 necessary to pass measures proposing constitutional amendments. That many would have to change their minds to move the bill to the House when it comes up for a final Senate rollcall in the next few days.

Pair Refuses

called O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, has been working on gambling and police graft. It is ready to inquire into the mysterious death in 1941 of a hoodlum named Abe Reles, informer on the notorious Murder, Inc., killer mob. This took place while O'Dwyer was prosecuting attorney.

The perjury charge brought against Moran was based on his testimony before the Senate crime committee. Moran is a former New York City water commissioner and a longtime friend of O'Dwyer.

Attorney General McGrath, also appearing before the Senate group, said Racketeer Frank Costello can't be deported or deprived of his citizenship because he wasn't convicted of two serious crimes within five years of coming to this country from Italy.

Blow On His Head Fractures Ankle

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., March 26 (AP)—It can happen. A man can get hit on the head hard enough to break an ankle.

Dr. Walter L. Straughan, 72-year-old Crawfordsville physician, was felling a tree at his home here today.

As the tree fell it struck the doctor on the head. He suffered a badly bruised head and a broken ankle.

Baltimore Mayor Predicts Victory

BALTIMORE, March 26 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro expressed confidence today he will get the Democratic nomination for a second term in Baltimore's municipal primaries tomorrow.

The former Maryland Congressman rounded out his campaign with nearly all the city's Democratic factions and bosslets on his bandwagon.

The main last-minute interest was on efforts by the various factions to get the Mayor's favor for their candidates for lesser places on the ticket.

D'Alesandro is opposed for the top spot by Charles G. Griebel, 37-year-old automobile sales executive.

The Mayor predicted no more than 35 per cent of the city's 291,000 registered Democrats will go to the polls. His confidence was pinned to the expectations of a small turnout and the knowledge that all the factions, the ward and legislative district organizations throughout the city, have been for him.

On the Republican side, Joseph L. Carter, a close friend of Gov. McKeldin and chairman of the GOP State Central Committee, has the solid backing of the party organization. Louis R. Lillio, a young orator, is running against him.

Baltimore Sergeant Posthumously Awarded Congressional Medal

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—William R. Jecelin, a fighting sergeant from Baltimore, has been posthumously awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroism in the Korean war.

In announcing the award, the defense Department said Jacelin is the sixth soldier to win the nation's highest military honor during the Korean campaign.

The 20-year-old infantry sergeant was killed instantly when he smothered an enemy grenade that was thrown in the midst of his platoon. The department said his "incredible courage and willingness to sacrifice himself" saved the lives of at least five members of his squad.

Dogs Halt Two Trains

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Two trains were stopped today—by two Great Danes.

The New York Central Railroad said one Manhattan-bound commuter train was halted 13 minutes, and another 20 minutes while crews chased the two dogs off the tracks in the Bronx.

Walburn Trial Starts Today

The second trial for James Roscoe Walburn, charged with beating his baby son into unconsciousness, will begin this morning in the Garrett County Circuit Court at Oakland before a jury.

Associate Judge George Henderson will preside.

Walburn, who normally resides in Martinsburg, W. Va., was found guilty last March 28 by former Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., on a charge of beating his baby son and was sentenced to eight years in the Maryland House of Correction. The beating allegedly occurred in October, 1949, in a cabin on Deep Creek Lake, where the Walburns temporarily were residing. Judge Bruce later granted a motion by defense attorneys for a new trial.

Hugh Ream, charged with non-support of his eight children was given a six month term in the Oakland jail, but it was suspended on condition he pay $75 bi-monthly for their support. His case was tried before a jury.

Vernard R. Ludwig, charged with passing three worthless checks, received a one-year suspended sentence to the Maryland House of Correction on condition he make restitution and be of good behavior.

James Thomas Moon, 17, and John R. Wright, 16, charged with the theft of a truck owned by Arthur Lake, of near Swanton, were placed on probation for three years. They were ordered to report to the Maryland Department of Parole and Probation regularly.

W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney for Garrett county, prosecuted the cases.

U. S. Corps of Engineers and also a separate investigation by George & Lynch, Inc., the contractors. The results of the Corps of Engineers investigation will be entirely factual and unbiased and will be made public upon its completion.

There have been numerous instances of children found playing and trespassing upon the work area and they have been warned by police officers, and the employees of George & Lynch and the Corps of Engineers. It is my opinion that the Mayor and City Council should recommend to the Corps of Engineers that "No Trespassing" signs be placed at close intervals along the work area and that City Police officers who find children trespassing upon the work area detain them and release them only into the custody of the parents.

Since the completed construction will probably at times of heavy rain and high runoff, have pools of water at various intake points, it would be advisable to ask the Corps of Engineers to review the plans and through a change order to the Contractor, or in a future contract make provisions for the incorporation of suitable barrier or fences to minimize the hazards.

There are always hazards inherent in any heavy construction operation. These hazards can be kept to a minimum through the cooperation of all persons connected with the work. Therefore, I recommend that the Corps of Engineers and the Contractor make a thorough investigation of all hazards and make a special effort to provide all possible protection. Also, the unions whose workers are on the project should, through their members call to the attention of the supervising personnel any hazards noticed by the individual workers.

A program of public education could be carried on through warnings to the children in the schools.

I feel sure that the newspapers will cooperate by publishing any material that might be made available to them to inform the public of the hazards.

Can you change your looks with every costume and still manage to look exactly like yourself? Here's how!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

In fashion shows, models perform fascinating changes with lightning speed that amaze non-professional beauties. In a matter of minutes, the model reappears with not only a complete change of costume, and perfect grooming, but a subtle, interesting variation in her own looks. "How can she do it and still manage to look so much her own, natural self?" is what people continually want to know.

Making your looks dovetail with the mood of the clothes you wear on any occasion is an intriguing performance; it requires the development of a high degree of sensitivity to time and place, and it is a skill that will enhance any woman's charm.

One Model's Performance

To illustrate, let me describe how Model Maggie M. achieved this goal in a recent big show.

Her first appearance was in a country-type tweed suit, for which she wore her hair brushed back in deceptively casual waves. Her make-up was underplayed to the point of seeming non-existant. Her smile was big as all outdoors. Her stride was free and covered the ground as though she were going places. You could almost smell the good earth even in that crowded room. That is being one with your clothes, the great accomplishment of a finished personality!

Ten minutes later, she came back on stage in evening attire. The same Maggie, but enchantingly different because of subtle changes . . . the kind that make you remember a woman.

Playing The Role

Her hair looked just as natural as before, but a little more formal — as if in recognition of the importance of the occasion. Her make-up was also just as natural, only her color was heightened as excitement might make it. Her stride had a glide in it and her smile a "come-hither." You could almost hear, the music of Mr. Strauss!

You can accomplish such a transformation and still remain yourself just as Maggie did. Maggie worked for a long time to cultivate her unerring sense of fitness for people, places, hours and occasions. A similar growth in any woman makes her a popular and sought after figure. Everybody feels that they can rely on a woman who knows what to do and when!

Vehicle Tags Are Good Indefinitely

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 26 (AP)—Current license tags will be good indefinitely, Governor McKeldin announced tonight.

The deadline had been March 31. A shortage of metals, however, has slowed down the manufacture of Maryland's new white-on-black auto and truck plates.

In view of this, the governor wrote Thomas B. R. Mudd, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

"Due to the emergency existing in connection with the issuance of motor vehicle license plates, caused by a shortage in supply, you are hereby authorized to extend the expiration date of all classes of registrations until the said emergency terminates."

Mudd had announced earlier that mailed requests for tag replacements had been delayed because of a bottleneck in shipments.

Capt. Doris F. Jensen To Address Nurses

Area nurses will hear Capt. Doris F. Jensen, Army Nurse Corps, who is in charge of nurse procurement for the army, speak at Memorial Hospital at 6 p. m. today.

Capt. Jensen will accept applications for commissions in the Army Nurse Corps from graduate nurses who are interested. Any graduate of an accredited nursing school may apply, and if accepted will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the corps.

Nurses who apply for immediate active duty will be sent to Brooke Army Medical Cented, San Antonio, Tex., for a six-weeks indoctrination course.

Expenses to and from San Antonio will be provided and nurses will receive pay and allowances of a second lieutenant in the Army Nurse Corps while on duty.

Capt. Jensen will be in the local office of the Organized Reserve Corps tomorrow morning to accept applications.

City Orchestra, Choral Group To Hold Concert

A joint Civic Orchestra and Choral Society concert will be held next Tuesday April 3 at 8:15 p. m. in Allegany High School auditorium. The orchestra comprised of 45 members will be directed by S. Lua Syckes. Jack Platt will direct the choral group of 80.

"Rhapsody In Blue" will be featured on the ll-Gershwin program. Aden Lewis will be piano soloist for the selection and will be accompanied by the orchestra.

The orchestra will play several numbers and the choral group will sing various Gershwin songs. The combined efforts of the two will present concluding number, "Porgy and Bess."

A silver offering will be taken. A rehearsal will be held this evening by both groups at 8 o'clock in the auditorium. Another rehearsal will be held next Monday.

Rehearsal To Be Held By Rebekah Assembly

A rehearsal for the State Rebekah Assembly to be held here April 2, 3 and 4 will be conducted at the local Elks Home tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

Colfax Lodge No. 1, host to the state convention, will be in charge of the rehearsal and the auxiliary to Canton No. 4, Patriarch Militant, will escort officers of the assembly at the session.

The regular officers march and degree team program will also be practiced. Mrs. Gertrude Leasure noble grand of Colfax Lodge, will be in charge.

Will Probated

The will of Clayton C. Lee, 80-year old Bowman's Addition resident, who died March 13, was admitted to probate last week in Orphan's Court.

Roy C. Lee, Wellersburg, Pa., a son, was named executor.

The estate, real, personal and mixed, was ordered divided into six equal shares. Five will go to his children, Roy C. Lee, Carrie E. Kiel, Alma M. Browning, Charles Lee and Ada B. Bailey, and the sixth will be shared by three grandchildren, Alice May Bridges, Pauline Bennett and Pearl Bennett.

Draft Boards Decrease Quotas

The number of men to be inducted into the armed services during April has been cut 50 per cent according to information received yesterday morning by P. Emmett Fahey, local selective service clerk.

Fahey was notified yesterday by telephone of the change in plans. He said he expected confirmation by letter today.

The order affects 15 men scheduled to be sent by Frostburg Draft Board No. 30, April 9 as well as Keyser, W. Va. Board No. 36 from which 13 men were to be inducted.

Board 30 will furnish eight men while 36 will send seven under the new order.

Selective service officials say the change in plans resulted from an unexpected increase in enlistments and because there are not enough junior officers available to train the large number of inductees scheduled to be drafted under previous plans.

10,530 Tax Returns Filed At Local Office

The Cumberland office of the Internal Revenue Bureau handled 10,530 income tax returns during the period from January 1 to March 15, the deadline for filing returns, according to Richard J. Stakem, division chief.

Stakem said that the bureau does not allow the publication of the amount of money involved. He pointed out that the number included many joint returns filed by husbands and wives. Most husbands and wives file jointly as under this method they usually fare better than if they file separately.

About 1,000 taxpayers visited the division offices on the third floor of the Post Office building each week during the filing period, Stakem said.

Columbia Street PTA To Hold Square Dance

An old-fashioned square dance will be held on Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Queen City Hotel ballroom. The music for the dance sponsored by the Columbia Street PTA will be provided by the Fort Hill High School hill-billy band.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to defray expenses of a projector at the Columbia Street school. Refreshments will be served.

Edmund Hoey, city recreation director, will call figures. Frank Kaplon chairman of the committee is being assisted by Walter Maxey, Ernest Killingsworth, and Walter Bell. Tickets may be obtained from committee members or at the door.

Eastside Answers Calls

East Side Fire Company answered two calls yesterday. The motor on a heating fan caught fire at the Schwab Company, 900 Frederick Street at 8:11 a. m. The motor was ruined as a result of the blaze.

Dry grass and trees caught fire at the top of Schriver's Hill yesterday afternoon and firemen reported about ten acres were scorched.

Concert To Be April 4

The April meeting of the Junior Extension 4-H Club will be held April 4 at 8 p. m., at Allegany High School auditorium, at which time there will be a concert by the University of Maryland Glee Club.

The business session will not be held. Miss Ada Ford announces the All Stars will meet immediately following the concert.

Elks To Meet

Fort Cumberland Lodge No. 176, Colored Elks, will meet tonight at 9 o'clock at the lodge home to arrange for fraternal services for Lafayette Robinson, who died Sunday afternoon.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Cards of Thanks

We take this means of thanking our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during the illness and in our bereavement of our beloved mother, Mrs. Maggie E. Beane. We especially want to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, donated cars and Rev. Kenneth N. Hayes for his comforting words.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Rebecca Johnston who passed away 28 years ago March 27, 1923.
No one knows how much we miss you.
No one knows the bitter pain.
This world would seem like heaven
If we had you back again.

Leading Stocks Achieve Narrow Price Advances

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Leading stocks achieved narrow price advances in late trading today.

The market was well mixed through much of the session. Aircrafts and rail shares were ahead most of the day and when airlines and other selected favorites showed some demand, a timid upturn got under way.

Although most gains were measured in cents, a few ranged to as much as $2 a share.

The improvement was reflected in the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, which climbed .4 of a point to 93.1.

Total sales amounted to only 1,230,000 shares, slightly under the 1,290,000 recorded last Thursday in the preceding full session.

Among the leading aircraft shares, Boeing pushed ahead 2 ⅛ at 49 ⅝; Douglas 2 at 95, and Lockheed ¾ at 34 ¾. Indicative of their expansion programs was Boeing's disclosure that it planned to acquire more than $10,000,000 of new machinery and equipment.

Air and rail transport issues moved up. Trans World Airlines gained 1 ⅛ at 25 ¼, United Airlines ⅞ at 29 ⅛, Union Pacific 1 at 102, Southern Railway ¾ at 52 ¼, and New York Central, the second most active issue, ⅝ at 20 ⅜.

International Telephone was the market leader in activity, but finished the day unchanged at 16.

Rock. They have not yet been to Williamsburg in Virginia or to the Lincoln shrine in New Salem, Illinois.

When they are taken to those places, their imagination will roam among living things. Here at Independence Hall that feeling of the living is missing and children must have that if they are to understand the quality of a place.

No millions are too many to spend upon a complete restoration of this area, until an American child can see in his mind's eye the grand flourish of John Hancock's pen and the the aged Benjamin Franklin being assisted to his seat, and the philosophic Thomas Jefferson writing: "When in the course of human events. . ." and realize that it was to this place that George Washington rode to assume a leadership that is never to be forgotten.

Perhaps if we made much of our national shrines and brought our children to them, they would be more truly bound, in these queer and disconcerting days, to our great national traditions.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Alexander F. Watkins, vs. Mamie B. Watkins, No. 22106 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

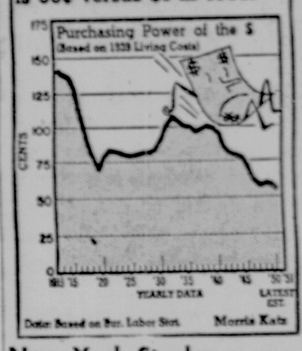

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce, divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states that the parties were married on December 25th 1948. That the defendant deserted the plaintiff on May 15 1949, without just cause or reason, and that said desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff has resided in Allegany County for more than one year next before the filing of this suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her present address and whereabouts unknown to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon this 9th day of March, 1951 by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 11th day of April, 1951 give notice to the non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this suit, warning her to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 28th day of April, 1951 to show cause if any she may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Matter Of Fact

French and British to want to hold a Big Four Conference at any cost has other reasons besides public opinion.

For the future, it is clear that the organizers of the defense of the West are impaled on the horns of an agonizing dilemma. One horn is the fact, acknowledged by every general staff in Europe with the French and British conspicuously in the lead, that a solid defense of Western Europe cannot possibly be built up without a fairly important contribution of Germany divisions. The other horn is the fact, which has already made so many difficulties, that natural national memories make the French people intensely, emotionally reluctant to see German armed forces recreated.

By their war of nerves offensive, the Soviets are now taking shrewd advantage of this dilemma. They too recognize that a solid Western defense is not possible without an eventual German contribution. And they therefore hope to scuttle Western defense plans by playing on the French national mood, causing the French leaders to say "we cannot risk a war over German divisions," just as they once said, "We cannot fight for Berlin." Already here in Germany, certain eminent Frenchmen are saying almost this.

The masters of the Kremlin, moreover, have already set the stage for the kind of plausible arrangement that will make appeasement easy at the Foreign Ministers Conference. The first year of training of their own Eastern German divisions, the so-called Bereitschaftpolizei, was not very successful. At the last moment, this January, the Soviet Kommandatura cancelled the order to call up 200,000 additional recruits, and re-commenced basic training of the 50 or 60 thousand men already under arms.

Hence the Kremlin can easily sacrifice this German force. In addition Vishinsky can also offer to reduce the Soviet divisions in East Germany to perhaps 20, asking in return guarantee that no West Germans will be rearmed, and that British, French and American divisions in Western Germany will also be limited. The Western defense effort will then be stopped dead in its tracks. Yet the Kremlin will still be able at any moment to draw on its vast reserves in the Soviet Union, rebuilding its East German armies at the rate of one or two divisions per day.

This arrangement is the sort of self-deluding folly that the Council of Foreign Ministers can all too easily lead to. And even if the Council of Foreign Ministers is surmounted without disaster, the offensive in the nerve war can be

Showdown Expected On Two Measures

A showdown is slated this week on the question of home rule for Cumberland as the result of passage, last night by the Senate of a constitutional home rule bill and House approval of a statutory home rule measure.

Passed by the Senate was SB385, which would amend the state constitution to provide for the election of a Cumberland charter board and the preparation of a city charter, subject to a referendum.

It would provide a type of limited constitutional home rule such as exists in Baltimore.

The bill was introduced by the Senate minority leaders early this month at the request of the Mayor and Council.

The delegation sponsored statutory home rule bill, HB 523, passed the House last night. It would allow the city, by referendum of its citizens, to amend its charter.

The delegation also introduced a constitutional home rule bill, now in the hands of the House Judiciary committee. The Delegation said it is not expected to be reported out of committee.

Fifteen Bills Passed

Fifteen local bills pertaining specifically to Allegany County and communities within the county were passed last night by the House of Delegates meeting in a long session at Annapolis.

Another local bill for Garrett County was passed by the House of Delegates and two other Garrett County measures were given favorable votes by the Senate last night.

The Allegany measures:—

HB64—by Allegany Delegation—striking out the provision that candidates for Mayor or City Councilman of Cumberland may be nominated by petition; specifying that all candidates for Mayor and Councilman must have been residents of Cumberland for at least five years.

Lonaconing Bills

HB149—by Cook—increasing the pay of the Mayor of Lonaconing from $100 to $200 annually, and raising the compensation of Councilman from $2 for each council meeting attended to $5.

HB163—by Allegany Delegation—to specify that the Allegany County Commissioners may let contracts for purchase of supplies and materials without competitive bid if total contract does not exceed $3,500 (amended).

HB162—by Cook—allowing the Allegany County Circuit Court Clerk to spend $2,000 annually for the preparation of county land records.

HB207—by Allegany Delegation—to set up a special Cresaptown Tax Levy Area for payment of street lighting (amended).

Another Deputy

HB220—by Reed, See, Kelly, Driscoll, Cook—to increase the number of Allegany County Deputy Sheriffs from four to five and to increase their annual salaries from $2,400 to $3,000 (emergency amendment).

HB352—by Whitworth—increasing the maximum tax rate of the town of Luke from 50 cents to 75 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

HB396—by Allegany Delegation—authorizing the Mayor and Councilmen of Frostburg to borrow up to $100,000 for town improvements.

HB407—by Whitworth—specifying that the Town of Westernport shall be liable for damage suits for injury only if notice in writing is given to the Mayor and Council within 30 days after injury is suffered.

May Borrow

HB447—by Allegany Delegation—authorizing Cumberland to borrow or accept as an advance $56,000 from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency for the preparation of plans for a sewage disposal and treatment system.

HB472—by Allegany Delegation—to change the date from which the Mayor and City Councilmen of Cumberland shall hold office from the first Monday in April to the first Monday in July next succeeding their election (amended).

HB473—by Allegany Delegation—setting up a system of continuous registration for municipal elections in the City of Cumberland.

HB523—by Allegany Delegation—authorizing the City of Cumberland by public referendum to amend its charter.

HB527—by Allegany Delegation—to authorize the Mayor and Council of Cumberland to acquire property for a municipal parking lot (amended).

HB256—by Driscoll—to set a minimum pay for judges and clerks of election in Allegany County at $1 per hour.

Garrett Bills

The Garrett County measure approved was HB63?, by the Garrett Delegation, to allow persons aged 70 or over to fish in non-tidal waters without a permit.

Both proposals passed by the Senate were bills introduced by Senator Fraley. They are SB115 to set up an occupation tax of seven per cent of the market value on natural gas taken from the earth or waters of Garrett County, as amended, and SB265 to repeal requirement of a flagman at a railroad crossing in Oakland.

Pfeiffer To Receive Court Hearing Today

Officer George Pfeiffer of the City Police Department will receive a hearing in Trial Magistrate's Court today at 9:30 a. m. on assault charges resulting from the arrest of Herman Brant, Ridgeley, W. Va. on a bus in South Cumberland January 30.

Ridgeley VFW Post Will Be Formed Friday

A meeting will be held in the Firemen's Hall at Ridgeley, W. Va., at 7:30 p. m. Friday for the formation of a Veterans of Foreign Wars Post in that community, Nelson Brant said last night.

Brant, a former commander of Knobley Mountain Post, American Legion, said that a number of men in Ridgeley eligible for VFW membership have been discussing the formation of a new post there for some time.

An invitation has been extended to all interested overseas veterans of either World War I or World War II to attend the organizational meeting Friday night.

Rubber Local Asks Truman To Aid City

Urges Action To Help Area Employment

In an effort to bolster the economic situation in Cumberland and Allegany County, the United Rubber Workers Local No. 26, has written several letters to President Harry S. Truman and Economic Stabilizer John R. Steelman urging immediate action to alleviate the stress of the local community.

Ralph C. Beard, vice president of URCLPWA-CIO said yesterday he had received a reply from Senator Herbert R. O'Conor relative to the letters sent to Steelman and the president, copies of which were also mailed to Senator O'Conor and Senator John Marshall Butler.

Outlines Conditions

Beard outlined the economic situation in Cumberland and the surrounding area in the letters, stating the lack of material had caused furloughs in two major industries, the Celanese plant and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, and the local area was classified as an "emergency" area.

A second letter to Steelman from the United Rubber Workers reported that, despite efforts to obtain materials and help the situation here, conditions had become worse with a 10 per cent furlough at the Kelly due to lack of material.

O'Conor, in his reply to Beard, noted that House Joint Resolution No. 5, requesting the Office of Defense Mobilization to establish defense industries in the city of Cumberland and Allegany County had been reprinted in the Congressional Record of March 21, 1951.

Labor, Housing Available

O'Conor pointed out that an area which has the labor and housing available when so many other areas lack those two essentials should be given preference when plans are made for new industrial facilities.

The joint resolution which previously had been inserted in the Congressional Record after being referred to the Committee on Banking and Currency noted that Cumberland offered splendid possibilities for the establishment of defense and military industries with available manpower, raw materials and being a railroad center.

Copies of the resolution were sent to the President, to Charles E. Wilson, director of Office of Defense Mobilization, and to each member of Maryland delegation in Congress of United States.

Beard said last night he had hopes more direct action would bring about the desired results in getting Cumberland over the "hump" and out of the emergency status.

WEATHER

Spring was still trying to break through yesterday but a keen wind made the day anything but seasonal. Constitution Park weather station reported the highest temperature for the day was 43 while a chilly 21 was low for the 24 hour period. Mercury stood at 32 last night at 9 o'clock. The weatherman's prediction for today is for milder with rain expected in this area late tonight. Highest temperatures are expected to be in the 50's.

University Mixed Chorus To Give Concert April 4

The University of Maryland's men's glee club and women's chorus will present a concert at Allegany High School Wednesday, April 4, at 8 p. m., Miss Mary Murray, member of sponsoring committee, announced last night.

The choral group then will participate in a "Mixer" following the concert in the school gymnasium. This will be a combination dance and get-together by members of the visiting group and university alumni.

This will be the first visit of the choral group to Cumberland since 1941. The university singers are under the direction of Dr. Harlan Randall and will visit Hagerstown and Frostburg in addition to Cumberland on their tour through Western Maryland. The singers will appear at Beall High School, Frostburg, in the afternoon of April 4, and at Allegany that evening, Miss Murray said.

The public is invited to both concerts and a silver offering will be taken to help defray the costs of the 70-member ensemble.

The combined choruses are sponsored by University of Maryland alumni groups. Members of the committee in charge of arrangements include John M. Robb, chairman; Dr. J. Russell Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Reford Aldridge, Miss Helen McFerran, Miss Ann Tennant; James McHenry and Miss Murray.

Music for dancing will be furnished by an instrumentalist group from the univesity.

Red Cross Exceeds County Quota

Division chairmen applaud as General Chairman William C. Walsh announces the final total of contributions for the 1951 Red Cross campaign in Allegany County at the last report meeting of the group yesterday evening at Central YMCA. Final reports revealed the county had exceeded its quota of $26,796 by $3,896 in raising $30,692.68 with many of the division chairmen filing incomplete reports at the dinner-meeting. Shown at the speakers' table are Henry Mackey, co-chairman of Advanced Gifts section; Mrs. Charles Helmrich, co-chairman of Women's division; Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter; Chairman Walsh; Mrs. Harry Beneman; Mrs. Holmes Cessna, co-chairman of Women's section; and William Lewis, chairman of the county group.

Flood Project Hazard Eliminated

The above scene shows the elimination of the flood control hazard near Furnace Street where Ronald Keith Knippenberg was a victim of drowning last Tuesday evening. The culvert where the pool had formed can be seen above the NEWS sticker. The hole has been drained and leveled over by workers. Excess water now drains from the area into Dry Run which empties into the Valley Street pressure conduit. A section of the Valley Street coffer dam, a phase of the city flood project can be seen at the right.

Kimble Asked To Oppose City Salary Boost

Said To Be Example Of Pressure Politics

The city last night voted to ask Senator Robert B. Kimble to oppose a Delegation sponsored bill providing flat $12 a month wage boosts for Cumberland police and firemen.

The action was passed four to one, with Mayor Thomas S. Post dissenting.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, recommended that the Council ask the Senate minority leader to oppose the increase for police and firemen.

She pointed out that the Delegation refused to grant the city the special taxing powers it requested and only provided a five cent increase in the tax rate—and that it is a serious question whether real estate should be further burdened.

The bill as passed, she added, discriminates against other city employes and is a typical example of "pressure politics."

Following a fairly lengthy pause, during which the issue stood in doubt for lack of a second, Commissioner William H. Buchholtz seconded the motion.

Commissioner John J. Long pointed out that the departments went to Annapolis without presenting the bill to the Council for approval.

Mrs. Roeder added that the city might have at least been notified of the action.

Saying he has never opposed an increase for any department, Mayor Post commented that he believes the police and firemen need more money to meet rising living costs . . . and that all other departments would like an increase.

Mayor Post added he wants all workers not covered by the boost included, with the cost covered by proper taxation.

Pointing out that the police and fire budget was stretched to cover last December's cost of living increase of $13 a month, Commissioner Long said he was interested in knowing where the money was to come from.

Calvin Shipes, an official of Local 812, Municipal Workers Union (AFL), said that union went on record as supporting the boost for police and firemen and did not sign a petition asking for a boost for its members.

Engineer Gives City Report On Flood Project Drowning

Recommendations resulting from his investigation of the drowning of Ronald Keith Knippenberg, in a flood control project pool above the Furnace and Valley Streets coffer dam, are contained in a report by Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer on the project.

Paye suggests a program of "safety" education in the public schools, through newspapers, and by labor unions, the contractor, policemen, engineers and workmen on the job.

The engineer also recommends that barriers be erected around water and other hazards created by the project, that the project be posted, and children who refuse to obey warnings of the signs, workmen, policemen etc., be taken to police headquarters and released only in the custody of their parents.

Payes report, as submitted to Mayor Thomas S. Post last night, follows:

Several years ago the City of Cumberland entered into an agreement with the U. S. Government which gave the Government authority to construct Flood Protection facilities in Cumberland and Ridgeley along and adjacent to the Potomac River and Wills Creek according to plans prepared by the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

According to the agreement, all of the construction is to be done by contractors selected by the Corps of Engineers on the basis of competitive bids. The work is also to be done according to detailed plans and specifications prepared by the Corps of Engineers and under their supervision, direction and inspection. The work is also paid for by the government.

The City is obligated under the agreement to acquire and pay for the property and rights-of-way necessary to the construction and to reimburse the government for whatever expense it incurs for the removal, relocation, construction and reconstruction of gas lines, water lines, power and telephone facilities, and sewers. All of these items are done by the contractor for the Corps of Engineers or the owners of the utilities involved.

The Corps of Engineers direct and supervise the operations of their contractor and are the only persons who have any authority over his operations.

The specifications governing the contractors operations have complete safety requirements and the Corps of Engineers maintain safety supervisors who make periodic inspections, with respect to safety requirements, of the contractors plant, equipment and operations and take the appropriate action under the specifications where infractions are noted. Also the contractor is required by the specifications to maintain adequate public liability and property damage insurance. The insurance carriers also make periodic inspections through their safety engineers.

The City of Cumberland has no jurisdiction over the operations of the Contractor.

Upon completion of the construction of the project, the facilities are turned over to the City for maintenance and operation.

The fatal accident of Tuesday, March 20th occurred beyond the end of Furnace Street on the County Home property in the field at a point approximately seventy-five feet from the road to the County Home.

Ronald Knippenberg drowned in a pool of water approximately four feet deep, fifteen feet wide and twenty feet long which had accumulated at the outlet end of a four-foot square culvert which had been constructed under the project plans to carry the drainage from an existing culvert under the County Home road to a point above the new detention dam, so that the drainage could be diverted into the stream which is to be carried to Wills Creek through the Valley Street Pressure Conduit.

A thorough investigation of the circumstances is being made by the Major W. H. Weber, field force commander, sent out a teletype message from state headquarters here ordering troop commanders to call on county officers and "integrate methods toward handling enforcement against narcotics."

He said the purpose is to "insure that we are not working at cross purposes."

All troopers were directed to report to their commanders any knowledge they have of illicit traffic in narcotics.

Two Garbage Removal Bids Submitted

Riley, Dougherty Seek City Contract

Bids of $65,940 and $67,445 were submitted to the Mayor and Council last night for garbage removal in this city next year.

They were submitted by Emmett A. Dougherty, present holder of the contract, who asked $67,445, and J. Riley and Son, 507 Louisiana Avenue, who submitted a low bid of $65,940.

The bids were referred to the Department of Streets and Public Property and the Health Department.

The contract calling for the removal of garbage, ashes, rubbish, paper and small dead animals, will run from May 1, 1951, to April 30, 1952.

Dougherty, who cited an operating loss this year on the garbage removal contract, upped his last year's bid by $5,000.

He cited that his equipment included six metal covered trucks, two open steel trucks and a small station wagon for removing dead animals.

Riley said he has five two-ton trucks which would make collections possible between the hours of 11 p. m. to 7 a. m.

City Is Taking Steps To End Flood Hazards

Action Urged By Columbia St. PTA

The Mayor and Council announced last night that all efforts are being made to eliminate hazards in connection with the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

The announcement was made by Mayor Thomas S. Post following the reading of a letter from the Columbia Street Parent-Teacher Association.

The letter, signed by Mrs. Rhea Gibbs, president, said that in view of the recent drowning of one of the school's students on the flood control project and the burning of another at an unguarded asphalt barrel, it was resolved, that the Mayor and Council be contacted and urged to insist that the contractor exercise greater precautions to protect the children of the city.

It added that as parents, the group felt that whatever measures can be taken to protect the safety of other children should be taken.

Another sidelight of the tragedy which resulted in the death of Ronald Keith Knippenberg last week was the query of Paul Detrick, who asked Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long if all members of the police department knew what to do in cases of drowning, suggesting that all members should receive lessons in first aid.

Chief of Police R. E. Flynn said that with the exception of a few probationers, all members have had first aid training courses.

Commissioner Long added that he will check the First Aid records of all members of the department and will recommend that those who do not have Red Cross certificates complete such training with refresher courses for those whose certificates have expired.

Detrick also asked an investigation of the Valley Street bridge, which he termed a "death trap."

Resident Given Injury Damages

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 26 (AP) — A circuit court jury today awarded Mrs. Katherine Deffenbaugh of Cumberland $5,000 damages for injuries she said she received in a fall at Peoples Bank in Cumberland.

Mrs. Deffenbaugh said she was making a deposit when she fell on the newly waxed floor of the bank. She said the rubber mats usually on the floor were not in place. She claimed permanent injuries.

The jury was out 15 minutes. The judgment was against the Liberty Trust Co., which since took over the Peoples Bank.

Attorneys for the woman were Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr., Cumberland and Leo H. Miller, Hagerstown. The defendants were represented by former Judge Walter C. Capper and Thomas N. Berry of Cumberland and David W. Byron, Hagerstown.

Red Cross Campaign Goes Over Goal; $30,692 Raised

Exceeds County Quota Of $26,796 By $3,896 As Classified Division Spearheads The Drive

The annual Allegany County Red Cross drive exceeded its quota of $26,796 this year by $3,896 reports at the final dinner meeting at Central YMCA last night revealed.

Reaching a total of $30,692.78 on the basis of all final reports, many of which were still incomplete, the 1951 drive ended on a note of triumph and workers and contributors were heartily thanked by William C. Walsh, general chairman of the campaign.

Two of the divisions far exceeded their quotas in spearheading the local campaign with the outstanding contributions coming from the Classified section, headed by Daniel Dopko and Woodward Pealer.

Dopko, in his final report to the committee, announced the Classified section had raised $7,686.40 and expected to reach approximately $9,000 when final returns were in. This overshot their goal of $6,000 by $1,686.40.

Also collecting more than their requirements was the County contingent, headed by William Lewis of Frostburg, who reported $5,487.03 raised and a quota of $4,000.

Failing in their efforts to reach allotted quotas were the Advanced Gifts division ,headed by George Buchanan and Henry Mackey; Clubs and Organizations, headed by Thomas F. Conlon; National Firms, Joseph M. Love; and Women's section, Mrs. Charles Helmrich and Mrs. Holmes Cessna.

Breakdown Is Made

A breakdown of the final reports revealed the Advanced Gifts raised $7,881.50 cash and had $1,420 pledged for a total of $9,301.50. Their quota was $11,000.

Clubs and Organizations reported $313 collected with a quota of $1,000; National firms $977.90 raised and $250 pledged with a quota of $1,000; Women's division $6,776.95 of a $7,000 quota.

In going over the county quota, Lewis praised the work of the Frostburg section, headed by Mrs. N. F. Stallings, which contributed $2,550.82, far more than the town's $1,500 quota. Only the Ridgeley section with $25 less than the needed $325, Midland with $100 and a quota of $200, and Westernport with $780 raised and a quota of $800 failed to reach their goals in the county campaign.

Walsh highly praised the efforts of the committee leaders and workers in a final summary of the reports, thanking each group individually and singling out Dopko and Pealer for special praise in their fine work in the Classified division. "They have assured themselves jobs in every future Red Cross drive to come," Walsh said of the pair.

County Is Thanked

The general chairman then thanked the people of Allegany County for their generous response to the campaign, saying:

"It is especially gratifying that Allegany County despite its unemployment situation was able to comply with the request of the National Red Cross campaign chairman and exceeded its quota because of increased demands being made on Red Cross in connection with the Korean war and the defense effort. The original goal of $26,796 has already been exceeded by almost $4,000 and while this is the final campaign meeting we know that this excess will be materially increased by additional contributions which we have been assured will be made."

Parkway Survey Board Asked By Hagerstown

Ask Governor To Name Group

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 26 (AP)—The Hagerstown Chamber of Commerce today asked Governor McKeldin to appoint a commission of Western Marylanders to make an extensive survey of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal parkway project and to report its findings.

The decision was made after an open hearing. Appearing before the chamber were Rep. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.), representatives of U. S. Department of the Interior and Hagerstown's Mayor Herman L. Mills.

The project calls for building a parkway from Washington to Cumberland along the old C & O canal bed. The distance is about 185 miles.

The chamber has opposed the proposal because of its estimated cost. Washington County sportsmen's groups have held it would destroy natural game and wild life preserves along the route. Mayor Mills, a Republican, said the government should think of saving instead of spending more money.

Allegany county groups, however, have voiced full approval of the parkway and are interested in seeing it realized.

The federal government purchased about 5,000 acres of land along the site for $2,000,000 in 1938. Since then it has conducted engineering studies and has undertaken some preparatory grading.

Harry Thompson, representing the Department of the Interior in Washington, estimated the parkway could be built for about $100,000 a mile.

Ordinarily, he said it would cost 10 times that much. But the preparatory work, amounting to about $500,000, would greatly reduce the cost.

Other speakers at the hearing were Conrad L. Worth, assistant director of the National Park Service, and H. J. Steelman, division engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads.

Worth cited other parkway projects that have been built in various sections of the country and said results have been successful. Steelman said the proposed C. and O. parkway project from Cumberland to Washington would create another outlet to the nation's capital, and the natural location of the proposed highway is ideal for the purpose.

Beall will meet Tuesday in Frederick with a sportsmen's group on the proposed parkway. A meeting to be held in Cumberland is also under consideration at a date to be set.

Delegates Asked To Reconsider Sewage Bill

City Desires To Get Enabling Legislation

The Mayor and Council last night called upon the Allegany County Delegation to reconsider its unfavorable report on a bill providing sewage disposal facilities for this city.

Upon recommendation of Mrs. Lucile Roeder, the city officials will notify the Delegation of its desire to secure the enabling legislation.

She pointed out it is advisable that the legislation be passed so that the city will have the authority to proceed on the work when materials become available.

Commissioner George H. Tedrick said the Mayor and Council should have power to carry through with the action which has been ordered by the state.

The Delegation, in issuing an unfavorable report on House Bill 218, which would have enabled the city to issue revenue bonds of up to $1,500,000 to establish a sewage disposal and treatment plant here, said the city could not, because of shortage of materials due to defense efforts, begin the work within the next two years.

They added that they would be glad to reconsider the bill at the next general session.
